SLEUTH READY TO SEIZE DR. CRIPPEN AS HE LANDS

Montreal Authorities Unable to Reach the Steamer by Wireless.

SCOTLAND YARD MAN DRAWS NEAR TO CANADA

He May Have Reached Vessel Montrose While Far Out at Sea.

ON BOARD STEAMSHIP LAURENTIC, via Marconi wireless, via Belle Island, July 28.—Replying to inquiries as to plans of Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard in tracing those suspected of being Dr. Crippen and companion no one by the name of Dew is shown on the passenger list.

The above message is the first word received from the steamer Laurentic since it came in touch with the American side. London reports have stated definitely Inspector Dew was aboard. It is probably he is hiding his identity under an assumed name.

MONTREAL, July 28.—The White Star liner Laurentic passed Belle Island at 3 o'clock this morning. She has aboard Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard in the Crippen case.

The night off the coast of Eastern Canada was full of wireless questions flashed seaward but no reply came to reveal the whereabouts of Dr. Hawley Crippen of London, wanted in that city in connection with the disappearance of his actress wife, Belle Elmore, or of the doctor's former typist, Ethel Claire Leneve.

Nor did any incoming word reveal the identity of the two passengers who on July 6 went aboard the Canadian Pacific steamer Montrose at Antwerp as John Robinson and John Robinson Jr. and are reported under suspicion as possibly being Crippen and his typist.

Inspector Dew of Scotland Yard, aboard the rapidly incoming Laurentic of the White Star Line, also had sent no word.

NEARING WIRELESS ZONE

Throughout the night the Montrose was supposed to be rapidly nearing a zone of wireless communication with the station on Belle Isle. With the steamer's type of apparatus this would be within [illegible]0 miles of the coast.

At half a dozen other stations wireless operators never ceased their call. Father Point, Quebec, was the spot of special activity. There an officer of the Dominion police, Chief Constable [illegible], awaited word from the Laurentic and Inspector Dew.

The Dominion office looked for messages telling what, if anything, had been learned from the Montrose by wireless [illegible] according [illegible] in close proximity [illegible] yesterday noon.

Quebec [illegible] from Commander [illegible] to board the Montrose when she passes at Father Point [illegible] and arrest Dr. Crippen [illegible] if they are found.

The [illegible] department at Quebec [illegible] sent out [illegible] another officer with [illegible] to arrest.

$10,000 WORTH OF DIAMONDS GONE; SO IS MAN

Warrant Issued for Arrest of A. J. Rehfeld, Former Jeweler.

Friends Believe He Has Been Murdered by Thieves Who Stole Treasure.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Suspicion of robbery, murder or worse and the mysterious disappearance of a trusted citizen and respected resident of the community has been called to the attention of the police by a warrant sworn to this morning charging A. J. Rehfeld with felony embezzlement.

Rehfeld has dropped from sight and so has $10,000 in diamonds, jewelry, watches and chains.

Previous to the fire Rehfeld kept a store on Kearny street and since then has been prominently engaged in enterprise in the business community. Recently he was employed by Edward Forrester, 101 Post street, to go to Bakersfield and open up a jewelry store and loan office. He took with him the expensive portion of the stock amounting to $10,000 but never arrived at his destination.

The previous sterling character of Rehfeld leads to the belief that he may have been waylaid or decoyed into a trap and robbed and mishap even murdered by thieves desirous of gaining possession of the immense treasure.

WARRANT ISSUED

This is the theory on which his friends protest the police must work in their endeavor to locate him, but the warrant issued by Judge Conlan shows the belief of others that the missing man may have decamped with the valuables placed in his charge and may be making his way to a place of safety.

As soon as the warrant was placed in the hands of the proper officers steps were taken to send a description of the man and the jewelry he had with him throughout the state so other departments may aid in solving the mystery.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Diamonds worth $1700 are said to be missing and a mystery involving the prominent jewelry firm of Shreve & Company has been left for three detectives to solve. A wealthy society woman, it is understood, left the stones to be recut and the members of the firm will not divulge as to whether they have been stolen or merely misplaced.

The stricken region now includes [illegible] provinces and territories of European Russia and since the outbreak of the disease last May there have been a total of [illegible] cases with [illegible] fatalities.

Some time ago the scourge made its appearance in this city and for the last fortnight there has been a daily average of [illegible] cases and [illegible] deaths in the capital. Yesterday there were [illegible] cases and 13 deaths reported here.

Western Pacific to Boost Oakland In All of Its Advertising Literature

With whistles blowing, banners waving and a general atmosphere of welcome, the citizens of Oakland will greet the first train that is to arrive in this city on the Western Pacific line.

Following a conference yesterday between Secretary A. A. Denison of the Chamber of Commerce and E. L. Lomax, passenger traffic manager of the new road, the preliminary details of the celebration on the arrival of the first train were arranged.

The train will arrive about 5 o'clock in the evening on August 2, and will be met by the committee in charge of the celebration, the prominent business and professional men as well as the officials of the city, at Third and Washington streets, at the splendid new depot of the Gould line.

In the conference yesterday Lomax expressed himself as heartily in accord with the proposed celebration and stated that he would do anything in his power to make the festivities successful.

He further said that the Western Pacific company realized the value of Oakland as an objective point and that it was the intention of the advertising bureau of the railroad to extensively advertise this city throughout the East.

A meeting of the general committee will be called by President Mackay at once for the purpose of taking up and deciding upon the details of the celebration.

BRUTAL SLAYER OF KELLNER GIRL IN HIDING ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Trailed from city to city across the continent by Chief of Detectives J. P. Carney of Louisville, a man believed to be Joseph Wendling, accused of the murder of 8-year-old Alma Kellner in the Kentucky city, is now thought to be hiding in San Francisco, where he has been for the last three weeks with local detectives seeking him in every direction.

A story published this morning by a local paper declares that the man was surrounded and the police department officials do not deny that a guard was maintained for many hours last night about a house where he was expected to appear, but the trap was set in vain as the man did not come.

The detectives now feel that he has been warned by the newspaper story and may slip through their fingers although Chief of Police Stamford, who knows the suspect by sight, is assisting in the search.

Detective Tom Burke, who has been on the case ever since the arrival of Carney from Louisville, said today that Carney left San Francisco for the East two weeks ago. He placed the entire case in the hands of the local officers assisted by the Vallejo man.

Since that time every outward bound steamer or train has been watched while Burke and Stamford have kept up the search within the city, finding many traces of the man they sought but never running him to earth.

Carney traced Wendling to Vallejo, where the latter had lived for some time under an assumed name.

The suspect disappeared, however, and the trail led to San Francisco. Chief Stamford, who had become acquainted with the man, accompanied the Louisville officer to aid the San Francisco department in making a capture.

Germany Declines to Interfere in Nicaragua

BERLIN, July 28.—Germany has declined to entertain the request of the Madriz government to use its friendly offices to put a stop to what is termed the interference of the United States in the affairs of Nicaragua.

The Nicaraguan circular note to the powers in which a protest against the attitude of Washington toward the rebellion was coupled with a plea for foreign intervention was received by the foreign office on June 16 by cable direct from Managua.

As Nicaragua has no diplomatic representation at Berlin the reply was made through Herr de Bach, the German minister to Central America, residing at Guatemala City. The latter was informed of the receipt by the foreign office of the communication from President Madriz and directed to answer that the German government could do nothing in the matter.

Tennis Champion Rescues Five From Flames

SAN RAFAEL, July 28.—Four small children and an invalid woman were rescued from the blazing Ross Valley home of John Bennett, recorder of the Shriners, early this morning. Chester Smith, former tennis champion, proved himself a hero.

Awakened by the crackling flames which enveloped the entire house, Smith leaped from his bed, hastily donned a few clothes and dragged Virginia Leo, her [illegible] aged one year, and [illegible] four year old sister Helen from their cribs. After he had fought his way through smoke and flames to safety with a child in each arm he dashed again into the burning building and rescued his own daughter Marjory, aged four years.

By this time the screams of Mrs. Bennett, who is an invalid, were heard and with T. O'Connell of the Carson Glove Company and Herbert Chapman of the Chapman National Insurance Company of San Francisco, Smith and Bennett dragged the woman to safety.

SOCIAL LEADER SAYS SPOUSE THREATENED TO KILL

Former Miss Jessaline Horton Brings Suit for Separation in Reno Courts.

LONG LIST OF ABUSES ALLEGED IN COMPLAINT

Gun Play Figured in Marital Trouble, Woman Avers; Happiness Short.

RENO, Nev., July 28.—Visions of herself a corpse with her body full enough of bullet holes to sink a ship, as she said her husband had promised she would be, was too much for Mrs. Jessaline Price, who filed a complaint for divorce against Sterling Price, a produce dealer of Oakland. According to Mrs. Price, who started suit in this city yesterday, her husband treated her in an extremely cruel manner almost from the time they were married.

Not long after their wedding ceremony the woman alleges Price began to make himself scarce around his home despite the fact that she was ill in bed and unable to care for herself. The complaint states that he called her vile and abusive names and on one occasion used his fists on her face to such an extent that her teeth were knocked loose. He cut her lip in another of his attacks, Mrs. Price declares.

MADE MANY THREATS

That Price made many threats against her life is the statement of the woman. One night she says he put a revolver under his pillow, taking care to place it with barrel pointing toward her head. That night she alleges he expressed a cheerful wish that the revolver would go off and thus save him the trouble of pulling the trigger.

It was when she had notified him of her determination to leave him that he told her he would shoot her full enough of holes to sink a ship, she says. Finally life with him proved unbearable, according to the complaint, and she resolved to make the trip to Reno where a divorce would free her from the fear that she would fall a victim to his temper.

DREAMED OF HAPPINESS

Mrs. Price's dreams of future happiness that were frequent before she was married to Price January 12, 1[illegible]0, were soon blasted, she alleges, when the man's demeanor changed and he began to abuse her. This was shortly after Oakland society had flocked to Wallace E. Price's home in East Oakland to attend what was one of the most brilliant affairs of the season, when the woman, as Miss Jessaline Horton, became the bride of Sterling Price.

She was taken ill soon after, she says, and it was then, while confined to her bed, too weak to help herself, that she claims Price started to heap abuse and curses upon her. The two attacks which she complains of she says were made during this period, with the result that she carried a set of loose teeth and a sore lip for many days.

MADE LIFE MISERABLE

The pair lived together but a few months, but before the woman left Price she says he managed to make life as miserable as man could for her, threatening her life and even going so far as to exhibit the revolver with which he was going to shoot her full of holes.

SMART SET LEADER

Mrs. Jessaline Price as Miss Horton was one of the most vivacious members of the younger smart set of the bay region and was a much feted bride. During her engagement to Sterling Price she was tendered showers and receptions and was the re-

Le Fort Gets Liberty on Parole From Donahue

A. J. Le Fort, a former saloonkeeper who was sentenced by Superior Judge Brown ten months ago to serve two years in the county jail for assaulting "Dutch" Miller, a bartender, with a blackjack, has been given his liberty on parole by District Attorney Donahue and Sheriff Barnet.

It was while Le Fort was running the Press Cafe in the Galindo building at the corner of Eighth and Franklin streets that he committed the assault upon Miller. The latter tried to collect wages due to him from Le Fort for tending bar at his saloon and under the pretext that he would pay the claim of Miller, met him at a certain place. Le Fort induced the bartender to go to an isolated place in the lower part of the city and then beat him up brutally with the blackjack.

Missing Cashier Located by Police, Is Rumor

NEW YORK, July 28.—When the grand jury began its investigation into the theft of $600,000 worth of securities from the Russo-Chinese bank, which was discovered recently, it was [illegible] apparently good authority that the police not only knew the whereabouts of the missing cashier of the bank, Erwin Wider, but they have under surveillance the house in White Plains where he is said to be. Officials at the district attorney's office would not deny the correctness of this report.

The grand jury began its investigation with eight or ten witnesses under summons.

Earl T. Shaw, a member of the brokerage firm of Dick Brothers, [illegible] affidavit that his firm had disposed on May 2[illegible] last of 400 shares of Pullman and [illegible] Ohio stock for Wider's account and had placed the money to the credit of the cashier's personal account. These securities were identified as the property of customers of the Russo-Chinese Bank.

POLICE SHOOT STRIKERS IN BIG SUGAR PLANT

Bluecoats Mounted on Trucks Pour Galling Fire Into Ranks of Enemies

NEW YORK, July 28.—Two men were shot and killed, four dangerously wounded, one a policeman, and a score more or less seriously hurt during a riot of strike sympathizers today at the plant of the American Sugar Refining Company in Williamsburg, where a strike has been in progress for a month.

Crowds of sympathizers threw bricks at the strikebreakers from house tops and when the non union men started out with their trucks to deliver sugar a rush was made for the wagons. The police on the trucks returned the fire.

The employes of the plant struck a month ago for an advance in wages. The men killed were Lithuanians. Several policemen were struck and painfully hurt by the bricks thrown from the nearby roofs.

NEIGHBORHOOD INVOLVED

The entire neighborhood became involved in the disturbance and the reserves from nine precincts had all they could do to cope with the trouble. It appears from the accounts of bystanders that the officers did not fire into the crowd until forced to do so by the ferocity of the attacks upon them.

The mob was composed for the most part of foreigners, chiefly Poles and Lithuanians. They had been making trouble for some time but assumed a decidedly menacing attitude last night when a boat load of strikebreakers was brought to the plant and set to work.

The demeanor of the mob which gathered outside of the plant became so threatening this morning that police protection was asked for.

On the charge of having fired one of the shots that took effect upon the mob, H. A. Morgan, cashier of the refinery, who succeeded James F. Bendernagel in that position after the latter was tried for alleged underweighing frauds in connection with the big conspiracy, was arrested and lodged in jail. Morgan denies the accusation.

FEAR SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC AT JAIL

Prisoner at County Institution Found to Be Victim of Disease.

SAN FRANCISCO July 28—A threatened epidemic of smallpox at the Ingleside county jail has spread terror among the prisoners and this morning caused a quarantine to be temporarily placed on the prison All of the attaches are confined within the walls until a closer examination can be made by physicians from the board of health

A prisoner named Blake sent out from the city prison to the county jail exhibited symptoms of smallpox and was promptly sent to the pesthouse to be held in seclusion until the nature of his malady could be determined He had mingled freely with the others confined in the jail and as a precautionary measure the temporary quarantine was decided

No prisoners were taken into the Superior Court this morning and in consequence a fine point of law will probably have to be determined by the Supreme Court

Charles Anderson was to have come up for sentence for burglary before Judge Cooley he having pleaded guilty three days ago

The law says that judgment must be imposed within five days The court in making the order of continuance mentioned the fact that a threatened epidemic was responsible for the absence of the defendant and if he cannot be sentenced within the time according to the statutes he will be entitled to a new trial It is possible that the situation at the county jail will be cleared up before Saturday if no other prisoners are found infected

VAN LIEW IS EXONERATED OF HUGGING CHARGES

Three of the Normal School Trustees Hold President Is Falsely Accused.

SCORES CROWD AROUND TO CONGRATULATE HIM

Attorneys Consume Very Much Time in Arguing Case on Last Day.

CHICO, July 28.—After a trial which has [illegible] Butte county [illegible] Dr. C. C. Van Liew, president of the state normal school of Chico, was yesterday exonerated of the charge of improper conduct lodged against him by Miss Ada Clark, a 16-year-old student of the institution, who asserts that the principal hugged her in his public office. Scores of friends crowded around the president as the verdict was read after an hour's earnest deliberation by the board of trustees of the institution.

Women waited patiently in the broiling sun outside his home for an opportunity to offer a word of congratulation, and men, the leading professional and business men of the community, fought for an opportunity to wring his hand. Public feeling ran high all during the evening, but Van Liew's attorneys, deeming it wise to spare their client further excitement after the long, hard trial, advised him not to leave his home.

VOTE STOOD 3 TO 2

The vote which acquitted Van Liew was 3 to 2. State Superintendent of Schools E. J. Hyatt, whom the defense sought to exclude from the board at the beginning of the hearing on a charge of bias, and Florence J. O'Brien, a fruit grower of Chico, held firmly to their opinion of his guilt. He was acquitted by Trustees F. A. Warren, Clifford C. Coggins, chairman of the board, and J. F. Campbell.

Immediately after the close of the hearing Van Liew stated through his attorneys that in view of the outcome he would again take his place at the head of the school at the opening of the fall session. He maintained that he has not thought of resignation.

At the Clark home the accusers of the normal school head recovered quickly from the result of the hearing through which they hoped to oust Van Liew, and in the presence of his sister Ada, the Rev. C. Todd Clark announced that he was through with the case.

GLAD CASE WAS TRIED

He added that although the decision was against him he is not sorry that he brought the matter to an issue and that he is sure the people of Chico are with him. Miss Clark, who charged Dr. Van Liew hugged her in his office, subscribed to her brother's statement and said she deemed the trial unfair and the three trustees prejudiced.

Miss Nona Lindley, who attempted to corroborate Miss Clark's statements regarding the alleged insults, claiming to have met her in the hall outside the principal's office immediately after the occurrence, also acquiesced in the decision.

The decision was given shortly before 6 o'clock last night after the trustees had been in conference an hour. Coggins, Warren and Campbell said that they could not believe the statements made by Miss Ada Clark of the hugging and of Miss Nona Lindley, who testified in corroboration, and that they believed the reputation of the president of the school was good.

BASED ON OWN KNOWLEDGE

O'Brien declared that he could eliminate the stories of the two girls, but that with his knowledge of the reputation of the educator he thought it was not best for the interests of the school that all the charges should be dismissed. Hyatt did not consider the morality charges so much as he did the story of Miss Clark, and said that he could find no way to escape from her recital of the president's attempt to hug her. He added that he could not say whether he would drop the charges until he had consulted with Governor Gillett. This may indicate that, although the educator has been exonerated, further steps will be taken to press the charges.

When the last day of the investigation opened yesterday throngs packed the principal's offices at the normal school which was the scene of the hearing. Women and men fought for standing room and on the walk below the open windows and in the grand halls of the institution anxious partisans on either the accusing or defending side stood in whispering groups. Attorney-General Webb and Attorney Yell for the defense occupied the entire forenoon session and the afternoon was taken up by Attorney Seymour's address and the answer of Webb.

TRIAL NOT INVESTIGATION

Seymour said in part:

"This [illegible] investigation. We [illegible] selves against [illegible] ed by me as [illegible] Van Liew came willingly to [illegible] clothed in the armor of innocence.

"We have seen [illegible] Perry with his restless [illegible] sinking around trying to find [illegible] telling against this [illegible] to [illegible] with one [illegible] Superintendent Hyatt, who said that he would force Dr. Van Liew to prove his innocence. Dr. Van Liew went to trial even if you, Mr. Hyatt, confident that he could prove himself innocent. We [illegible] your conscience. I think that we can prove to you that he is innocent and that you will vote for his acquittal. If you had to go to trial under similar conditions your very soul would cry aloud at the injustice of it.

"It is absurd to think that Dr. Van Liew would approach a girl with whom he was so slightly acquainted. Look at the time and the place. Tell me whether the story is reasonable.

"What was the motive? The well springs of human conduct are infinite and infinitely obscure. I think that it is deducible that Miss Clark wanted to leave school."

CAUGHT IN LIE HE SAYS

Attorney Seymour here referred to the gymnasium suit incident in which he said that Miss Clark had been caught in a prevarication. This annoyed her, he declared, and induced her to fabricate the story, that she might be permitted to leave the normal. But he added that there was a more potent motive. He [illegible] to see a suitor in the distance who was calling [illegible] to the girl.

The attorney general closed the argument. He said in part:

"You are not here to conserve the welfare of individuals or of [illegible]. Your duty is to the school.

"If Ada Clark has not told the truth she is wicked beyond the power of words. If Dr. Van Liew has spoken falsely he is the most despicable of men. If Miss Lindley has not told the truth I would not characterize her as her position would warrant.

"And can it be that all the witnesses that were called to testify against Van Liew committed perjury?"

The attorney general said that Attorney Seymour did not mean that all women will not tell the truth. He continued: Seymour had gallantly declared that what he meant was that women are more emotional than men.

WEBB UPHOLDS WOMEN

"But all women are not false," said Webb.

A muffled sound of approbation came from the audience.

He reminded the court that the gray haired father and the pastor brother and the girl herself [illegible] telling themselves [illegible] the [illegible] some one was to [illegible] Dr. Van Liew's job.

"How about the poor janitor who begged him to [illegible] in to testify?" asked the attorney general. "He is another Judas. But how about the gardener who [illegible] that Van Liew was a fine man? He is superb. He is a lovely thing.

"And you gentlemen sat quietly and heard Professor Miller denounce [illegible] without one word of protest. I hope the eloquence of the Yell—and I mean no disparagement or play upon words—hypnotized you. I trust that Miller's position is not in danger and that the janitor will be retained. And I hope that when this affair is settled you people of Chico will forget it and stop talking about it and get to work together for the betterment of the school."

Mrs. Otto Ranker, mother of Elmer Ranker, who appeared in the trial as the young man whose attentions to Miss Etta Hudson annoyed Dr. Van Liew, said yesterday that her son and Miss Hudson correspond daily.

"There is nothing in the story that Dr. Van Liew broke them up," said Mrs. Ranke. "They write to each other every day."

"Are they engaged?" was asked.

"That is not for me to say," was the answer.

The feeling in Chico over the case has not even begun to subside. Dr. Van Liew's partisans were denouncing the trustees who had voted against their idol tonight as much as they denounced those who testified against him.

After the hearing was all over and the trustees had retired for their deliberations Dr. Van Liew was the center of a constantly changing group of townspeople, many of whom took him by the hand. It was in the nature of a reception.

Miss Clark was a study during the proceedings today, especially when Seymour and Yell characterized her story as false. Once or twice it seemed that she would break down. She bit her lip and restrained the welling tears. Her face was dark, almost purple, and she did not lose a single word or phrase that dropped from the lips of the lawyers for the defense. On the whole she bore the ordeal bravely. Immediately after the hearing she left with her brother for his home.

TRUSTEES VOTED 3 TO 2 TO ACQUIT

VAN LIEW'S JUDGES EXPRESS OPINIONS

ADA CLARK RILED BY YELL'S GRILLING

Miss Ada Clark, girlish accuser of Dr. Van Liew, was almost prostrated by the result of the hearing though she had been warned by friends of its probable outcome. White and apparently worn out with the long attendance in court she went immediately to the home of her brother, the Rev. C. Todd Clark.

"I did tell the truth, no matter what they say," the girl said when asked for a statement. "I think Attorney Yell had no right to grill me as he did in court, and though I was desirous of fair play all through and was willing to take my share in the fight, I resent his attitude.

"He said I could never hope to recover from the shame in this community which the trial has brought upon me. I do not believe this either. My brother and I were both honest in our accusations. We made the matter public because we thought it right."

In discussing their respective votes the trustees said:

Chairman Clifford C. Coggins—My vote expresses my views. I have been a member of the board of trustees for 1[illegible] years and every now and then rumors and scandals have been started against Dr. Van Liew. Knowing the man as I do I never believed them, and my beliefs have been borne out by my investigations.

As far as the present charges were concerned I wish to say that I could not believe Miss Clark and Miss Lindley as against Dr. Van Liew. It was a matter of judgment, and I, with the majority of the members of the board, believed the man whom we have known for many years. There were many flaws in the story told by the girls and while we were sorry to decide against them we were forced to do so.

I also wish to state that the board has agreed that there shall be no changes either on the faculty or among the employes of the house or grounds of the institution. No one will lose his position for having testified or having refused to testify. Neither the janitor nor Dr. Miller will be asked to resign. [illegible] this matter serious and [illegible] consideration. Those who had charges against Dr. Van Liew had ample opportunity to bring them forward and now that the investigation has concluded I hope we will hear the end of the matter.

WILLING TO CALL HALT

Trustee F. J. O'Brien—While I was willing to eliminate the charges brought against Dr. Van Liew by Ada Clark I could not conscientiously agree to the dismissing of the charges of his bad reputation. The testimony showed that his reputation was not good and on that ground I refused to vote in the affirmative on that motion.

However, as the matter is finished I hope we will see the end of it. I have no intention of pressing any further charges personally, but of course if Governor Gillett sees fit to lay others before us I suppose we will have to hear them out.

GIRL NOT BELIEVED

Trustee E. A. Warren—Every man of any worth has his enemies and Dr. Van Liew is no exception. He would not be the kind of man to be the head of the Chico normal school had he not enemies. In communities such as this there are those who have no hesitancy in profiting themselves financially by teaching young men to drink and this class Dr. Van Liew has fought and fought hard. He has gained their enmity and it was palpable that much of the prosecution was either forced by them or materially helped by them. As far as the charges of Ada Clark I will state briefly that I did not believe the girl's story and neither that of her friend Miss Nona Lindley. Therefore not being able to believe them, I voted to exonerate Dr. Van Liew.

CREDITS MISS CLARK'S STORY.

Ex Officio Trustee Hyatt—I believed Ada Clark and her friend Miss Lindley. I believe the girls told the truth. I saw nothing to account for a 16 year old girl subjecting herself to such ordeals unless what she said was true.

To the charges of drunkness I did not give much heed as my chief objection to the motion was to the exoneration of Dr. Van Liew on the charge made against him by Ada Clark. I do not know whether I will rest content with the action taken by the board of trustees or not. I cannot give any statement in regard to this until I have consulted Governor Gillett.

Trustee J. F. Campbell—It was a case of believing the girl's story against Dr. Van Liew's and I believed the latter. I paid great attention to the investigation and considered seriously all the testimony that was introduced. But when it was all in it was palpably evident to me that it was flimsy and insufficient and ought not to be considered. Accordingly I voted for a complete exoneration.

Rev. C. Todd Clark—I am through with the case. I am satisfied with its outcome. I had absolutely no hope that Dr. Van Liew would be deposed from his position at the head of the Normal. I have been too well aware all along of the attitude of the board members to get any such idea. The people of California can now judge the merits for themselves. The nature of the evidence shows pretty clearly the truth of our contentions to an unprejudiced observer at least.

I am not at all sorry I pressed the charges against Dr. Van Liew. So far as the decision of the board of trustees is concerned it is about as I expected. I have a letter on file with Governor Gillett now saying I had no hope of getting a favorable decision from the majority of the board. At the same time in this same letter I expressed the wish that I might have the case tried before an unbiased jury. I think the decision was in Van Liew's favor because the board members voting for him had known him for so long and had always regarded him as a personal friend. I am thoroughly convinced that the majority of the people of Chico are lined up against Dr. Van Liew.

GOVERNOR SILENT ON CASE

Governor Gillett—There is absolutely nothing to say at the present time. I have not examined the testimony and know nothing of the proceedings except by hearsay. I have no opinion to express and nothing at all to say.

VAN LIEW THANKS ALL FOR SUPPORT

Following his exoneration Professor Charles C. Van Liew said: "I have been under so great a strain that tonight I cannot do more than to thank my friends and the friends of the school who so generously came to my aid in this trial. I thank especially the trustees for their support. I shall strive to continue to merit their confidence. Let us all forget whatever of animosity the trial may have aroused and work together for the advancement and the prosperity of the school. I cannot say more. I will remain with the school."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Violently insane and clad only in the garb of the nature man, with not so much as a covering for his head or a shoe for his foot, Morgan Howan created a furor in the neighborhood of 307 Moultrie street at 6:40 this morning when he broke into that residence, smashed windows and doors and secreted himself in a back room.

M. D. Asmussan of 321 Moultrie street reported the matter to the Mission station and Policeman Moran and Pathan placed Howan under arrest and booked him for insanity. Rasmus Gershul of 309 Moultrie street declares that Howan formerly lived with him and left, taking some of the furniture.

TO STAND TRIAL AFTER 3 YEARS

Peter M. Duffy, Indicted Long Ago, Must Appear in Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—After having an indictment hanging over his head for almost three years, continued from time to time, forced to hire a lawyer and retain his liberty by putting up substantial bail, Peter M. Duffy, accused of perjury, is to stand his trial in Judge Lawlor's court on August 11.

It was testimony given before the grand jury which it is claimed was displeasing to Francis J. Heney and not in accordance with what the latter believed to be the truth which led to Duffy's indictment. According to his counsel there is not a shred of evidence against him and that also seems to be the opinion of the district attorney's office, for this morning Attorney Berry moved to dismiss the accusation.

The court denied the motion and accordingly the defendant having refused to acquiesce in a continuance the case was set for trial at the earliest possible date. It is one of the few indictments returned during the regime of the so called graft prosecution which does not need Gallagher to complete the chain of testimony which is alleged in the informaiton.

OAKLAND HOTEL COMPANY SUES FOR STOCK MONEY

Suit Filed Against Robert Dalziel to Force Payment of Five Thousand Dollars

Suit was instituted in the superior court this afternoon by the Oakland Hotel company, organized for the purpose of constructing the Bankers Hotel, against Robert Dalziel, the Oakland plumber, to compel him to pay his subscription of $5000 for stock in the corporation.

The complaint was filed by Attorneys Reed, Black and Reed, and sets forth that on or about October 1, 1908, Dalziel subscribed for fifty shares of the preferred stock of the Oakland Hotel company; that he agreed to pay for the stock in ten equal installments, the first of which was payable on December 1, 1906, and one thereof every sixty days thereafter until the full amount of $5000 was fully paid, and that no part of the subscription has ever been paid.

Wherefore plaintiff corporation asks judgment against Dalziel for the $5000, together with interest on each installment payment from date upon which each thereof became due at the rate of [illegible] per cent per annum, together with costs of the suit.

cipient of many handsome wedding presents, among them being a pretty home which was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace C. Price.

In the social realm Mrs. Price was a general favorite because of her beauty and accomplishments. On the night of their marriage, which was solemnized at the Price residence, 1513 Thirteenth avenue, by Rev. E. E. Baker, she was the motif of many compliments and congratulations. The splendor of the parlors on that occasion was the subject of gossip in the elite circles for many weeks. On that night Mrs. Price wore an exquisite robe of white silk chiffon, the conventional veil which was fastened to the hair with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a sohwer bouquet of bride's roses.

FRIENDS ATTEND

Three of her close friends attended her as bridesmaids. They were Miss Maryland Price, sister of Sterling Price, Miss Florence Ferrin and Miss Marietta Swortfiguer. The bride was given away by her father, A. E. Horton.

As Miss Jessaline Horton she was a devotee to out of door sports and one of her chief pleasures was hunting. In her tramping suit she typified the California girl. She is a splendid shot and often competed with members of the opposite sex.

In club life Mrs. Price was also active and during the seasons of gayety was always in attendance at social affairs.

Sterling Price, the defendant in the case, asserted this morning over the telephone that he had nothing to say and would not affirm or deny the statements alleged in the complaint.

"Sentiment in Berkeley as well as in Oakland is growing stronger each day in favor of the consolidation of the cities," said A. Jonas, chairman of the city and county consolidation committee of the Chamber of Commerce and the merchants' exchange when seen today.

"I am in constant communication with Dr. H. O. [illegible], chairman of the committee which is handling the work in Berkeley," he continued, "and he assures me that the residents of that city have come to look on the project in a much more favorable light.

"Immediately after the primary election we plan to start a campaign which will continue until September 16, the date of the annexation election. We are having prepared statistics which will show the voters of both cities the vast amount of money which may be saved in case of consolidation."

Wilbur Walker of the merchants' exchange is now engaged preparing these statistics and they will be completed by the time the primaries are over.

Burglary Suspect Is Held to Answer

Albert Sarasohn Bound Over to the Superior Court in $2000 Bonds for Trial.

HAYWARD, July 28.—What is believed by the authorities to have been an attempt of Albert Sarasohn to return stolen goods to the premises of N. Quist, where he was employed as caretaker during the owner's absence, resulted in his being bound over to the Superior Court on $2000 bonds, charged with burglary, this morning when his case came up for preliminary hearing in Justice of the Peace Prowse's court.

On July 11 Sarasohn reported to Constable Ramage that the place under his care had been burglarized and related a harrowing tale of adventure with the thieves whom he said had held him up at the point of a gun. A search recovered the articles which had previously been taken from the house, including a quantity of silverware, guns and other articles of more or less value. Suspicion attached to Sarasohn, who was arrested and held for preliminary examination.

Claims Wife Left Him for Another

HAYWARD, July 28.—When Frank Gomes, a barber of this place, returned to his home a few days ago he declares he found a note on the dining room table from his wife stating that she was going to Fruitvale to visit a dentist. She failed to return and Gomes says he later received the information that his partner had deserted him for another man.

Jack Vagres is the person alleged to have received the transferred affections. Gomes says that he will at once commence suit for divorce, regretting the fact that his small son and his aged father should have been also deserted.

Adjutant General Weybrecht today ordered some thirty-five or forty of National Guard sharpshooters who have been practicing at Camp Perry for the coming competition shoot to come to Columbus at once. They will be detailed to watch building and see that no one shoots at the troops.

Governor Harmon wired to Secretary Long today from his summer home at Charlevoix, Mich., that he would arrive in Columbus tomorrow. General McMacker, in command of the troops, said he would not place soldiers on street cars. He said:

"As Mayor Marshall has issued the call for troops they are subservient to the civil authority and therefore I am subject to his orders and will be guided by them."

Petitions are being circulated addressed to the mayor asking that a receiver be named for the street car company.

On the advice of eGneral McMacken no street cars will be allowed to be run tonight and none was in operation all day.

CANADA

MEN DENY ASKING FOR RETURN TO JOBS

TORONTO, July 28.—Strike leaders today angrily denied statements of officials of the Grand Trunk railroad that the strikers have asked to be taken back.

The railway officials say that the request was made at a conference between President Lee of the trainmen, Garretson of the conductors, and President Charles M. Hayes and Vice President Fitzhugh of the Grand Trunk.

According to the railroad men the strikers asked to be taken back and to be allowed to retain their pension rights. They said, according to the railroad men, that they had asked arbitration to [illegible] to secure the increase in wages offered by the Grand Trunk.

President Hayes is reported to have replied that the strikers could not be treated with.

The men, he is said to have told Garretson and Lee, must apply as new men. "The railroad company has hired a number of men in good faith and cannot discharge them to make room for the strikers. The strikers will lose their pension privileges. We are willing to take back all those we can make room for except those who have been guilty of violence."

The strikers assert that the proceedings at the conference have been wilfully misrepresented by the railroad officials to weaken the position of the strikers.

$50 000 YEARLY INCREASE

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—H. B. Perham, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, today said the award of the board of mediators in the demand of the telegraphers on the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain systems will give the telegraphers and station agents of the two roads $50 000 increase in wages. This road held the salary increase would amount to $6[illegible] 000. The board consisted of Judge W. L. Chambers of Washington, who was named by the Interstate Commerce Commission, A. J. Sullivan, manager of the Missouri Pacific, and Frank J. Ryan of the Kansas Railway Commission.

OPPOSED TO PROHIBITION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—That the brewery workers of Los Angeles will not attempt to win their strike by petitioning for a dry town was indicated today when State Organizer Emil Muri of the International Brewery Workers announced that a victory by such means would be worse than a defeat. He said that the union was unalterably opposed to prohibition and would not use the movement to help the Los Angeles strikers.

CHARGES SURGEON WITH MALPRACTICE

Minor Asks Heavy Damages for Alleged Injury Done to Hand and Arm.

Claiming that Dr. J. T. Benton of Berkeley is insured against suit, and that he is pursuing this branch of his profession under a contract of insurance and indemnity with the Physicians Defense Company, by the terms of which the concern agrees to defend him against all suits for damages for alleged malpractice based on professional services tendered by himself or his agents during the tenure of the contract, not exceeding $5000, Townsend A. Van Fleet, a minor, through Minnie E. Powell, his guardian, brought suit this morning in the Superior Court against the physician for $11 760 damages on the ground of malpractice.

The complaint sets forth that young Van Fleet employed Dr. Benton in March, 1909, as a surgeon to attend to an injury to one of his arm and wrist bones sustained in an accident, but that instead of exercising care and skill in the treatment of the case the physician carelessly, negligently and contrary to the ordinary surgical practice performed a surgical operation upon the arm, wrist and hand and in treating the injured arm in a cast for such length of time that the hand and wrist became [illegible] distorted, and Van Fleet permanently lost the use of his wrist and hand. Ordinary surgical treatment, the complaint alleges, would have effected a permanent cure. For the alleged malpractice it is stated young Van Fleet paid $410.

Telephone Company Agent Is Knocked Down and Robbed in City.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—With blood streaming from a large hole in the back of his head, his hat missing, his clothes badly in disarray and his whole person giving evidence of a struggle, Gus Eddy, agent for the Home Telephone Company, who lives at 2201 California street, was found wandering early this morning.

After being taken to the Central Emergency hospital and being partially revived by the surgeons, Eddy declared that not far from the office of the telephone company on Sutter street, near Grant avenue, he was struck on the back of the head by a heavy missile in the hands of a man who had been coming up behind him. Eggs Boil Too Long; Cook Got Black Eye

NEW YORK, July 28.—Because the kettle boiled about one minute too long Philip McPhillemy, cook at Schoenlau's Garden, 5810 Gravois road, got a black eye. William H. Schoenlau, proprietor of the garden, he declared, gave it to him.

Not only were the eggs for Schoenlau's breakfast boiled hard instead of soft, but the toast was underdone and the coffee was muddy, he indignantly averred in Judge Kleiber's court when he and his cook were arraigned on cross charges of disturbing the peace. Judge Kleiber, who prefers his eggs soft-boiled, concluded that the provocation was enough for a black eye, dismissed the case against Schoenlau and fined the cook $[illegible].

FREEHOLDER BOARD THRESH OUT PROBLEMS TO BE SOLVED IN OAKLAND'S NEW CHARTER

Few Suggestions Worthy of Name Received on Invitation of Members; Election of School Trustees Discussed and Letter Received

The Board of Charter Freeholders held a lengthy session last evening without accomplishing practically anything. For three hours its members sat and listened to the views of various municipal officers regarding what they considered the charter should contain affecting their respective departments. All of the heads of departments had been invited to submit written reports, but in the majority of cases a rambling and disjointed criticism was all the freeholders received, and one after another had to be dismissed with the request that he submit his suggestions in writing. In fact, most of the suggestions related to the method of appointment, tenure of office and the size of the salary. Particular stress was laid on the latter all along the line from commissioner to poundmaster. When the latter came to the front to tell the board what he thought the charter should embody relating to his business of dog catching and the impounding of estrays, it was like the straw which broke the camel's back and it brought a vigorous protest against the waste of time from Freeholder Chamberlain, who indignantly declared that no municipal charter in operation recognized the existence of the office of poundmaster.

WILLIS APPOINTED

The finance committee recommended the appointment of W. H. Willis as the official stenographer to take full notes of all proceedings of the meetings of the board and furnish seventeen transcripts of the same, [illegible] for the term; that an assistant stenographer be hired at the rate of $50 per month to furnish transcripts of the debates. The committee estimated the total expense at $[illegible], including equipment, salaries and incidentals. The report was adopted.

A resolution was then passed asking the Council to appropriate a fund of $[illegible] to defray the expenses of the board in the excess over the estimate of the finance committee to cover incidental expenses.

The committee on quarters reported that the council chamber had been placed at the disposal of the chamber for [illegible] nights each week, namely Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

[illegible] Robinson moved that ten members shall constitute a quorum.

[illegible] McDonald—"Haven't we already [illegible] of order which provide [illegible] shall constitute a quorum?"

SUGGESTS EIGHT

[illegible] Chamberlain doubted the expediency of the motion and thought that eight, which was a majority of the board, should be a quorum to carry on business. There being no second to the motion the matter was dropped.

Robinson moved that no measure should be adopted without receiving a majority of the whole body. Carried.

Consideration of the reports of the heads of departments was then taken up. [illegible] Mayor [illegible] ex-Mayors [illegible] Harris, Davie, Olney [illegible] put in an appearance.

[illegible] response to an invitation to submit suggestions regarding his office City Attorney Stetson stated that in his opinion the city attorney should be city attorney only and not a member of any commission, and that he should give his whole time to the city and his duties should be specifically defined, as they are in the San Francisco charter.

WHOLE TIME TO OFFICE

The number of deputies should be defined according to the present wants of the office and as its business may grow. Salaries should be fixed large enough to enable a man who is appointed to the position to give his whole time to the office and it should be big enough to induce him to accept it, he said. Provision should be made in the charter whereby special counsel may be employed in emergency cases. He thought that the city attorney should be empowered to employ special assistance with the consent of the legislative body, the latter to fix the compensation. San Francisco gives its city attorney $5000 a year and compels him to give his whole time. All criminal business should be vested in the district attorney as it is now. All legislation should be submitted to the city attorney before it is passed upon. At present two assistants to the city attorney would be enough.

McDonald—"Don't you think that it would be better to leave the number of assistants to be determined by the governing body?"

Stetson—"Yes, that might be the better way."

ELECTED AT LARGE

School Superintendent McClymonds was in favor of the school directors being elected at large. At present the governing body was weak because its members were elected by wards. He favored a term of four years. The first time under the new charter should, however, be fixed so that every two years some [illegible] go out and new members take their places and thus preserve the continuity of the board, he said. The number should be limited to five or seven, that in his opinion, and all should be elected at large. He declared the functions of the schools should be enlarged and the educational department in all cities has become the source of improved entertainment of the community. He said that the charter should be broad enough to provide for lecture courses and for something to counteract the [illegible] and deleterious entertainment of the nickelodeons which now exerts [illegible] influence on the minds of the young.

The municipality should provide all the money needed to carry on the schools and should not collect anything from the county. They should be entirely independent of the county. The appropriations for educational purposes should be [illegible]. It is not right that a child's education should be put in jeopardy through insufficient funds. If the charter puts a limit on the tax levy it should establish one limit—say a dollar limit—on the levy for general municipal purposes and another limit—say 10 cents—for the schools, he said.

Elliot wanted to know if McClymonds had devised any plan for the election of directors, to which the latter answered that he had not.

McClymonds believed that the freeholders should write into the charter how much the board of education should have to carry on the schools, but in response to a query from Mr. Elliot he did not believe in changing the present plan regarding the expenditure of school funds except in the matter of the erection of school buildings, which should be transferred to the Board of Public Works.

Elliot thought that the Board of Education should be represented in the council in order to fix the responsibility for the expenditure of school funds as under the present system no responsibility attaches to the Board of Education though it spends the money.

In response to McDonald, McClymonds thought that better results would be obtained by making the office of school director a non-salaried position.

The following letter from the president of the Board of Education was submitted:

AS TO SCHOOLS

"To the Board of Freeholders of the city of Oakland:

"Gentlemen: In answer to your communication of July 2[illegible]th I desire to present to you some general principles that in my judgment should be incorporated in the city charter.

"1. The members of the Board of Education should be elected at large for a period of four years, the number to be five or seven. If five, the terms of office of two to expire at the end of two years; if seven, then the terms of office of three to expire at that time.

"2. The selection of teachers for the department is the most important matter connected with the management of the schools. I would recommend that the Board of Education select the teachers and principals from a list nominated and recommended by the City Superintendent, the Board of Education to have the power to devise rules in accordance with which the superintendent should make such nominations and recommendations.

"3. We believe in tenure of office for teachers and principals and that this tenure should be made as permanent as the good of the service will permit, and would recommend that the charter be so drawn that teachers and principals may be elected for an indefinite period at the pleasure of the Board of Education, but the Board of Education shall have the power to terminate the service except for cause only at the end of the school year and the teachers shall have the right to resign only at the end of the school year. Of course with mutual agreement the service may be terminated at any other time. In order that the board may terminate the service of any teacher or principal at the end of the school year the board must give notice of some sixty days prior to the close of the fiscal year.

NO LIMITATION.

"4. No limitation should be placed on the residence of any educational employe of the school department; that is, the board should have the right to select the superintendent, principal or teacher without regard to residence.

"5. I believe that it is to the best interests of the municipality that the municipality furnish the school department the revenue needed in excess of that which is derived from the State and county for the maintenance of schools.

"On the supposition that the Board of Freeholders will place a tax limit I am of the opinion that the tax limit for schools ought to be separated from the general tax limit. For example, if the tax limit is $1 for city maintenance other than schools and the tax limit for schools should be fixed at 25c, it would make the tax limit for all purposes $1.25. (These figures are used merely for illustration.)

"6. The city as a municipality has now and probably will have under the charter a better system of expending money for buildings and improvement of grounds than has the school department. It would be well that provision be made in the charter for the expenditure of all municipal moneys to be expended for school buildings and grounds through the proper city channels, but that this money be expended under the direction and with the approval of the Board of Education. (See present city charter.)

"7. The city superintendent of schools should be elected by the Board of Education and his salary should be fixed by the board.

"8. The city superintendent should have the power to appoint his deputies subject to the approval of the Board of Education.

"[illegible] The superintendent of schools or one of his deputies should act as secretary of the board.

"Respectfully submitted,
"(Signed) A. L. HANNAFORD,
"President of the Board of Education."

[illegible] favored the appointment of the school superintendent by the directors and his term of service should be at least five years.

Manager of the Playgrounds McDonald suggested that the charter should make the playgrounds commission an independent body, in no wise connected with the park commission, the funds allotted to it to employ teachers and directors of the playgrounds. The commission should consist of three members appointed by the mayor and the term of office fixed at two years. The commission should have absolute control of its funds. He did not believe in the merging of the commission into the board of education. Its sphere of usefulness was larger than a simple school ground proposition. He did not favor the chairman of the playgrounds commission being a member of the legislative commission.

Elliot was of the opinion that it would be necessary in some way to connect the playgrounds commission with the legislative body to hold the commission responsible for the expenditure of its funds.

TURNER MAKES STATEMENT

City Engineer Turner made a brief statement regarding the office of city engineer, which he thought should not be under the control of the superintendent of streets but an independent office. The poundmaster and the city engineer are the only fee officers in the city government. The city engineer should be paid a good salary, declared Turner, and the office should be appointive, not an elective office. The appointment should be made by the same authority as in other cases, he said, and the city engineer should not be a member of the board of public works. The city engineer should take orders from the commission or the board of public works. He did not believe that it would be advisable to cut loose from the Vrooman act in the charter, but that the sections of the act should be worked into the charter as every part of the charter was now well understood.

Deputy City Treasurer Meeker said that the city treasurer should be elected and not appointed. Auditor and assessor, if combined, should be elected. If separated, the assessor should be elected and the auditor appointed.

SALARIES FIXED.

Superintendent of Police Wilson said the salaries of the department should be fixed by the charter. The police commission should be separate from the council or legislative commission. He favored more than one commissioner and taking the department entirely out of politics. Term of service in the force should count in the man's favor and the charter should provide for a graded salary accordingly.

City Clerk Thompson suggested to the freeholders that the term of city clerk should be fixed for a period of five years. There should also be provision made for a clerk of the council. Duties of a city clerk are now recognized as administrative. Then the initiative, referendum and recall, which are proposed to be incorporated in the charter, entails the verification by the city clerk of all the signatures to the petitions and takes up much time and involves big expense, he said, citing an example in that it cost $500 to determine whether two gentlemen were qualified to be candidates.

REDUCE EXPENSE

He thought that the expense of the office could be reduced if the time of publication of ordinances and so forth required by law were shortened to say three insertions once a week.

Mr. Robinson—"Some charters provide for only one publication."

Mr. Thompson—"The charter might provide for reprint slips of ordinances for general distribution. There should be a municipal librarian to take charge of the general ordinances of other cities obtained in exchange for our own. The library would serve as an information bureau and should be open to the public."

Librarian Green, Chief of Police Petersen, Deputy Street Superintendent Frost, City Electrician Babcock and Poundmaster Zabel addressed the board. When the poundmaster began to recount the woes of his office Mr. Chamberlain's patience gave out and he protested vehemently against the waste of time.

"There is not a charter in existence which recognizes any such office as poundmaster," he exclaimed, "and why should we waste our time in listening to the troubles of dog catching?"

TROUBLE BREW

Elliot and Pardee came pretty near upsetting things generally by moving and seconding respectively that the Berkeley charter be taken up and read section by section and acted upon, making such changes in proceeding as would be necessary to adapt it to Oakland.

The chair objected strenuously to such a proceeding. The point of order was also raised that the Des Moines charter had been adopted by resolution at the first meeting of the board as the basis for framing the Oakland charter and the Elliot motion had to go by the board.

The freeholders then adjourned until 8 p. m. next Wednesday with the understanding that there would be hereafter at least two meetings each week.

CALHOUN TO ASK TO BE RELEASED

Street Railway Magnate to Appear and Request His Discharge.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—The case of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United Railroads, whose trial has been delayed by reason of the disappearance of "Big Jim" Gallagher, the star witness of the graft prosecution, will be called tomorrow morning in Judge Lawlor's court.

A year ago at the termination of the first trial the jury was discharged standing 10 to 2 for acquittal. Subsequent delays were had owing to the political campaign of Private Prosecutor Francis J. Heney.

DROPS FROM SIGHT.

Thanksgiving Gallagher dropped out of sight and at the last calling of the action he had not been located. Now, however, he has been found rusticating in British Columbia and the query arises as to what disposition should be made of the case against Calhoun. The latter has appealed to the Supreme Court to release him on habeas corpus, he having been for a long period in jeopardy and having been putting up an enormous bail and paying premiums to surety companies for a period of more than three years.

The hearing in the Gallagher matter has also been continued until tomorrow and counsel for prosecution and defense will be on hand to once more thresh out the controversy.

State Wins Point in Henninger Case

In the criminal department of the superior court Assistant District Attorney Hynes this morning won a point at the trial of J. C. Henninger, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, which the prosecution believes insures the conviction of the realty broker.

Yesterday afternoon the state attempted to introduce testimony to show that the mortgage covering the property of Paul Scholtz and wife in Elmhurst which Henninger sold to Dominic Laragetto for $1000 was secured by false representation. Objection to the testimony was entered by the defense.

The assistant district attorney argued the point involved so conclusively and convincingly from the prosecution's contention, however, that he won the court to his way of thinking with the result that the damaging evidence was admitted.

Stevedore Tries to Wreck Saloon

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—John McGrath, a stevedore living at the Evans hotel, caused consternation in the saloon and restaurant of A. Tabalini, 738 Front street, at 8:30 this morning.

He entered, demanded a drink and paid for a bottle of whiskey, saying he would treat everyone in the place. He then proceeded on a tour of destruction and several of the employes closed in on him, one of them striking him several times on the head.

The wounds only inflamed him the more and when Policeman Finlay arrived he had difficulty handcuffing his prisoner. After treatment at the Harbor Hospital McGrath was locked up on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Driver Severely Hurt; Dragged by Team

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Joseph Cavagnaro of 137 Stockton street, a driver for Wells Fargo & Company, was dragged for two blocks by his team along Second street this afternoon and perhaps fatally injured. His horses started to run away as he left the wagon to deliver a package and he grabbed hold of the harness.

He received fractures of ribs, toes, fingers. After treatment at the Harbor hospital he was removed to Hahnemann hospital.

WIFE SAYS SHE BORROWED CARFARE FROM SERVANTS, SPOUSE WAS SO STINGY

Judge Rakes Louis Wink Over Coals, Branding Him "Stubborn-Headed and Unreasonable"; Forced to Give In

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—"A stubborn-headed, unreasonable man" was one of the phrases used by Judge Raker yesterday in referring to Louis Mink, a Mission woman's tailor, whose wife had sued for separate maintenance, and whose action he was bitterly contesting. After almost two hours and a half of work during which he fought every inch of the way, the court finally made Mink come around to his idea of what he should and should not do, and finally sent the couple away reconciled and armed with an ironclad contract to keep the peace.

Had No Carfare

Mrs. Rose Mink, the wife, in her suit declared that her husband, who owns three stores, had left her without money and forced her to frequently borrow carfare from her servants. In response Mink brought suit against his mother-in-law and sister-in-law for $50,000 damages for alienating his wife's affection.

Judge Raker was designed to straighten out the tangle. He told Mink he was stingy when the latter said he couldn't afford a servant at $15 a week.

Mink Rebuked

Then, when the tailor refused to dismiss the damage suit against his wife's relatives against the advice of even his own counsel, his honor rebuked him.

"I've seen a lot of stubborn-headed, unreasonable men, but you're the limit. You are going against your own better judgment and the advice of your counsel."

Finally it was agreed after much labor that both suits would be dropped, the wife would have her servant and agree to keep her mother and sister from the house while he on his part would find other quarters for his cousin, who was instructed to immediately vacate.

Says She Owns Property

Following her suit for a divorce from Timothy Muldowney, proprietor of the Tavern bar and cafe, located at 462 Seventh street, from which business, his wife alleges, he derives a net income of $2000, Adella May Muldowney this morning obtained from Superior Judge Waste an order which restrains Muldowney from in any manner disposing of property or money pending the outcome of her action. Mrs. Muldowney affirms that she has a community interest in all of her husband's holdings, which amount to about $11,000 in value.

"One Continual Drunk"

Superior Judge Waste granted a final decree of divorce this morning to A. C. Page of 415 Fourth street from Lillian J. Page on the ground of habitual intemperance. The couple lived together for sixteen years, during the latter decade of which period, according to Page's testimony, Mrs. Page was always under the influence of liquor.

"The last ten years of our married life have been one continual drunk for Mrs. Page," the husband told the court.

Bedlam Ruled the Roost

Last Christmas was anything but a day of rejoicing in the home of Ferdinand and Marie Hespich, according to the testimony upon which the wife has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Superior Judge Waste and the custody of the five minor children. The couple were married in 1897 and Mrs. Hespich's story indicates that throughout the long period of their marital relations bedlam ruled the house because of the husband's cruel treatment of his family.

Mrs. Hespich testified that the big Christmas row started with the break of day and culminated about noon when Hespich rushed into the sitting room where Mrs. Hespich and the children were assembled and threatened to kill his wife. "He jumped all over the room," to use the words of Mrs. Hespich, "and tore the clothes from the back of one of the boys. Then he turned upon his wife. She and the children ran into another room and locked the door to escape his fury. Finding that he could not get through the door Hespich ran out into the street like a wild man," the wife testified, "and ran all over the street like a person possessed of a demon." Returning to the house he finally subsided, but broke out again afterwards.

Jumping at his wife in a towering rage Hespich took her by the neck and strangled her until her eyes almost popped out of her head and she sank to the floor, bleeding at the nose and mouth and insensible. The frightened children ran for a doctor.

Mrs. Hespich told the court that her husband had repeatedly accused her of infidelity and threatened to kill her.

Rawn, Rated as Millionaire, Left Only $120,000

CHICAGO, July 28.—Instead of being a millionaire, Ira G. Rawn, president of the Monon Railway company, who was shot to death at his summer home, died possessed of an estate valued at only $120,000.

So at least a petition filed today by his widow declared. Mr. Rawn's will was promptly admitted to probate. Mrs. Rawn was appointed executrix.

According to the petition there was no real estate, all of the holdings being listed as personal property. The total amount given in the document caused surprise, as there was a general impression that the estate would be appraised at more than $1,000,000.

100 CANDIDATES TO ENTER SHRINE

Aahmes Temple Secures Temporary Quarters in Security Bank Building.

Aahmes Temple, Oakland's new mystic shrine, has secured temporary quarters in the Security bank building, Eleventh and Broadway, where a business meeting of the shrine will be held Wednesday evening. According to present arrangements the first big ceremonial of the new shrine will be held August 27, when 100 candidates will be initiated in the Coliseum building, Twelfth and Webster streets.

The new quarters of the shrine are not large enough to accommodate the candidates and the house committee, composed of H. F. Seller, chairman; Fred Voorhees and J. Makins, recommended that the affair be held in the Coliseum.

Frank W. Bilger, illustrious potentate, will preside over the exercises of the evening. Imperial Potentate Hyans was invited to attend the session, but owing to the pressure of business will not be able to attend.

Hyans will arrive in Los Angeles on a business trip early in August and will be met there by Frank Bilger and officers of the new shrine who will welcome him on behalf of Aahmes Temple, which was recently instituted.

Burbank Model for Famous Sculptors

Mrs. Gertrude Boyle Kanno, the California sculptress who has achieved distinction for her splendid models of celebrated men and women, has completed a bust of Luther Burbank, the plant wizard. For several weeks she was his guest, and while there she secured an exact likeness of the famous plant discoverer.

The sculptress is planning to model many of the noted men of this state, where she has lived the greater part of her life. She has not disclosed to any of her friends what her next labor will be, although they surmise that she will win praise for the original work of Luther Burbank. She isolated herself from all her friends while working at the figure, which she presented to the wizard upon its completion.

BARTENDER KILLS SPOUSE AND SELF

Warns Brother in Note Never to Let Daughter Marry Christian.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—But a few short moments after he had told Policeman C. W. Bornmouth that he was waiting for his wife, from whom he had been separated for a short time, and hoped to effect a reconciliation with her, John Black, a bartender, shot and killed the woman at their home, 42 Fell street, and committed suicide late last night.

A short note revealing a world of [illegible] Black's brother and reads as follows:

"Lena was unfaithful to me and I found it out. Don't ever let your daughter marry a Christian."

To his mother-in-law he also left a chiding missive.

"No doubt you will have something to think about when you read this," he wrote. "Had you watched over your daughter more carefully and tried to have her play fair, this would not have happened."

The shots were heard by Deputy Coroner Kelly, but when he arrived with an officer the man had succeeded in carrying out his designs. There had been domestic difficulties in the family for a long time past.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Superior Judge Lawlor continued the case of Abraham Ruef, which came up today for the purpose of deciding whether the former boss will be returned to the county jail, until August 8. CHAMBER TO ACT ON IMPROVEMENT

Purchase of Dredger for Use in the Harbor May Be Advocated.

Following the receipt of copies of the rivers and harbors bill recently approved by Congress containing a provision for the purchase of a dredger for use in Oakland harbor and leaving the matter to the discretion of the Secretary of War, the rivers and harbors committee of the Chamber of Commerce will at once use its efforts toward obtaining the desired improvement. That section of the bill which is of especial interest to the Chamber of Commerce reads as follows:

"For maintenance and continuing improvement of the harbor of Oakland under the existing project, or in the discretion of the Secretary of War in accordance with the new plan of improvement printed in House document No. 647, Sixty-first Congress, second session, $250,000: Provided, That if in the judgment of the Secretary of War the prices received in response to advertisement for bids for dredging are reasonable, so much of the amount herein appropriated as shall be necessary may be expended for the purchase or construction of a suitable dredging plant."

GASOLINE DREDGER

E. C. Sessions, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, declared today that for the sum of $75,000 to $80,000 a gasoline dredger could be purchased that would do better, more and less expensive work than those of a large nature and higher priced.

The dredger obtained for the Oakland harbor would mean immeasurable benefit in the proposed water front improvement and would save an immense amount of money each year. The regular price asked by dredging companies is 27 cents a foot, while the government is now doing the work in San Diego for 8 cents.

PROTEST DEMAND OF MERCHANTS

Alameda Chamber of Commerce Calls for Big Joint Meeting.

ALAMEDA, July 28.—Secretary F. J. Lyons of the Alameda Chamber of Commerce has asked the chambers of commerce of Oakland and Berkeley to meet with the local body tonight at its headquarters on Central avenue near Park street to discuss the ruling made by the San Francisco merchants that their employes must live in San Francisco.

Many speakers will discuss the situation and resolutions will be passed which will be forwarded to the San Francisco committee appointed from the merchants who ruled that no person living in Alameda, Berkeley or Oakland should be employed by them in the future.

That they would take stringent measures to enforce this ruling [illegible] has [illegible] been decided by the [illegible] merchants.

Rescues Gay "Widow:" Finds "She" Is Man

The chivalry of the house of Roosevelt has made itself manifest again. This time the leaf on the family tree who is responsible for hanging another blue ribbon on its branches is Major H. T. Roosevelt, nephew of Colonel Theodore and son-in-law of Judge W. W. Morrow.

Roosevelt happened to be sauntering around the golf links at the Marin County Golf club yesterday and his attention, as well as that of many others so sauntering, was attracted to a supposedly young widow, gowned in black and possessing one of those "slashing" Harrison Fisher hats.

The widow was making impressions galore and was about to enjoy herself by breaking several hearts about the place when she inadvertently fell overboard into the bay. The cry went up from the boat house and benedicts, Beau Brummels and ordinary bachelors rushed to the rescue.

Colonel Roosevelt was the first to leap into the water, the first to reach the struggling "widow," and consequently the first to reach the shore again to receive the congratulations of the throng.

Later developments disclosed that the "widow" was George Martin, a man of resourceful wit. Martin is laughing yet while Roosevelt cannot be located.

San Leandro Minister Dies of Heart Disease

SAN LEANDRO, July 28.—Rev. J. E. Anderson, for ten years pastor of the San Leandro Presbyterian church, died at 2 o'clock this afternoon of heart trouble. He had been in a weakened condition for a long time and three months ago was compelled to resign from the church owing to the state of his health.

Rev. Mr. Anderson was about 65 years of age. He was a native of Kentucky. He was the principal organizer of the church in this city. He is survived by a wife and one son, C. E. Anderson, a resident of this city.

Business Is Good Says Hepburn

NEW YORK, July 28.—A. Barton Hepburn, former comptroller of the currency, who is just back in New York from an extended Western trip, expressed the belief on his arrival here that the reports which have been circulated in Wall street of crop damage and business stagnation in the West are grossly exaggerated. He found the general business situation good, asserting that the only thing which marred his optimism was the evidence everywhere presented of wild extravagance in domestic economy. Mr. Hepburn summed up the situation as he sees it in this wise:

"However serious the crop losses may be in certain isolated localities, the general statement remains true that the crops of the country as a whole promise at the present time to exceed in value any previous crops produced. There is no occasion for pessimism."

FERRIS HERE FROM SOUTH; GREETED BY HIS FRIENDS

Candidate for Lieutenant-Governor Visits P. O. Authorities on Trail of Men Who Stole Youngworth's Franked Envelopes

Richard Ferris, candidate for the nomination of lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket, was a visitor to this city today and was kindly welcomed by a large number of friends whom he has known for many years. This, he says, is his first appearance in the role of a candidate for political office but, at the same time, he feels that he will be able to play it to the satisfaction of himself and friends.

Mr. Ferris is known among the managers and the patrons of amusement, not alone in California, but all over the Pacific coast. In all his ventures in managerial enterprises he has been remarkably successful, his most recent achievement being the marvellous success of the aviation meeting at Los Angeles, in which there had been a great deal of money expended but in which, also, the investors not only received back the money they had advanced to insure the holding of the meeting, but also a most liberal return on the outlay. In many respects this has been considered the most successful meeting of the kind which has been held in this country.

Harry Campbell, manager of the Macdonough theater, is an intimate friend of Mr. Ferris, and while he disclaims that he is not engaged in the management of the gentleman's campaign, at the same time he declares that Ferris is in no need of managers, for the reason that, in that line of work, Ferris is an adept. And yet, he declares, there is not a manager on the coast who will not do all he can to advance the itnerests of the aviation impresario.

There is to be a demonstration of this kind this evening in San Francisco at the St. Francis Hotel, when, after the performances at the several theaters on the other and this side of the bay, there is to be a gathering of hundreds of the representatives of the dramatic, vaudeville and operatic world for the purpose of showing the regard of the members of those professions for Ferris as candidate for lieutenant governor.

Evacing Trial on Primary Day

Redmond C. Staats, who is a candidate for assemblyman in the Fifty-second assembly district in Berkeley against the present incumbent, C. C. Young, almost fainted this morning in Judge Wasp's department of the superior court when the gentleman on the bench set August 16, the day of the primaries, as the time for the hearing of a case in which Staats is attorney for one of the litigants.

"What is that, your honor?" queried Staats, with open mouth and bulging eyes, at once denoting surprise and consternation.

"We will set the case for August 16, next," answered the judge. "You'll be ready to go on with the case?" asked the court.

"Well, your honor," said Staats smiling, but evidently all at ease, "I would rather not try it on that day because I think—I think—I will be engaged in, in—another place."

"Well then," said the court, "August 17. How will that do?"

"I may not have gotten through with the business of the 16th by that time," faltered Staats.

In the court room at the time there were several attorneys who appreciated Staats' position who, without giving the real reason to the court for his opposition to going to trial on those days, was really striving to have at least those two days to attend to his candidacy for assemblyman and get over the jubilation or the depression.

Set for August

"The docket is clear for the 18th," said the judge, and at this time there was a merry twinkle in the judicial eye. "How will that do?"

Staats was silent for a moment and then said slowly and only half-resignedly, "Well, I think perhaps that I may have to take a vacation on that day, but, under those circumstances, I will not object to the case being set for the 18th."

There was an audible titter in the court among the attorneys inside the bar and the judge smiled and then Staats decided that the court all through the proceedings was aware of the importance of Statts' being at some other place than in court on August 16.

Mystery shrouds the identity of the person or persons who sent through the mails the scurrilous circular, in franked envelopes of United States Marshal Leo V. Youngworth of Los Angeles, attacking the personal and official character of Charles F. Curry, candidate for governor on the Republican ticket. Postoffice inspectors are at work on the case for the purpose of ascertaining, among other things, who it was stole the franked envelopes from the office of the United States marshal. Youngworth is engaged in the same quest but, up to the present time, neither the inspectors nor the marshal have been able to reach a satisfactory clew.

Chester Rowell, of Fresno, regrets the sending of the circular and the attempt to fasten the crime upon supporters of Hiram Johnson.

Curry, the man who has been assailed, says that as soon as he is able to travel with a physician he will go to Los Angeles and endeavor to discover who is responsible for the outrage.

E. A. Dickson, one of the leaders of the Lincoln-Roosevelt league in the south, says that he has a suspicion as to where the missive came from but declines to state what his suspicion is. He says, however, that it was an attempt to embroil the Johnson and Curry forces.

Youngworth's Surprise

"I can't imagine who took the envelopes from my office or how they were taken," said Marshal Youngworth. "Neither myself nor any one in my office is active in the campaign and the whole thing is a mystery to me. In addition the postal laws have been violated, as the senders did not place postage stamps on the envelopes, but sent them through the mails as official business of the marshal's office. The use of this stationery is a serious offense and I will aid the postal authorities in making a full investigation."

Douglas White, who is looking after Curry's interests in southern California, said he believed the culprits would be discovered, although he said he had no idea as to their identity.

"We believe this was done to injure Curry, but it will not hurt him at all. The attack was in every respect so untrue and unjustified that if it has any effect it will be just the opposite."

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO WRITE NAMES

Decide to Agree on Nominees for Each Office on the Ticket.

There has suddenly developed an idea among the Democrats on the other side of the bay to secure nominees for every office for which a place has been provided on the ticket which is to be voted at the primaries. This will be the case, in a special manner, with respect to the offices of assemblymen and senators in a number of districts where there are no candidates at present nominated. The idea seems to be that allowing offices to go begging for candidates indicates poverty of official timber or poverty in political strength of the party.

It is too late now to nominate any candidate for the offices referred to, and for that reason the Democrats over there have come to the conclusion to agree upon one candidate in each assembly and senatorial district where no candidate has been nominated and then write the name of that person on the ballot at the primaries.

TAKE NO ACTION.

Today a representative of THE TRIBUNE asked Chairman John J. McDonald of the Alameda County Democratic Central Committee whether such a method of procedure had been decided upon by the Democrats of Alameda county, but the latter stated that as yet the local Democrats had not considered the matter, much less taken action on it. He felt that before long the matter would be reached by the central committee, and so far as he could see, action of some kind would be taken in the premises.

At present the Democrats of this county have no candidates for the assembly and only one candidate out of a possibility of two candidates for the senate, the single exception being Hiram Luttrell, who is running for the senate in the Sixteenth district. McDonald was further asked if it were the intention of the Democrats to indorse any of the Republicans now running for the assembly in this county and gave a positive denial to the suggestion.

West End Club to Hold Great Rally

There will be a meeting this evening at the headquarters, 1507 Seventh street, of the West End Anderson Republican Club, at which there is desired a full attendance of the members, for the purpose of making arrangements for taking part in the rally which is to be held on the return to this city of the candidate after whom the club has been named and who has received its hearty indorsement. Anderson is still in the south. The date of the rally is as yet uncertain, but will be announced at the earliest possible moment, and in the meantime arrangements for the event will be perfected. The organization meets in Alcatraz hall. The officers are: J. H. Schaffer, president; James Whalen, vice-president; John Twomey, secretary, and J. H. Sheahan, treasurer.

ANDERSON BUSY AT HEADQUARTERS

Hears News of Indorsement at Hands of Afro-American Council.

RIVERSIDE, July 28.—The Alden Anderson headquarters at this place, where the Gubernatorial candidate is campaigning at the present time, were overjoyed at the receipt of news last night that the Afro-American Council in session at Pasadena had unanimously endorsed the former Lieutenant-Governor for the Republican nomination.

There are about 9000 colored votes in Los Angeles county and Johnson, Curry and Stanton have been eager to get this endorsement for some time.

Anderson did some energetic campaigning here yesterday, not retiring until long after midnight. He held an informal reception at headquarters beginning at 8 o'clock and continuing until 1 o'clock this morning. The candidate made an informal speech to a delegation of colored men and fruit-growers. He reviewed his private and public life and challenged any man to point to a breach of public trust in his thirteen years of service to the State.

He pointed out the danger of the adoption of a free trade or downward tariff revision by nominating a candidate for Governor who is a self-declared insurgent. He said that he stood for tariff protection for California industries and straight Republicanism.

Indorse Anderson for Governorship

The Adeline Republican Club held an enthusiastic meeting at its quarters in Magnolia Hall last night, at which there was a representative gathering of the leading members of the party in that section. There were a number of speeches delivered which aroused a great deal of enthusiasm and the height was reached when, by a unanimous vote, the candidacy of Alden Anderson for Governor was indorsed. The organization adjourned to meet at the call of the chair. The officers are: James F. Hanley, president; Peter Le Fevre, vice-president; George H. White, secretary; William Warren, treasurer.

Alfonzo May Recall Vatican Ambassador

PARIS, July 28.—A special from Madrid today says the Spanish government has received from the Vatican a categorical refusal to proceed with the negotiations for a revision of the Cordoriat unless the imperial decree of June 10 which authorized non-religious societies to display the insignia for public worship is withdrawn.

The correspondent adds that Premier Canalijas is resolved not to yield this point, and will advise King Alfonzo to recall Senor de Ojeda, the Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican, and to suspend diplomatic relations with the Holy See.

Big Registration For Primaries Says County Clerk

(By County Clerk John P. Cook.)

"Upon the close of registration at midnight yesterday, I estimate that the total registration in the county for the primary election will be approximately 50,000 names, which is considerably in excess of the entire registration of the county at the close of registration at the last Presidential election.

"I am especially gratified at this result. It shows a considerable growth in the county during the past two years, as well as demonstrating the truth of my contention, made in February, that every opportunity would be given to the voters to register with the least amount of inconvenience to themselves.

"I believe that our canvass of voters through a system of meetings held in the months of February and March resulted in giving direct notice of the necessity of registering. While many of them did not attend these meetings, yet they received notice of the necessity of registering and they have nearly all complied with the law in that respect.

"We have handled the enormous detail involved in this registration and very little confusion has resulted in the office. We will start tomorrow with the work of compiling the Great Register, the addressing of envelopes for sample ballots and notice of polling place and voting number, which will be mailed to each voter in the county some days before election."

IMPROVERS HOLD SOCIAL SESSION

Allendale Club Holds Program of Musical Numbers and Serves Refreshments.

FRUITVALE, July 28.—One of the most successful entertainments given so far by the members of the Allendale Improvement Club was held Tuesday evening at Allendale hall when the majority of the members, together with many of their friends, attended.

Under the direction of the committee, E. D. Hensley, John Dietzman and John Anderson, a program of musical numbers had been prepared. Following the program ice cream and cake was served, and immediately afterward the floor was cleared for dancing.

At a previous meeting a motion had been carried that there would be no political speeches heard during the evening, and this was adhered to.

The program which was given follows:

Overture—Mrs. Indig.
Vocal solo—Miss Lucille Snyder
Vocal solo—Master "Jack" White.
Violin solo—J. Rodgers.
Piano selection—Professor Shutte.
Vocal solo—Miss Olga Wayburn

Claude Grimes acted as floor manager during the evening, and W. E. Ransome was chairman.

The members of the club have arranged to hold a mass meeting at the hall the evening of August 2, when all candidates will be invited to attend and address the members. It is expected there will be a large turn-out at this meeting.

Important Meetings Awaiting President

Summer Vacation of Nation's Executive Ends This Afternoon.

BIDDERFORDPOOL, Me., July 28.—Taft's vacation cruise along the Maine coast ends late this afternoon when the Mayflower will sail into Beverly harbor and cast anchor off the summer White House.

The President and his party passed the night on board and the Mayflower remained at anchor in the harbor here until time to start for Beverly, in order to reach there about 3 o'clock.

The President goes to Provincetown on August 5 to speak at the unveiling of the Pilgrims' monument, the cornerstone of which was laid by Roosevelt.

Taft will have a number of visitors at Beverly soon and some important political conferences are in prospect.

BEVERLY, July 28.—The President's cruise came to an end at 3:05 p. m. today, when the Mayflower rounded Burgess point. The President and his party were soon ashore.

Tanks Boil Over; Fire Causes Loss

Through the boiling over of a large tank of asphaltum used in the dipping tank of the Crane company, steam goods and plumbing supplies, close to the Oakland Traction Company's power house in Fortieth street this morning, fire was caused in an outhouse of the factory which resulted in about $1000 damages before the blaze was extinguished.

The fire started in the dipping tank, where pipes and plumbing supplies are given an asphalt treatment. Workingmen in the shop attempted to extinguish the flames but were driven back by the boiling fluid and the choking fumes from the asphalt. A call was sent in to the Oakland and Emeryville fire departments and the fire was extinguished before it reached the main plant of the company.

FIFTY THOUSAND VOTERS REGISTER TO CAST BALLOTS AT THE COMING PRIMARIES

Estimated by Clerks That Registration in County This Year Is the Heaviest in Its History

The registration of voters for the primary which is to be held on the 16th of this month, which closed last night, is the heaviest ever experienced in Alameda county, the total number of names placed on the great register since the opening of the present year being estimated at 50,000.

This is greatly in excess of the total of two years ago at the gubernatorial campaign, when there was a registration of but 48,000 and when there were still a number of thousands of people here whose intent was to return to their former home in San Francisco as soon as their former conditions of abode and business could be restored.

The new registration, among other things, shows the wonderful increase in the population of Alameda, which is shown to be all the greater by reason of comparison with that of San Francisco, because the difference between the figures of the two counties consists of only a few thousands in favor of the county on the other side of the bay.

Make Better Showing

Not many years ago a comparison of this kind would be ridiculous because of the greatness of the disparity. By the time the registration for the general election in November is completed, the showing in a comparison with that of the registration in San Francisco will be all the more grateful for the reason that in the meantime several thousand residents of this place who have not registered for the primaries will be sure to have placed their names on the register in order that they may be enabled to vote for the candidate for the important offices which are to be filled at that time in county, state and nation.

The registration closed for the primaries last night at midnight in all parts of the county, and there was scarcely a place in the interior or in the large cities and towns in which people were not registered after nightfall. This showed, in a certain way at least, the great interest which the voters take in the performance of this important feature of the duty of an American citizen, even though the tardy ones were open to the criticism of postponing the performance of the function until it seemed almost too late.

Liberal Season

But there is no telling what people are likely to do, in view of the fact that it is known that a certain percentage of the community will procrastinate to the last moment, and most people procrastinate to a greater or lesser degree, especially when there is a liberal season allowed for the performance of any kind of work which may be delayed from day to day.

For the last three days there has been a rush of people to the office of the county clerk for the purpose of being enrolled. The number of callers with this purpose in view has increased daily since Monday last, both in the night and in the day, because County Clerk Cook has kept his office open and men on hand to do the registration when the work had to be done by electrical as well as by the light of the sun.

Yesterday, however, was the banner day in the history of registration in Alameda county for the reason that in the office of the county clerk alone there were at least one thousand names of voters placed on the great register.

Special Deputies

At the same time there were thirty or forty special registration deputies at work in the postoffices, stores and manufacteries throughout the county where the work was done in relatively speaking the plane of activity.

The affidavits from the out-of-town registrars are due today. Some of them had arrived at the county clerk's office up to noon, but others will continue to arrive there up to midnight. Just how many have been secured in this way is not as yet known. There is an idea that the number will not fall short of about 300, thus making the total registration go for yesterday practically 1300.

The scene at the office of County Clerk Cook last night was one of extreme activity and interest.

All in Hurry

The room at all times was filled with anxious voters who were anxious to make up for lost time by reaching one or the other of the registration clerks, some of them, as the closing time approached, nervously eyeing the clock lest it would indicate the midnight hour before they should have completed the registry.

Not a few of the men came accompanied by their wives, and some, it was apparent from the attention which they divided between their companions and the registers, had brought with them their sweethearts.

It was not until five minutes before the midnight hour that the last voter got his name on the register, but even then the doors of the office were kept open by County Clerk Cook so as to give the last loiterer on the street a chance to save his vote for the primary.

But when the hour of 12 was reached the doors were closed and the clerk and his assistants repaired to their homes to seek rest for the coming day.

Field Campaign

Registration for the present new register opened the first of January of this year and has continued ever since under varying conditions and circumstances. What is known as a "field campaign" was inaugurated on February 15 and, under this plan, there were at least one big meeting and in most cases two or three large meetings held each night in various parts of the county for the purpose of enabling the voters to register almost without being obliged to leave their homes.

This campaign was kept up until April 11, when, at intervals and in various sections of the county, there were special sessions for the same purpose held, which were conducted by the county clerk and his deputies in person, and in this way there were thousands of people registered in a shorter period of time than was ever before known in the history of registration in this county.

Yesterday Heaviest

While, as has been stated, yesterday was the heaviest in the registration business in the county, at the same time, on the 11th of last March, there was a number of affidavits obtained which broke the record in the matter up to that time, for the reason that, in Berkeley alone, there were 977 voters registered on that occasion, while in the town of Elmhurst there were 225 and at the central office several more obtained.

It will require a week in which to complete a totalization of the number of affidavits on file and when that total has been obtained it will be given to the public by County Clerk Cook. In addition to the direct method of registering and the work of the registering deputies, County Clerk Cook employed a system of coupons as a means of ascertaining where there were to be found voters who had not registered and who, for reasons best known to themselves, either would not or could not go to any of the places regularly established for the purpose of registering.

Deputies in Field

These coupons were cut out of the papers, filled in with the name and the address of the man or men who could not or would not go to be registered, and forwarded to the county clerk. The latter then deputized one of his assistants to go to the residence indicated on the coupon and there register the applicant. In this manner several hundred people who could not be caught in any other way were secured for the register. There were some members of both leading parties who told the county clerk that a person who did not think enough of registering to impel him to go to the place where the registration was in progress was not fit to be registered.

County Clerk Cook felt that there was a good deal of logic in the statement, but at the same time realized that, at times, people through sickness or because of some unusual occupation or irregular hours of employment are unable to do what others differently situated can do, and concluded to seek for the missing ones rather than let them keep their names off the roll. He was gratified in ascertaining that in almost every instance where a man asked for a registrar to call at his home there was a good excuse for the request.

At General Election

People must now be informed that there is still a chance for those who have not yet got on the great register to be registered in time to vote at the general election in November, but there is no possibility of their voting at the primaries. Registration for the general election is in progress every day in the county clerk's office and will continue until September 29. After that day there will be no more registration for the present year's election and the person who neglects this opportunity in this respect disfranchises himself for the coming important political conflict.

In this connection it may be stated that between now and the coming primary there will be a number of persons who are already registered who will change their place of abode. Where a change of that kind takes a voter out of the precinct in which he registered, he cannot vote at the primary until after he has had his name again registered or in other words until he gets a transfer at the county clerk's office showing where he formerly resided and his new place of abode in the other precinct. This change will then be made manifest in the register.

Cannot Vote

In the event of neglecting to attend to this method of procedure, the registered man will not be allowed to vote either in the precinct in which his old home was located or in the precinct to which he has transferred his domicile.

There is a limit also placed upon the time during which transfers of this kind may be filed and that limit will be reached on October 13 next. After that date no more transfers will be received in the office of the county clerk.

In the county at the ensuing election there will be 219 voting places, apportioned as follows: Oakland, 119; Berkeley, 33; Alameda, 16; Emeryville, 6; Eden Township, 10; Washington, 8; Murray, 6; Pleasanton, 4; Brooklyn, 3; Oakland Township, 3.

Anderson Club Hears Candidates Speak

FRUITVALE, July 28.—At a meeting last night of the Alden Anderson Club in the new Masonic temple, East Fourteenth street and Thirty-fourth avenue, Judge Samuel Cook, candidate for judge of police court, and C. J. Lutgen, candidate for county auditor, were the principal speakers. The meeting was largely attended by the club and ten new members were taken in during the evening.

The organization is looking forward to a grand rally of all of the clubs of this district to be held here somewhere around the 10th of next month. At this meeting it is the expectation of having Anderson present. A committee of nine was appointed last night, with C. H. Lewis chairman, to notify the surrounding clubs and complete the arrangements. A new club will be formed next week in Dimond.

Almond Crop Largest Valley Has Produced

STOCKTON, July 28.—The almond crop in San Joaquin county and this part of the valley will be the largest ever produced, according to those who have been watching the development of the nuts during the last ten days. There was a windstorm about two weeks ago that whipped some of the young nuts off of the trees and reduced the crop, but the growers declare that the total loss will not affect the yield to any great extent and in some instances kept the trees from being overloaded.

The California Almond Exchange, which was organized recently, is arranging to dispose of the crop throughout this section and the directors expect to secure better prices than at any time in the past. Offers for almonds have already been received, but J. P. Dargitz, the manager of the exchange, says that bids for the various kinds will be called for later.

Each lot will be sold in bulk or all of the crop will be disposed of at once to the highest bidder, the deliveries to be made at intervals or as a whole. About 80 per cent of the growers are in the exchange.

Misfortune Brings Fortune to Seedmen

SAN JOSE, July 28.—The seedmen of California will reap a golden harvest from the misfortunes of Europe this season, according to a statement given out yesterday by Charles P. Braslan, who has just returned from a business trip to Europe, which covered several months. Braslan says that floods and other forms of bad weather have ruined the European seed crops, and that tens of thousands of dollars that might otherwise go to the European seed farms will be spent with California producers this year as a result.

BRYAN NOT BEATEN, HE DECLARES IN STATEMENT

Will Continue the Contest for County Option and the Initiative.

MINNESOTA BOURBONS MEET IN CONVENTION

Chicago Paper Finds More Alleged Attempts to Buy Democratic Votes.

LINCOLN, July 28. — W. J. Bryan will continue the contest for county option and the initiative and referendum. In a statement issued today he says:

"While the failure of the Democratic convention to endorse county option was disappointing, still the fight for county option in the Democratic party has not been in vain. In the first place, it has helped to secure a declaration in favor of the initiative and referendum in both parties, and now that all parties have declared for it there is no doubt of the necessary amendment being submitted at the next session of the Legislature."

DEMOCRATS MEET.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 28. — The Minnesota State Democratic convention was called to order today for the nomination of a full ticket. Congressman W. S. Hammond was temporary chairman.

While there was some uncertainty as to the nominee for Governor, slate makers felt confident, up to the time of the assembling of the convention, that John Lind, former Governor of Minnesota, would be named to head the ticket.

Next to Lind, W. S. Hammond and Mayor J. C. Haynes of Minneapolis are considered as favorites for the nomination for Governor.

"Well, boys, here we are again," said Chairman Day, as he called the convention to order. "A good old fashioned convention without a boss and without a steam roller."

ALLEGED BRIBERY.

CHICAGO, July 28. — The Chicago Tribune today prints a statement that an atetmpt was made previous to the election of William Lorimer as United States Senator to purchase 17 Democratic votes at $2000 a vote to assure the return of the then Senator Albert J. Hopkins. The story follows close on a luncheon where Roger Sullivan, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois and representatives of the Legislative Voters' League fired pointed remarks at each other. On this occasion Mr. Sullivan is quoted as saying:

"Why don't you fellows look into what Albert J. Hopkins was trying to do at Springfield for four months?"

The Tribune declared that $35,000 was collected to buy the needed votes. It was placed in the hands of two little known legislators and the block of votes selected and made ready for delivery.

INDEPENDENTS MEET.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28. — The Independent State convention called to nominate candidates in opposition to the Republican and Democratic State tickets recently placed in the field, met here today, and after forming a temporary organization adjourned after noon.

The convention was called to order by John O. Sheets of Philadelphia, a former State treasurer. Henry C. Niles of New York, former State chairman of the Lincoln party, which placed a State ticket in the field several years ago against the regular Republican ticket was chosen temporary chairman.

Voters Register for Coming Primaries

YREKA, July 28.—The total number of voters who have registered in Siskiyou county for the primary election is 3600, divided as follows: Republicans 1837, Democrats 1327, Socialists 69, Independence League 18, Prohibitionists 21, Union Labor 1. Three hundred and twenty-seven declined to state their political affiliations.

Gets Marriage License; Bride-to-Be Enroute

Thomas McClelland, age 64 years, a retired capitalist, and Agnes Burke, age 66 years, both of Los Angeles, were granted a marriage license this afternoon by County Clerk Cook. McClelland told Deputy Clerk Riley, who issued the permit, that his fiancee, who has been traveling in the north, would join him here today in time to have the nuptial knot tied, and that they would leave by the first train for Los Angeles.

FORTY WOULD-BE CITIZENS.

Superior Judge Waste had forty applications for citizenship before him today for naturalization and he will pass upon as many more applications tomorrow.

VICE-PRESIDENT HAS STRONG VIEWS

Mr. Fairbanks Says Beware of Bankruptcy.

Discussing advertising, Mr. Fairbanks said:

"Does advertising pay? has been the theme of numerous and labored utterances and there are no doubt remote and obscure corners of the country where it is still a vital, living question; but, as a rule, it has become academic and many of the successes we witness in the market place have been achieved by the fullest recognition in practice of the affirmative of the proposition. The best advertiser and the best merchant are synonymous, and the poorest advertiser is usually the one who finds himself in a court of bankruptcy."

"Don't expect patrons to rush into your store in a mob following one advertisement, but educate them to your methods and systems. You are behind the age if you do not advertise in your home papers. I don't see how any merchant can do a profitable business if he does not advertise in his home paper."

There is only one way to advertise to get sure returns, and that is in the newspaper.

Water Front Problem Solved.

Over fifty years of continuous contention and litigation, which has been costly to both the city of Oakland and to the Oakland Water Front Company, growing out of the thirty-seven years' "forever" lease which the Board of Trustees of the infant town of Oakland granted to Horace W. Carpentier in 1852, has been brought to a close. The city happily, through the terms of the lease granted to the Southern Pacific Company, as expressed in an ordinance read for the first time on Monday night, acquired the control of practically all of its water front, because the Southern Pacific Co., as the successor of the Oakland Water Front Company, surrenders all of its claims to the wharfing out rights on the submerged lands between the ordinary low tide line of 1852 and ship-channel on the western and southern water fronts under the Carpentier lease, and to the wharfing out rights acquired east of the north arm of the estuary through the Stratton patent, thereby acknowledging the city's exclusive jurisdiction. The exceptions are few and inconsequential. That the ordinance granting the lease will be finally passed is assured.

As a business proposition it is the best transaction that any administration of Oakland ever consummated. The Western Pacific Railroad Company accepted a fifty-year lease from the city to the frontage it is occupying. Whatever rights the Key Route Railroad Company may have considered it possessed in the water frontage it was claiming has been surrendered by the acceptance of a lease and thereby an acknowledgment of the city's jurisdiction.

The restoration of Oakland's control of its water front is a matter of inestimable value and a subject of popular congratulation, for which the present administration is entitled to unstinted credit. That is, however, a minor matter so far as Oakland's future is concerned, for the definite settlement of the water front controversy foreruns the investment by the lessees of millions of dollars in the improvement of their leaseholds for the benefit of commerce and opens the way for the city to develop the vast inheritance it now possesses absolutely for the same purpose. This assures the future of Oakland as one of the greatest commercial ports in the United States. That the State Legislature at its next session will extend the jurisdiction of Oakland eastward from the north arm of the estuary over every foot of water front on the northern side of Brooklyn basin, the tidal canal and San Leandro bay, which has been annexed to it by the election of last November, may be assumed in advance. That will give the municipality a complete title and absolute control over practically its entire water front and place it in a position where it can improve it for the benefit of commerce and to its own best advantage. Through the wisdom of the administration in the settlement of its water front contention Oakland has been placed on the high road of commercial prosperity.

Since so many allusions have been made to the services rendered the public by Colonel William Kent while he resided in Chicago there is a natural curiosity out here to know just what those services were. There is also some perplexity as to why Colonel Kent's efforts as a political purifier were not more highly appreciated in the Windy City. Colonel Kent can allay a pardonable curiosity by telling the people of California why he suddenly withdrew from his candidacy for Congress some years ago and almost immediately emigrated from Chicago to this State. Why did Colonel Kent so suddenly terminate his political activities in Chicago and drop his Congressional aspirations to come to California? Colonel Kent is reported to have made history in Chicago. Let us have the history, book, chapter and verse—especially the part that deals with Colonel Kent's suddenly abandoned Congressional aspirations in the Illinois metropolis.

His lecture tour having proved a financial failure, Robert E. Peary has canceled his dates and withdrawn from the platform. He is learning that the American people do not approve of his conduct in the controversy over the discovery of the North Pole. They have not forgiven him for the lack of fairness he exhibited and for the mean advantage he took of Dr. Cook in the Arctic. This feeling does not arise from partiality for Cook, but repugnance to meanness and selfish jealousy. Peary showed himself to be animated by anything but the spirit of the chevalier. There is nothing noble or magnanimous about him, and the belief is general that he would have challenged Cook's claim to the discovery of the pole had it been genuine and well-authenticated. It is this belief that has made Peary persona non grata on the lecture platform. There is heroic stuff in him, but there is a big yellow streak in it.

Compulsory arbitration has broken down in Canada the very first time it was subjected to a crucial test. The Grand Trunk trainmen defied it in a body, and the Dominion government has made no move to compel an enforcement of the law. Therefore the statute forbidding strikes and lockouts has become a dead let[illegible] Apparently the government is standing aside while the strikers [illegible] railway company fight out their differences in the old way at[illegible]ed by the disorder and scenes of violence usual in such conflicts. In theory the compulsory arbitration law is a good thing, but as successful application has not been secured it seems of doubtful utility. It has proved futile in the present emergency.

The Ohio Republican platform is a clean-cut, straight declaration of Republican principles and policies. It neither repudiates the party record nor equivocates as to the party's intentions. In short, it is a real Republican platform, not a Democratic or Populistic medley of apologies and contradictions concocted to fit personal ambitions and the morbid vagaries of egotists and demagogues.

Bryan is now free to run for President on the Prohibition ticket. As defeat awaits him no matter on what ticket he runs the Prohibition nomination will serve his turn as well as any other.

Gifford Pinchot should have made sure that Colonel William Kent's cattle fences in Nevada were straight before coming to help mend his political fences in California.

Van Liew has been exonerated, but the Chico Normal School has been dishonored.

How would it do to nominate Bryan and Garfield on the "Down and Out Ticket?"

The steam roller appears to be working beautifully in Ohio.

Potash Trust

Potash is an element of Germany's economic strength comparable to oil and cotton among us. And we eat or wear about one-half of the exported supply after the metabolism of nature has converted the fertilizer into staples. Our agriculture cannot otherwise supply its needs, and the price and the supply are therefore an American as much as a German question. The cablegrams say that our State Department has taken "a very firm" attitude toward Germany.

Thereby hangs a tale. Potash is produced by a trust, and Germany is intervening to maintain the trust's prices. The German potash trust, like other trusts, has troubles of its own from time to time, and when, not long ago, it was in an insecure position Americans made contracts for supplies below those available to Germans themselves. It displeased the Germans to see the equivalent of so much gold leaving the country so cheaply, and means were sought, not to bust the trust, but to strengthen it. Organization is the weapon with which Germany has humbled England in the markets of the world, and now the weapon is addressed against those who know something about industrial organization themselves. The weapon with which Germany is fighting for its potash trust is an export tax. There was no such tax when the Americans made their contract, but they did agree to pay in addition to invoice any government impost.—New York Times.

Timely and Interesting Topics

Uncle Sam ought to be pretty well satisfied with his recent victory in the bleached flour condemnation case. "The Lancet," England's final authority on all things relating to health, unreservedly approves the result and scores millers who whiten flour with nitrous acid. "The slightly creamy color of unbleached flour," says "The Lancet," "is certainly more appetizing than the bluish whiteness of bleached flour, and the loss of odor and taste as a result of bleaching are sufficient objections to the process, even without taking into consideration the probable deleterious action of the nitrites on the system."

"The Oesterreichische Wochenschrift," in a recent number, says: "The foremost citizen of America, Theodore Roosevelt, on his return from Africa, carefully avoided Russia and Roumania because he believed that by going there, breaking bread with the officials and accepting their hospitality he might be supposed to sanction the methods of those governments or to sympathize with the brutalities of their officials. His attitude made the ex-President additionally great."

"Five o'clock in the afternoon is 'quitting time' in Culebra cut," "The Canal Record," published in the Canal Zone, says. "The shovels cease to dig, spoil trains lie up for the night and the men who have been working since 7 o'clock in the morning start up the steep banks for their homes in the villages along the edge of the canal, or gather in little groups to wait for the labor trains. Yet the work does not entirely cease, because 'quitting time' for the six thousand day workers marks the beginning of labor for the four thousand or more men who work in the cut at night."

The experiments made at Chiselhurst, England, with wireless telephone apparatus were the subject of a Paris schoolboy's essay, which his teacher thought worthy of publication in one of the papers of that city. "How much better, the boy says, "to study this mechanical or scientific subject than flying. The ten men who were down in the mine had no difficulty in making themselves heard and understood by the man at the other end of the imaginary line. He was on the top of the mountain two miles away and heard what was said in the mine, and they heard what he answered. The perfected airship will only give us a new way to travel and another way to destroy our enemies, and it will furnish amusement to daring sportsmen; but the wireless telephone in the mines will save lives of men."

The girl students at the University of Jena have published a statement drawn up in a most formal manner to the effect that, having been accused of lack of originality, they wished the public to know that the báretta or cap which was recently adopted by them as a head covering while they remained students was made after original designs and was not copied from caps worn by either English or American students. An instructor of the institution, in referring to the proclamation of originality, said: "This is the first time that the women students have courted publicity, and, true to the sex, it is in a matter of dress and not of learning; not head but 'headdress.'

Twenty Years Ago in Oakland

The bonding ordinance of the city will not come up at the meeting of the city council tonight for the reason that the method of procedure has not yet been determined. In the first place, Mayor Glascock has not been satisfied and before anything can be done it is necessary that he shall be. In order that the ordinance for the issuance of bonds shall go before the people it is necessary that it shall receive the mayor's signature. The general law provides that it shall receive at least two-thirds majority of the council and that it be signed by the mayor. There is no such thing as passing it over the mayor's veto.

He has been found guilty in the police court and will be sentenced tomorrow. This is the first case of the kind which has been prosecuted under the act.

Cleveland Dam, secretary of the board of public works, is getting his voice into trim for the reason that within a couple of days he is to auction off an indefinite number of old articles which have during the past year accumulated in the several departments of the city government. Among the sales that are to be made are those of several horses of the fire and street departments, and Dam is studying up equine pedigrees for the purpose of getting as much as possible for the animals.

Largest Vessel

Within three months the White Star leviathan Olympic, the biggest freight and passenger carrier in the world, will leave the ways at the shipyards of Harland & Wolff at Belfast, Ireland. The Titanic, a sister ship of the Olympic, will be launched a few months later, and both vessels will be in New York and Southampton service in the latter part of 1911.

The Olympic's keel was laid about a year ago, but before a single piece of steel was made for her work was started on the huge gantry which now holds her and her sister, the Titanic.

The shipyards had no facilities for building such large vessels when the contract for them was let, so immediately the huge steel and concrete gantries were built, at a cost of about $1,000,000.

The Olympic's keel at present rests on a concrete base about 25 feet thick, having been built upon spiles driven 100 feet into the ground. She is 860 feet long and will have a gross tonnage of 45,000. The work of construction is carried on by the most up-to-date methods and the riveting is done with hydraulic hammers. The bottom of the giantess is sufficiently high for a small flat car laden with building material to run under her.

The new vessels will not only be the biggest in length, beam and tonnage, but they will have the biggest staterooms, dining saloons and other public rooms of any steamships in the world.

Stories About Places and People

Cornwall, England, is a county of "charms." "The passing of children through holes in the earth, rocks or trees, once an established rite, is still practiced in various parts of Cornwall," wrote Thomas Q. Couch about fifty years ago. "With us, boils are cured by creeping on the hands and knees beneath a bramble which has grown into the soil at both ends. Children afflicted with hernia are still passed through a slit in an ash sapling before sunrise, fasting, after which the slit portions are bound up, and as they unite so the malady is cured. The ash is indeed a tree of many virtues; venomous reptiles are never known to rest under its shadow, and a single blow from an ash stick is instant death to an adder; struck by a bough of any other tree, the reptile is said to retain marks of life until the sun goes down."

Compulsory study of English will prove no great hardship to the pupils of Chinese high schools, for by the time a Chinese boy has learned to write his own language correctly his memory has been so wonderfully developed that the acquisition of another language proves comparatively easy. Without exception, every word in Chinese when uttered is accompanied by its own peculiar intonation, without which the word would be unintelligible. The same monosyllable is often intoned in eight different ways.

WAR TO FOLLOW MOVE ON KOREA

Annexation of Hermit Kingdom to Be Fought by the Natives.

TOKIO, July 28.—The annexation of Korea by Japan, which will probably be accomplished by a great uprising of the Koreans, according to predictions made here, is expected by the middle of August. This information was obtained yesterday from a most authorative source.

Japanese officials have been quietly preparing for the amalgamation of Korea as part of the Japanese empire, and, although they will not discuss the intended move, high officials privately admit that serious trouble will follow the loss of identity by the hermit kingdom.

300 HAWAIIANS READY.

According to dispatches from Hawaii, 300 Koreans, members of the Anti-Japanese League, have left there for Korea to aid a revolt. It is reported that scores of Koreans in the United States and Mexico also are planning to re-enter Korea and have made arrangements to purchase arms and supplies and ship them to the Korean coasts to aid the rebels.

Capitalist Passes Away at 92 Years

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Rudolph Jordan, capitalist and pioneer, died at his home, 2536 Washington street, Tuesday morning, at the age of 92 years. He arrived in San Francisco the 25th of May, 1849. After a short stay in the mining section near Sonora, Tuolumne county, he established a commission business in Stockton, which was later transferred to this city, and he followed mercantile pursuits until the Civil war, when he returned to Europe, where he lived for many years, returning to California in 1875. He took an active interest in the German benevolent institutions of this city. Deceased was born in Hallo on the Salle, Germany, in 1818. His wife, Maria Jordan, died several years ago.

Cleve: Work Is Done in Acts at the Bell Theater

McMahon's Watermelon Girls who are featured at the Bell.

McMahon's Minstrel Maids and Watermelon Girls, the bid headline feature at the Bell theater this week, is one of the best ensemble acts that has yet been presented. The act embraces seven young and pretty girls in two changes of costume and a bevy of new, original and tuneful songs. The first portion of this singing act is a real minstrel first-part in which the tambourines and bones are important features. Solo and chorus work is presented by the company, while in the last part of the act, the girls are seen in a plantation scene, where they execute pretty steps in a regular cotton picking and watermelon atmosphere.

A clever playlet is offered by Harry Spingold and Marie Girard, entitled "The Reveille." Spingold assumes three different and contrasting characters, and these changes of costume are remarkable for lightning like rapidity, as well as for keen differentiation of character.

There is also a pair of dancers, Wood and Weber, who do good work.

Mabel Valentine Mooree has great muscular ability, and is the proud possessor of the title of the "Female Sandow." She has perfect control of every muscle in her body and displays a number of remarkable feats.

ORDERS INDIANS BE BROUGHT BACK

Redmen With Show in Brussels Wish to Return to Their Reservations.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Consul Watts at Bursels having reported to the Bureau of Indian Affairs that the thirty-nine Sioux Indians connected with an American wild west exhibition are dissatisfied and desirous of returning to their homes on the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota, the Indian bureau has cabled instructions that the red men be brought back.

It was recently reported to the bureau that the Indians were stranded, owing to the show's poor season. The manager of the company, however, claimed that he could fulfill his contract obligations with the Indians and that they were willing to remain. The officials asked the American consul to investigate the matter, and their action was determined by his report that the red men wanted to come back.

The payment of their transportation will be made from the funds deposited by the manager of the company to guarantee that the Indians would be taken care of and sent back to their reservation.

Thief Grabs Watch and Makes Escape

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Nicholas Udfolk, a sailor on lightship No. 70, was the victim of a thief, who stole his watch in Reilly's saloon, 152 East street, at 1:30 a. m. today. Udfolk and a stranger had been comparing timepieces when the latter grabbed the sailor's watch and ran from the place. Udfolk and Bartender Frank O. Clark pursued, but could not capture him. He is described as 30 years old, stout build, medium height, and was attired in a green suit.

She has been an inmate of the hospital for the last year. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. F. Reichel, residing at [illegible] Magnolia street.

PREMIER BARRED FROM CONTESTS

Glidden Tour Winner Still in Doubt As a Result of Appeal to Court.

(By J. A. HOULIHAN.)

NEW YORK, July 28.—The contest board of the American Automobile yesterday disqualified H. O. Smith and the Premier Motor Manufacturing Company and declared them ineligible for all contests held under the sanction of the board until further notice. The notice of the board is a direct reply to the temporary injunction obtained by the company last week in the Brooklyn courts restraining the board from delivering the Glidden trophy to the Chalmers Motor Company. The board holds that the Premier Company when it entered the Glidden tour recognized the authority of the board and that its appeal to the courts from the jurisdiction of the board is a distinct breach of the contest rules and is prejudicial to sport.

A referee awarded the Glidden trophy to the Premier car. The Chalmers Company protested to the board and the board sustained the protest, reversing the referee.

ROADS TO LOS ANGELES GOOD.

Good roads abound between here and Los Angeles, according to W. M. Davis of the southern metropolis, who arrived in this city yesterday, after having driven his E-M-F car, carrying a full load, up over the coast route. Fifteen miles north of Hollywood is all plowed up ground, and this may be avoided, says Davis, by taking the San Fernando road out of Los Angeles. Between San Luis Obispo and Paso Robles there is another bad stretch, which puts speed down to about fifteen miles per hour. Davis is accompanied by W. E. Flynn, Mrs. Flynn and their two daughters.

AGENT LEAVES FOR EAST.

W. D. Vance, manager of the Bay Cities Electric Company, left for the east Tuesday on a business trip to the Columbus electric factory.

The demands for Columbus cars during the past season, according to Vance, has been away ahead of expectations. This, coupled with the fact that numerous inquiries are coming in even during the dull season, makes it necessary to arrange for an extra allotment of electrics for the coming year.

The most important change in the Columbia design during the coming year will be the adoption of the Edison battery, which thus far has proven to be a wonderful success, and undoubtedly will revolutionize the electric automobile industry. Mr. Vance further states: "The rapidity with which improvements are being made on electrics is going to place the gasoline car manufacturers on the defensive in so far as town cars are concerned. The Columbus factory now being engaged in bringing out a business runabout model, which it will be impossible to either run down or stall on a hill in the course of a day's work, and one which can be operated for about one-third the cost of a gasoline car doing the same service."

DORRIS AGENT BACK.

D. E. Whitman has just returned from an extended trip up the Sacramento Valley in a Dorris car. While gone he, accompanied by J. F. Campbell and J. H. Graham, made a record for the Colusa to Chico run. The 45.6 miles were covered in 1 hour and 15 minutes. Twenty-five miles of this run lies up the river bottom and winds in sharp curves around the levees. In consideration of these conditions the record made is looked upon as a sensational performance.

NOBLE SERVICE BY GOODYEAR.

The W. D. Newerf Rubber Company has just received an old Goodyear detachable casing which came as part of the original equipment of a 1906 Buick, and which has been doing service ever since until the other day, when it was badly cut by a piece of broken bottle. Frank P. Lansing, who owns the Buick, states that the mileage made by the tire exceeds 27,500 miles, and in that time it gave practically no trouble.

CHALMERS OWNER ON TRIP.

G. E. Jamison, a prominent merchant and business man of Ukiah, has just passed through town on the return from an extensive trip in his Chalmers "40." Jamison left Ukiah two weeks ago and made the trip via Sacramento and Placerville to Carson City and thence to Reno. Then he came back by Truckee to Lake Tallac and stopped for three days at Lake Tahoe tavern. He stated to W. H. Wright, local manager of the Pioneer Automobile Company, that he had found the trip a most delightful one, the car giving perfect satisfaction all the way.

The long, steep grades encountered throughout this mountainous section were all taken with little effort.

FORD RELIABILITY AGAIN DEMONSTRATED.

In the six-day reliability run for the Sentinel cup the Ford again demonstrated its ability to take as hard going on a continuous run as any machine made, irrespective of size. The little Ford driven by Biener finished a full three hours ahead of time and the technical examination at the end of the run found it in absolutely perfect condition. This puts the car on a par with the best in the contest, including $450 machines. Throughout the run the Ford demonstrated superiority over all contestants in respect to tire wear. No change of tires was made by this car nor was air once put in.

POPE-HARTFORD REPORTS DELIVERIES.

The Oakland branch of the Consolidated Motor Car Company reports the following sales during the last few days: To Peter Burdenick of Oakland, a five-passenger Pope-Hartford touring car finished in Brewster green. John C. Rohan, also of this city, has placed his order for a 1911 Fore door 60 horsepower, five-passenger, full equipped Pope-Hartford touring car.

WARRENS COMING IN CARLOADS.

The Western Pacific Motor Car Company, Northern California Warren Detroit distributors, unloaded two more carloads of this popular make car. Among the models received was the Warren roadster, one of the nobbiest car of its type which have come to town. It is of the racy type, with the combination oil and gasoline tank attached to the rear of the seats. The chassis is the same as that of the demi-tonneau, which has previously been described in these columns. Seven more carloads will arrive at intervals during the next few days.

Wanted His Sentence Sent by Telephone

TRINIDAD, Colo., July 28.—As a first aid to tardy justice the telephone was not a success in the opinion of Samuel Chullo. Chullo, who lives near Elmore, engaged in a fight with his neighbor, Ignacio Maniscolco, Tuesday night. Immediately after the encounter Chullo called up District Attorney Clark by telephone and insisted on pleading guilty to a charge of assault and battery, and requested that the amount of his fine be made known so that he could mail in a check.

The district attorney told him no case was pending and went back to bed. Yesterday morning Chullo was on hand early and again begged leave to plead guilty. When again told there was no case against him, Chullo was about to return home disgusted when Maniscolco appeared and filed a complaint. Immediately Chullo was arrested and the case was set for hearing next Saturday. Thoroughly disgruntled, Chullo then gave bonds and returned home.

Policeman Aiding Patient Injured

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Policeman William Fennessy received an injury to his hand early this morning while removing a man to the Central Emergency hospital.

James J. Costello, 2014 A street, fell against the bar in the saloon at Third and Folsom streets, receiving a fracture of the nose. Fennessy was aiding him to the ambulance when his hand was hurt. The officer then joined the party to the hospital, where his injury was dressed.

WANTS TO WASH IN ENEMY'S BLOOD

San Francisco Liquor Merchant Receives Note Seeking Satisfaction.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—The great stadium at Golden Gate Park as the arena for the settlement of a debt of honor, for the drawing of a jot of blood from the body of an enemy at the sword point and for reviving the ancient custom of dueling to the death was suggested by a grewsome note received by C. W. Craig, a Battery street liquor merchant, yesterday.

"I will not sign my name, but simply want to wash my hands and my honor in your blood," is the pith of the message.

It is all said to be the result of a dispute between Craig and A. Carpentier of Balfour, Guthrie & Co., although the latter denies having sent the challenge and affirms that he had nothing to do with it. Craig admits that there has been trouble and that epithets have been hurled back and forth. He spoke of duels, horse pistols, gatling guns and swords, and war seems in the atmosphere in the commercial section.

Trouble over the shipment of some goods is believed to be at the bottom of the affair.

OAKLAND DRUGGIST DEAD IN THE EAST

Abraham Dibert Passes Away After Illness at Home of Daughter.

After an illness of several months, Abraham Charles Dibert, a druggist of Oakland, passed away yesterday in Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

At the time of his death he was visiting at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. P. Reese, where he had gone in the hope that his health would improve.

He had been in business in Oakland for the past fifteen years, up to the time of his death being associated in the drug business with his sons in Oakland, Fresno, Vallejo and Palo Alto.

He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Mary Dibert, a daughter, Mrs. W. P. Reese, and four sons, Attorneys Phillip C. Dibert and Jesse L. Dibert of Oakland, and Arthur J. Dibert of Fresno and John E. Dibert of Vallejo. The deceased was 65 years of age and a native of Pennsylvania.

Passengers Taken Off Stranded Ship

PORTLAND, July 28.—Passengers of the steamer Beaver, which stranded on the lower Columbia River yesterday just after a collision with the British steamer St. Nicholas had been narrowly averted in the fog, started for Portland early today.

The Beaver is still hard and fast in the Desdemona sands. An effort was made at high tide last night to pull her into deep water by the tug Oneonta, but the ship could not be budged.

PARENTS QUARREL; BABE LEFT ALONE

Domestic Woes of Amestys Brought to Light by Infant Cries.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Kicking up its little heels in a paroxysm of anger, followed by violent sobs of grief and loneliness, the little 7 months' old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Amesty of 16 Twenty-eighth street was left alone in the big dark house for eight hours last night.

No loving mother came to tuck it warmly in its little bed and to coo and croon to it as it became restless during the night, and but for the strength of his lungs the infant might have remained longer unattended.

It all came as the result of a family quarrel in the Amesty household yesterday, which plunged the wife and mother into hysterics and was responsible for sending her to the central emergency hospital.

LEAVES THE HOUSE.

Just what caused the upheaval in the domestic quietude of the home has not been revealed, but after a wordy war Amesty, who is a plasterer, took the baby and left the house, leaving the mother with the two older children, Aileen, aged 7, and Isabella, aged 11. The wife, Mrs. Catherine Amesty, was so overcome by the ordeal that she went into fits of hysteria, and the police took her to the central emergency hospital, sending the girls to the detention home for the night.

According to the police investigation the father returned about midnight, and finding the dwelling deserted, left the infant alone and took his departure for regions unknown.

POLICE FIND BABY.

The attention of Policeman Weller was called to the plight of the infant at 8 o'clock this morning, and he carried it to the hospital, where it brought joy to the heart of the mother, who immediately began to recover her composure.

"I don't know what is the matter with Edward," said Mrs. Amesty this morning, "and I haven't any idea where he can be. It's all too terrible, this trouble, and I don't know whether it can be patched up or not."

Neighbors believe that a reconciliation will be effected.

Accused Postoffice Clerk Under Arrest

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Chief Police Inspector Hall received information today that Fred C. McMullin, a clerk of the Fresno postoffice, is under arrest in Portland, Oregon, on a charge of rifling registered mail. McMullin was on his vacation at the time of his arrest. According to the local postoffice inspectors he is wanted in Fresno on a charge of stealing several dollars from the registered mail of that office.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The State Department announced today that Minister Moffatt, American consul at Bluefields, "reports that the Estrada faction is now in control of all points on the east coast of Nicaragua with the exception of San Juan del Norte, Bluefields Bluff and Cape Gracias."

TO STAY IN JAIL UNTIL HIS TRIAL

Unable to Furnish Bail, Arthur Wilson Must Live Behind the Bars.

Pending the trial of his case on the 17th day of August in the criminal department of the Superior Court, Arthur W. Wilson, a carpenter, charged with failing to provide for his 5-year-old child, will occupy a cell in the county jail in default of a $3000 bond.

Wilson was arrested about two weeks ago on complaint of Emma Wilson of 770 Sixth street, from whom he is divorced, and when haled before Judge Everett J. Brown by the District Attorney's office furnished a bond in the sum of $500, with his mother and Reuben Wiand as sureties.

When the case was called Tuesday morning Wilson put in an appearance and asked for a continuance until yesterday afternoon. It was granted, but when Judge Brown called the case yesterday the carpenter did not show up. The court issued a bench warrant for the delinquent and he was arrested last evening by a deputy sheriff and locked up in the county jail.

This was the status of the case today when Judge Brown came to it. After setting the matter for trial the court revoked the $500 bond and increased the bail to $3000, which Wilson said he was unable to furnish.

"Then you will await trial in the county jail," said the judge.

OBJECT TO WIFE HAVING AFFINITY

Matt Ryan Creates Trouble on Finding Kitty Eating Noodles.

Matthew Ryan, bartender of 54 San Pablo avenue, had been drinking last night, and when he found his wife, from whom he is not legally separated, eating noodles in a Chinese restaurant with an affinity his naturally amiable disposition became somewhat soured. He raised a disturbance which resulted in the wife applying for protection, and having him arrested for disturbing the peace. The officers, Kohler and Special Policeman Shell, found a large revolver on his person and he was booked at the police station on two charges instead of only one.

Neither Ryan nor his wife nor the affinity appeared in court this morning, and it is understood that the bail on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon will be forfeited.

Ryan and his wife, Kittie Ryan, have been separated for some time, but no divorce has been applied for. Mrs. Ryan has refused to prosecute and the charge of disturbing the peace will be dropped.

FACES CHARGE OF DEFRAUDING HOTEL

Man Arrested in San Bernardino Taken to San Diego for Trial.

SAN DIEGO, July 28.—Facing charges of defrauding Hotel del Coronado, a hotel at San Luis Rey and a hotel at San Bernardino out of his board bill, F. C. Baxter, about 30 years old, is in jail here awaiting hearing.

In addition the sheriff of this county says he is wanted at Schenectady, N. Y., on a charge of forgery.

Baxter, it is claimed, has operated among the hotels of the United States under many aliases, three of them being C. E. Ray, Frank Raymond and Fred Arbacher. When he left the hotel at Coronado it is charged he took a quantity of silverware with him.

In San Bernardino he claimed to be a hotel detective on the trail of hotel crooks. When he was arrested there the silver stolen from Coronado is said to have been found in his grip, but he is said to have disposed of it on the way back to San Diego.

One or two clothing stores in this city also have accounts against Baxter.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BOOSTS HOME INDUSTRY

Manufacturers and Producers Committee Would Make Building in Oakland Essentially a Local Proposition

With the interests of Oakland at heart, the manufacturers' and producers' committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce last night discussed a proposition of permitting local contractors to bid on all buildings to be erected in this city, with the idea of encouraging manufacturers and producers of the bay region. They declared that they would recommend to the Chamber of Commerce that a secretary to A. A. Denison be employed to receive information as to who is now obtaining contracts on the buildings and if they are allowed to go out of this city they will ascertain the reason why.

This sentiment grew out of the fact that the board of public works in San Francisco, in their specifications, say local work shall be done by citizens of the United States and of San Francisco.

SUGGESTS CLAUSE.

J. D. Parsons, one of the members of the manufacturers' and producers' committee, suggested that the above clause be put in the specifications for all Oakland work, saying that it might be used to advantage with prospective bidders, contractors, owners, architects and private work.

In a letter addressed to the committee, Parsons said:

"I think this chamber should render some assistance to the secretary by giving him a competent man as commissioner to keep thoroughly posted on all city work, private work, government work of all kinds, including the canal commission, Indian reservation supplies and quartermaster's department, Southern Pacific Company's work, Western Pacific Company's, Santa Fe, Oakland Traction, all power companies, all telephone and telegraph companies, and, in fact, any corporation who takes bids on their supplies and work.

IN FORM OF REQUEST.

"This man could get all of this information in a form of request for bids on labor and material and have it on file in the Chamber of Commerce and let it be known that the Chamber of Commerce has this information for its members. All country architects should be requested to send their plans and specifications to the Builders' Exchange of Oakland for bids.

"Now that the agitation is started on this home industry proposition, it should not be allowed to die out."

Carl Reuter, secretary of the committee, recommended that a body be organized to investigate and procure information as to who is getting the work and to do some team work in this matter of calling on architects.

WHO IS DOING WORK.

He said that the only thing that will move them is to have a number of men learn what is being done and who is doing it. H. P. Brown, who acted as chairman of the evening, was heartily in accord with the ideas of Mr. Parsons and said that Denison should have an assistant to gather information about the contracts and keep all the work here if possible.

C. H. Matheny of the Oakland Sash and Door Company sent the following communication to the Chamber of Commerce with regard to rates to Northwestern Pacific points.

"We are doing quite a local freight business on the Northwestern Pacific railroad from Tiburon to Ukiah, but in almost every case we have had to equalize the freight rate with San Francisco (Santa Rosa being the only point to which we have an equal rate).

CLAIMS DISADVANTAGE.

"We have just received notice from one of our customers at Healdsburg stating that he was deducting from our invoice the freight from Oakland to Tiburon (San Francisco is now enjoying the same rate to Northwestern Pacific points as Tiburon).

"We might also state that the Southern Pacific Company has put a boat from San Francisco to Tiburon and is sending almost everything to Northwestern Pacific points, via Tiburon.

"It seems to us that if we are placed to such a disadvantage at points on the Northwestern Pacific that our San Francisco competitors should pay the additional rate from San Francisco to Oakland, on all shipments to points on this side of the bay, i. e., Port Costa, Martinez, Bay Point, Antioch, Niles, Livermore, Tracy and Stockton."

The letter was referred to the executive committee for action.

TO POST DELIVERY.

E. H. Marwedel made a suggestion that the hours for the delivery of mail be posted in all the sub-stations of this city and offices so that the merchants may learn of the exact time that deliveries are made and that they may receive and send their correspondence with more dispatch. A. A. Denison conferred with R. J. Faneuf, superintendent of mails, with regard to recent delays in the mail between Oakland and Portland and vice versa and stated that matters would soon adjust themselves and that there was absolutely no excuse for the delay of three days which Denison spoke about. There are ten mails a day between San Francisco and Oakland, and that fact will be given publicity by posting notices in the stations.

Among those who took part in the proceedings last evening were M. H. Ramsay, H. G. Ramsay, Messrs. Bull, Jackson, Irving, Marwedel, Johnson, Wardell, Zuver, Denison, Brown, Reuter, Parsons, Sadler and Murray.

SAVED CHILD BY STOPPING HORSE

A. Merritt Dragged by Frantic Horse; Drives Rig Into Telegraph Pole.

BERKELEY, July 28.—Dragged a block by a runaway horse, A. Merritt, proprietor of the California Livery Stable, 2065 Allston way, saved eight-year-old Helen Roush from death or serious injury last evening. The child was alone in the buggy, which was being drawn up Allston way by a madly galloping horse, when Merritt rushed out and caught the animal by the bit as it passed him at Allston and McKinley avenues. After being dragged a block he succeeded in driving the rig into a telephone pole at the corner of Grove street and bringing the animal to a halt.

Helen is the daughter of H. Roush of 1737 Allston way, local agent for the Panama Tea Company. Roush had left his rig standing in front of the residence while he went into the house after a package he had forgotten. During his absence his little daughter climbed on to the seat. The horse, which had been trained to start the moment it felt a weight on the buggy step, commenced a brisk walk. The child became frightened and screamed, startling the horse into a gallop.

REINS DROP.

The reins dropped about the animal's feet and added to its fright. Attracted by the child's cries, a number of residents along Allston way dashed out and attempted to stop the runaway, the only effect being to urge the horse into greater speed.

Noticing the approach of the runaway, Merritt rushed out into the street and grabbed the bit as the horse dashed by him. He was dragged along for several hundred feet. Just before reaching Grove street he saw that a street-car was approaching on that thoroughfare and that a collision was almost inevitable. Putting forth all his strength, he succeeded in forcing the horse toward the curb, jamming the wheels of the buggy against a telephone pole.

Merritt was severely bruised about the hands and arms by his contact with the pole. The shafts of the buggy were smashed and the telephone pole splintered.

"Gambling Debt" Case Is Finally Settled

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—By a stipulation filed in the Superior Court today a judgment in favor of the plaintiff was allowed without further contest in the dice gambling debt case of E. W. Bramson against Walter Magee of San Francisco. The action was based on a note for $320 given June 5, 1908, by Magee to Sig Cohen, who had assigned it to Bramson for collection. Young Magee put up the defense that the money had been lost by his throwing dice with Cohen and that as a gambling debt the note was uncollectable.

Thereupon an effort was made to attach the money belonging to Magee in the custody of the Southern Trust Company, but this failed because the cash had been deposited by E. E. Hewlett of San Francisco to Magee's credit with the proviso that it be paid to the latter at the rate of $8 a day until used up. Bramson was persistent, and Magee opened negotiations with him for a final settlement.

HELPFUL HINTS ON HAIR HEALTH

Scalp and Hair Troubles Are Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody else's hat. Many a hatband is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair trouble, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicle, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Oakland only at our stores. The Owl Drug Co. Inc., 10th and Washington, 13th and Broadway, 16th and San Pablo.

Electric Wire Eats Way Through Large Steel Bridge Girder

NEW YORK, July 28.—A serious menace to the safety of the Brooklyn bridge and the other big East river bridges here has been called to the attention of the city's engineers by a fire which started on the Brooklyn bridge last night from an exposed electric feed wire.

The high power current carried by the wire ate its way in a few moments through a 14-inch steel girder, melting portions of the metal for ten feet of its length.

According to the engineers, a similar occurrence might at any time sever or weaken giant strands which sustain the spans of the structure, causing a disaster of huge proportions.

There were no serious consequences from last night's blaze, which was promptly extinguished.

Woman Takes Shot at Her ex-Husband When He Calls.

When D A Easterbrook an employe of the Oakland Traction company who made an excursion into the troubled waters of matrimony some ten months ago from which he emerged with divorce clearance papers after a seven months cruise went to parley Tuesday night with the lady over matters financial he had a shot taken at him which resulted in his hasty departure The garden gate near which he stood was peppered in an ornamental manner with buckshot Easterbrook escaping through the inexpertness of the former partner of his joys and sorrows in the gentle art of gunnery

Although Easterbrook made a contract with his wife when they parted company that she should steer for herself in future and rely on him neither for ammunition nor provisions he claims that out of the kindness of his heart he gave her a sufficient supply of hardtack to last her a long voyage Not long ago he was surprised to find that his wages had been attached and in the name of a new pirate consort with whom his wife had taken refuge in Elmhurst

SHOTGUN ARGUMENT

Much incensed at this treatment he visited Elmhurst to clear the matter up only to have the porthole opened and a shotgun presented with orders to clear out He deferred further negotiations until he discovered that the wages had been duly collected Enraged at this he made another attempt Tuesday night he rapped gently at the door of the lady's cabin when the small arms were again brought into play and the command to march followed by a broadside Easterbrook made haste to depart and has applied to the authorities for advice and charts for his next voyage of discovery

Fritz Kreisler's four solos prove him a master of the violin

These four numbers exhibit well the marvelous versatility of this artist who has truly been proclaimed one of the few really great masters of the violin.

At the age of ten Kreisler won first prize at the Vienna Conservatory, and in his twelfth year astonished the professors at the Conservatoire in Paris by winning the Prix de Rome, an unprecedented occurrence As a boy prodigy he toured America, then returned to Germany to serve his time in the army. During those four years he abandoned violin practice entirely, but on his reappearance in 1899 his bow was as true and his technique as flawless as ever Since then he has made six American tours, his present tour being literally a series of triumphs.

STUDENTS REVIVE DANCES OF DAYS LONG PAST

Graceful Men and Women Trip Through Series of Old World Movements.

SWEDISH WEAVING TOLD IN THE FIGURES

Looping of Threads and Plying of the Shuttle Are Portrayed.

BERKELEY, July 28.—Gracefully weaving in intricate figures, swaying to the rhythm of simple time and tripping to the light measures of the dance, half a hundred students of the summer session of the University gave an exhibition of folk dances last evening in the basketball court at Hearst Hall before a thousand spectators. Clad in German peasant costume, the men wore knickerbockers and the women were dressed in short skirts that the twinkling feet might be watched in the complex steps of the more elaborate movements.

With the dimly lighted boughs of eucalyptus and cypress arching in a canopy overhead, the court aglow with many incandescent lamps and all with the flashing and changing play of the multi-colored costumes presented a pretty spectacle. With perfect precision, the result of patient and continued practice, the dancers executed the complicated twistings and turnings of many an old world dance.

SWEDISH WEAVING DANCE

The dances that brought forth the most hearty applause were the Highland Schottische and the Swedish Weaving Dance. The former was given with the true vigor and dash of the Scotch lads and lassies with the proper degree of free abandon. The weaving dance was a long and interesting series of movements portraying the various processes of the weaver's art, the looping of the threads, the plying of the shuttle forward and back through the warp of the cloth, the winding of the skein and the untangling of the knots.

The dancers were trained by Mrs. Marion R. Morgan, assistant to Dr. C. Beach in the playground course. Mrs. Morgan has had six years experience in work of this character, gaining her skill in continued work in New York, New Jersey and Los Angeles.

The following is the program of the dances, each movement being preceded by a national air of the country played by the orchestra:

Assistance Is Pledged to Library Supervisor

HAYWARD, July 28.—Announcement has been made by the County Board of Supervisors that aid will be given to the county supervisor of libraries, Miss Margaret Eddy, in the extension and development of the libraries of this county. Though a law passed at the last legislature this place with a number of other towns of this county is entitled to receive the privileges from the county.

Miss Eddy, who recently appeared before the board of supervisors, estimated that $11,500 would be needed for the work of extension. She hopes to bring other than incorporated towns into the field, as the state law does not provide for these.

ALASKAN CENSUS TAKERS BATTLED WITH BLIZZARDS

Hardships Experienced in Far North by Population Counters Told in Vivid Report to U. S. Department at Capital

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Temperature from 30 to 70 degrees below zero. Snow from three to twenty feet deep. Wind blowing a blizzard most of the time. No human habitation in sight, no covering at night except a tent, and no "grub" that was not many times frozen. These are some of the conditions under which the recent census was taken in the interior of Alaska.

The report of Chief Special Agent McKenzie covering the work in the Fourth or inland district of the territory has just been received by Director Durand, and while the story is simply told it is a wonderful thrilling narrative of adventure, showing that when Uncle Sam starts out to round up his children he spares no expense to locate them and satisfy himself as to their status.

ADVANCE OF FIGURES

Mr. McKenzie's narrative, made public tonight, comes in advance of his figures, so that it is impossible to give the population of the country covered by him and his twenty assistants. For reasons of its own the census bureau determined to number the Alaskans during midwinter.

Mr. McKenzie made his headquarters at the mining town of Fairbanks. His first special agent was appointed on the 10th of last November and the work was completed by the 11th of last April, when McKenzie left for the states. His experience in getting out of the country was by no means as thrilling as some of his experience while engaged in the work, but it was stirring enough to arouse interest in a warm spell. Of it he says:

DELAYED BY BLIZZARD

I came out on the mail coach, arriving at Valdez on the 20th, after a varied experience consisting of being delayed two days by a blizzard, crossing rushing streams even when the horses had to swim and the sleds float, and traveling day and night with the thermometer often as low as 40 below zero.

The bureau's principal reason for a winter census is found in the fact that getting about the country is much easier at that than at any other season. There are no bridges in the country, and so crossing the streams when not frozen over is a serious problem. Mr. McKenzie says that to have made the enumeration in the summer would have required the services of four times as many assistants, while the cost would have been six times as great. He also expressed doubt as to whether the result would have been as satisfactory as it is. He is of the opinion that it is accurate and complete.

HARDSHIP INVOLVED

Much hardship was necessarily involved in the work. Only men inured to the rigors of the Arctic climate were employed, and while they suffered severely none of them lost their lives. Summing up the conditions, Mr. McKenzie says:

The work was performed during the severest winter known in this part of Alaska by the oldest settlers, and the men kept constantly and conscientiously at it until completed. There did not appear to be a man who did not take a pride in the work and an anxiety to create a record for traveling time, a desire to enumerate all the people in his district and to have to his credit less loss of time because of extreme weather than any of the other agents.

That the service lost none of the men from freezing to death and that every man returned safe is a matter of congratulation and good fortune.

There were more deaths from the weather in this section during the past winter than in all of the other years in total—cases too in which those who met such deaths did not begin to go through the sacrifice and privation that those agents of the service did. All of the men covered hundreds of miles over the ice and snow in weather ranging from thirty to seventy degrees below zero, the average being about 40 below.

The experience of the agent in Chandler district is a fair example. Speaking of him the chief agent says:

He was not a scholar, but a man who had lived there for years and well fitted to undergo the privations necessary. That his good qualities were put to the severest test the report shows.

SEVERE WEATHER

Severe weather was encountered throughout all of his work, says McKenzie, and at no time after he left Fairbanks until he returned did the thermometer get above 30 degrees below zero. His long journey away from the base of supplies made it impossible for him to carry sufficient grub and dog feed and he was obliged to live off of the country, killing moose, mountain sheep and other fresh meat.

During the work he lost two of his dogs from freezing to death. He himself froze portions of his face several times and at one time dropped into 6 feet of open water, almost losing his life. In crossing the Arctic range and returning he traveled above timber line eighteen hours in each direction, which in a country where fire is necessary can be understood to be a considerable sacrifice. He traveled in many places where no white man had ever been before and his record is considered unusual, to say the least.

NOT A PICNIC

That the Koyukuk is no snow—it was no Fourth of July picnic with strawberry lemonade on the side is indicated by the following extract from the official narrative:

In this district there is almost an incessant snow storm from October to May and trails are obliterated in twenty-four hours. Few men except the mail carriers will travel in this district in the winter and even they make but one trip a month.

Twice he almost lost his life and had he not been accompanied by an Indian guide probably would have. At one time he and the guide and a mail carrier and two Indians were lost in the storm for three days and were found at the end of that time by a rescue party which came out to locate the mail.

Of the Tanana man we are told:

Not less than four times was this man found by other travelers in an exhausted condition and assisted to a stopping place. He lost three dogs and several times froze his face. That he survived the work and came back alive was the wonder of the old inhabitants of the country. Half a dozen men refused the job before he was obtained. Six men and two women were frozen on the trails in the vicinity in which he worked.

TRAVEL ON SLEDS

All the traveling was done on dog sled, from seven to nine animals being used with each sled. The agents were paid $9 a day and extra for the use of their vehicles. Generally it was necessary for two men to go together so that in case of accident to one the other could proceed with the labor, for the census must be taken whatever the cost of life or money.

Special pains were taken to find every resident and we are told that each cabin was visited unless to reach it would cost more than two days of time. In such exceptional instances the facts were recorded from reports. Trails were unbroken throughout the vast territory covered and the enumerator or his companion found it necessary constantly to walk ahead of the team on snowshoe.

Summing up his report, Mr. McKenzie says:

SEVENTY-TWO BELOW

This constitutes a resume of the work performed during the period from August 11, in which I crossed from the United States and went up into the interior of Alaska, experienced weather conditions the extreme of which was 72 degrees below zero, and during which time in the course of the work it was necessary several times to camp in the open where the couch consisted of the snow and a few spruce boughs and the roof a tent or the sky. During the months of December and January the sun shone from one to two hours per day.

Churches and school houses in the interior of Alaska are few and far between. Necessarily they are confined to the towns and Indian settlements. Most of the Indian schools as well as the church services are conducted by the missionaries.

EDUCATION HOME-MADE

The white people do not attend either the Indian schools or the Indian churches, so that those of the outlying district get their religion and their education at home. In the matter of education Mr. McKenzie reports that the home system works very well, the long nights of the winter causing an enforced confinement of children that is conducive to study. He says that many of them do even better than students in the schools.

Mr. McKenzie also reports that there is very little sickness among the white inhabitants of Alaska and he says that few of those who are sick will acknowledge the fact. There is no fever but some pneumonia. Most of the Indians are afflicted with tuberculosis and other diseases of civilization are prevalent.

GRAND OFFICERS TO VISIT CHAPTER

Members Prepare Entertainments in Honor of Distinguished Visitors.

SAN LEANDRO, July 28.—Golden Wave Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star will receive an official visit August 5 from the grand officers of the Grand Chapter of California. Preparations for their entertainment upon this occasion are now being made by the members of the local chapter. The following committee has been appointed to take charge of the arrangements for the entertainment of the visiting officials:

Mrs. Miller (chairman), Mrs. Black, Mrs. Hopper, Mrs. Logan, Miss Comstock, J. N. Frank and F. H. W. Helm.

The officers of the local chapter are: Dorothea Helms, worthy matron; Oscar J. Lynch, worthy patron; Bertha Clayton, associate matron; Kate Cunningham, secretary; Lucy C. Walrath, treasurer; Myrtle Pelton, conductress; Johanna Lindeman, associate conductress; Sophie Jorgensen, Adah; Mary Burroughs, Ruth; Hattie Mills, Esther; Mable Coleman, Martha; Cecilia Burroughs, Electa; Cuica Howell, warden; H. F. W. Helms, sentinel; D. P. Jeffelmier, chaplain; Laura Knaugh, marshal, and Ida Fisher, organist.

WARD SYSTEM FOR HAYWARD

The Residents Object to Being Made School District by Itself.

HAYWARD, July 28.—A petition has been filed by the board of school trustees of Hayward district with the Board of Supervisors requesting that the ward school system be adopted in this district. The petition sets forth the economy of such a system to the people and to the school children. It is signed by Peter J. Crosby, A. B. Peterson and F. Lemos.

If the petition is favorably acted upon by the supervisors it will mean that Fairview will be brought into this district and not be made one of itself, as was first intended. The people of this district and of Fairview are unanimous in their opposition to the plan of having two districts.

If Fairview is brought into the Hayward district it is the intention of the school trustees to construct a new school where a specialty of agricultural and horticultural training will be made. This, when completed, along with the grammar and high schools in this district will fully round out the Hayward educational system.

ENCINAL TAX RATE UNDER ADVISEMENT

Council President Revising Budgets of Municipal Departments.

ALAMEDA, July 28.—Council President F. B. Bullock, chairman of the finance committee of the council, is putting in all his spare time revising the estimates furnished the council by the various municipal heads of departments.

When the chairman of the finance committee submits his data a complete report on what pruning is necessary to bring the total amount authorized to a sum where a tax rate of $1.20 will raise the required money.

As originally submitted the estimates made up the formidable total of $[illegible]5,000 in round numbers. A $1.20 rate on the $18,000,000 assessed valuation will yield but $223,000. It is about determined that the rate will not exceed $1.20 and this means that the $3[illegible]5,000 will be slashed and pruned until it loses its original appearance and shrinks down to the lesser figure.

Discussing the work on the estimates, the council president stated that he had to consider several matters which were not in the city auditor's figures. Some provisions must be made for these outside matters and it will require considerable figuring to provide for the necessary needs of the departments and cut out what is considered by the council unnecessary. President Bullock is holding nightly conferences with the different department heads, going over the estimates and obtaining additional information bearing upon them. The result of his work will be incorporated in the finance committee's report to be made to the committee of the whole in the near future.

STORK MAKES VISIT TO BOYNTON HOME

The Family of Nature Lover Receives Congratulations on New Arrival.

ALAMEDA, July 28.—The stork made its sixth call at the C. C. Boynton home this morning and left a baby boy weighing 11¼ pounds. The father and mother are rejoicing over the advent of the new baby.

Mrs. C. C. Boynton is known in the bay cities as the advocate of the art of Isadora Duncan and of all nature methods. Gowned in loose flowing robes and sandals and accompanied by her five children scantily clad to derive the benefits of nature and air, Mrs. Boynton is a familiar figure on the streets of the bay cities and attracts considerable attention by her mode of attire and that of her children. The latter are five of the most healthy specimens of youth that can be seen in any part of the country, and Mrs. Boynton attributes their vigor and strength to the fact that they have been raised out of doors and on a vegetable diet.

Mrs. Boynton has appeared before the Board of Education on numerous occasions recently to advocate the open air school, which she asserts would make the coming generation a different race.

Boynton is an attorney with offices in San Francisco. The family lives at 2[illegible]3 Santa Clara avenue.

The latest addition to the ranks of the family was born in an arbor in the yard.

'AFFINITY' ACCUSED OF USING WEAPON

Hubby Charges Metzner With Assault With a Deadly Weapon.

ALAMEDA, July 28.—Following his cross complaint filed in the superior court yesterday charging his wife with having an affinity by the name of John Metzner and denying her charges of extreme cruelty set forth in her complaint, J. P. Nelson today swore to a warrant for the arrest of Metzner on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon. A sling shot figures as the deadly weapon in the case and Nelson is exhibiting a scarred face as the result of a rock which he says was shot at him through the sling shot manipulated by the alleged consort of his wife.

Judge R. B. Tappan issued the warrant for Metzner's arrest and the police are trying to locate the accused today.

Summoning the police over the phone Sunday night, Metzner complained that Nelson had attacked him with a knife, the latter denying the charge and at the same time accusing Metzner of breaking up his home. Metzner has been a boarder in the Nelson home at 745 Lincoln avenue for a year and Nelson claims that when he is away the boarder takes his wife to the theater and occupies a room adjoining hers in the house. Nelson is a seafaring man.

CALL PLANS FOR ALAMEDA SCHOOL

The Specifications Provide for 550,000 Cubic Feet in Brick Building.

ALAMEDA, July 28.—Specifications for an architects' competition for plans for the Washington school, which is to be erected by the school department at Eighth street and Santa Clara avenue, were drawn up by the board of education in special session last night and will be advertised within the next few days. The specifications do not call for any special style of architecture, but provide for a 12-room brick building and assembly hall with a seating capacity of 500. The building will comprise a manual training room, domestic science room, library, laboratory and offices besides the class rooms. Among the other features will be a vacuum cleaning plant, a modern system of heating and ventilation and furnaces. The structure will face on Eighth street.

In order to insure the erection of the building for $60,000 the plans provide that there shall be no more than 550,000 cubic feet in the structure. All of the plans recently submitted by architects for the school were too large, the board of education failing to stipulate on the number of cubic feet in the building. The rejection of these plans made the framing of new specifications necessary.

The structure will be so erected that each class room will be given the sunlight during a portion of the day. Miss Grace McDonnell was appointed a regular teacher by the board of education last night. Miss McDonnell has been substituting for a year.

HAYWARD TO ASK FOR BOULEVARD

Monday Set As Date for Conference of Committee and County Supervisors.

HAYWARD, July 28.—A committee representing the board of trustees of Hayward and also residents of B street have been notified by Mayor Heyer that next Monday morning has been set as the time for the meeting with the supervisors in the matter of having the Livermore boulevard extended through this place instead of by way of Castro valley, as is now planned.

At the last meeting of the board of trustees a petition was presented signed by the large majority of the property owners on B street signifying their willingness to stand the expense of the improvement of this street from the library to its terminus, providing the trustees could induce the board of supervisors to use this street for the new boulevard. Considerable interest in the proposed boulevard, which is to go by way of Dublin canyon and Livermore, has been aroused, as it is the popular sentiment that if this place is cut off of the route by a supposed short cut it will mean a great financial loss to the community. The result of the conference with the board of supervisors on Monday is looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

Following the installation exercises W. H. Epply was elected for noble grand and T. F. Stevenson was elected for vice grand. A large delegation from the surrounding lodges of the bay cities attended the exercises to welcome the new members into the organization.

THREE ARE HURT IN 'GANG FIGHT'

Police Reserves Called Out to Quell Rioters and Finally Succeed.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Three men were dangerously wounded and twenty others more or less severely hurt early today in the most serious "gang fight" which has occurred in New York city in many years. Police reserves in military formation, summoned by the helpless patrolmen on the West Side beat, where the trouble broke out, charged on the rioters and put an end to the disturbance only after almost a hundred shots had been fired by members of the quarreling clans. According to the police reports four gangs of roughs participated and for fully half an hour fought hand to hand with revolvers, sticks, stones and any other weapons which were available.

The fight was precipitated when the members of the Bear Athletic club, after a dinner in a Tenth avenue beer garden, began to leave the resort shortly after midnight. While the banquet was in progress, the roughs from rival organizations had begun to gather at a neighboring street corner. According to the police, "the gophers," the "jungle gang" and the "hounds of hell," all organizations with which the officers of the law have had experience, were represented in the mob at the corner.

COMMENCE GUN PLAY.

With the appearance of the Bear club diners, the fight commenced. With yells, curses and shouts, the waiting gangsters threw themselves upon their rivals. Then some one fired a revolver and in an instant gun play was the order of the hour. The firing continued at irregular periods until the appearance of the police reserves.

Whenever a gangster fell he was unmercifully beaten and kicked. The entire neighborhood was thrown into panic. Many of the injured were carried off by their companions before the arrival of the police. Fully 125 men were still engaged in the battle when the reserves reached the scene. A half dozn arrests were made.

FARMERS HELPING GOOD ROADS MOVE

Crowds Attend Meetings Called at Byron and Enthusiasm Prevails.

BRYON, July 28.—A meeting of the Contra Costa County Good Roads league was held here last night and was marked by an enormous outpouring of citizens interested in the purposes of the organization and anxious to hear what would be said about it by the capable corps of speakers scheduled for the evening. It ended in a real burst of enthusiasm.

Among the speakers of the evening were J. M. Eddy, secretary of the Good Roads Association of California; Bert Estom of Stockton, Ernest Scholz, a prominent rancher of Concord; F. S. Knox, secretary, and Warren McBride, president, of the league in this quarter.

Every meeting of the league, so far, has met with the same amount of pleasing success to the workers as that of this evening. Thursday it was at Black Diamond; Friday there was one at Brentwood and one at Pinole, Saturday at Concord, Monday at Richmond, and Tuesday at Upham Brothers' mill in the Alhambra valley.

The meeting in the Alhambra was largely attended by farmers and ranchers from the surrounding country. With enthusiasm at the top notch to the end, the crowd held until 1:30 o'clock, seeming to voice its approval of projects in the act. The mill was turned into a hall for the occasion. The farmers take particular interest in the scheme, because it promises them a cost of a little more than one-half as much in hauling produce and in travel, and with no raise in taxes.

Stolen Jewels Found in Pittsburg Bank

PITTSBURG, July 28.—The jewels of Mrs. Henry R. Rea, sister of United States Senator Oliver, which were stolen a year ago, have been recovered. They are valued at $100,000. From the Rea home comes the explanation that the jewels were discovered in a lock box in a Pittsburg bank where Mrs. Rea had personally placed them and forgot them. But a detective agency which had charge of the search for the jewels, and which admits having recovered them, declines to stand for this story.

Detectives were instructed to spare no expense, and operatives were sent to Europe to watch the pawnshops. It was declared that the jewels disappeared from Mrs. Rea's dressing-room one night after she had returned from a function. It was the commonly accepted theory that her party was followed home by some one who had familiarized himself with the house.

Sacramento Drops to Its Lowest Stage

SACRAMENTO, July 28.—The Sacramento river has reached the lowest stage in the history of the city. Tuesday the government gauge registered a depth of 4 feet in the channel, which is almost a foot lower than was ever before known in the month of July. As the channel is comparatively clear of bars there is little fear of transportation being tied up. The large number of new irrigation projects are believed to be responsible for the extreme low water in the river.

Cruisers to Burn Oil, Rumored Here

VALLEJO, July 28.—It is rumored at Mare Island that the navy department contemplates converting the cruisers West Virginia and Maryland, now here, into oil burners. The report is that preliminary estimates for the work have been made and that if the proposed change is undertaken the cruisers will remain here at least a year longer.

GOVERNMENT NOT TO BOOST SOUTH

State Department Denies That it Will Support New Orleans at Buenos Ayres.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The State Department last night issued the following statement to set at rest the report that efforts would be made at the Pan-American congress, in session at Buenos Ayres, to have it declare New Orleans its choice for the Pan-American exposition.

"Of course no resolution on the subject could be introduced by this country's delegation, except as an act of the whole delegation, and naturally the delegation of this country could not exceed its present instructions without special authorization. It would on no account be authorized to introduce any subject so irrelevant as that of a question at which of two cities in this country this government, by means of congressional action, might or might not later conclude to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal.

"The department explains that its instructions to the delegation from this country were that the congress might confer on the directorate of the Bureau of American Republics authority to decide what part the American countries should take in the exposition, but such action would be dependent on what action was first taken by congress here."

"The occasion for the department's statement was the well-founded report that Lamar C. Quintero of New Orleans, a delegate, would attempt to have a resolution passed favorable to his city, and that in the tour of South America he was to conduct a campaign in behalf of his town."

Dead Bomb Maker's Plans Still Mystery

TRUCKEE, July 28.—At the inquest held at Loyalton, Sierra county, over the body of the stranger who was killed by a bomb near Boca on Sunday, it was ascertained that the dead man's name was Francis Plaisance, but for what purpose he was manufacturing bombs was not decided. The supposition is that he was a member of some anarchist or blackhand society and sought seclusion in the tent in the lumber camp at Warn's saw mill to construct his deadly machines, which would be shipped to places where they were to be used later. Deputy Coroner Cohen conducted the investigation and buried the body in the Loyalton cemetery, after having it photographed for the purpose of identification.

Joe Tantla, who lived in an adjoining tent, was shaving when the explosion occurred, and a piece of iron from the bomb crashed past his head, shattering the mirror in front of his face. Other bombs were found hidden about the victim's tent, one being incased in a 30-inch length of 4-inch pipe. It contained enough black blasting powder to destroy a large building. It had fuses attached ready for use.

Soldiers Save Tots From Death in Fire

SAN JOSE, July 28.—Soldiers from the San Francisco Presidio, en route to Atascadero, played a prominent part in the rescue of two children and the extinguishing of a threatening fire in Post street late last evening. The flames broke out in a wooden structure belonging to the San Francisco building and loan association during the absence of Mrs. A. Bosque, and the soldiers, who were "seeing San Jose" and were among the first on the ground, entered the building and rescued the Bosques children. Two houses were destroyed and the boys in khaki did much to aid in preventing the further spread of the flames.

Stings or bites of insects that are followed by swellings, pain or itching should be treated promptly as they are poisonous. BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT counteracts the poison. It is both antiseptic and healing. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Wishart's Drug Store, Tenth and Washington Streets.

WILSON RESIGNS MARE ISLAND POST

Change to the Meyer Plan of Government Claims Another Victim.

VALLEJO, July 28.—Sylvester E. Wilson, who has been chief clerk in the commandant's office for the past 13 years, and who first saw service at the naval station in 1869, when he registered as a clerk in the construction and repair department, has handed in his resignation to Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, U. S. N., to take effect on Tuesday, August 30. His departure will add another name to those who have fallen victims to the change from the Newberry to the Meyer plan.

A little more than a month ago Herbert Diamond was made chief clerk by the commandant, and Wilson was ordered to move his office from the headquarters of Rear Admiral Osterhaus to the industrial building. Although drawing the same pay, his duties were curtailed to a marked degree and he was compelled to take orders from the younger man. He then began to show signs of discontent, and it was freely declared that he would leave.

EVANS TO LEAVE.

Naval Constructor Holden A. Evans and his bride of a few months are now busy packing up their belongings preparatory to leaving for Seattle, Wash., where Evans has been ordered to report for duty as inspector at the Moran shipbuilding plant. The couple will leave on or before the first of the coming month.

Lieutenant Commander E. Pollock, United States navy, assistant to the engineer officer at the Mare Island station, has been detached from the local naval station at his own request. He will leave for his home in the East in the very near future.

$93,000,000 to Be Moved in New York

CHICAGO, July 28.—Twenty-five million dollars of gold, silver and greenbacks, as well as $93,000,000 in securities, will be moved Saturday from the Continental National Bank to the Commercial National.

The transfer will necessitate the use of scores of policemen and private guards. Two wagons will be used to haul the money.

The two banks have been merged and on August 1 the new Continental and Commercial National Bank will begin business.

"FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS HAVE CURED ME."

The above is a quotation from a letter written by H. M. Winkler, Evansville, Ind. "I contracted a severe case of kidney trouble. My back gave out and pained me. I seemed to have lost all strength and ambition; was bothered with dizzy spells, my head would swim and specks float before my eyes. I took Foley Kidney Pills regularly and am now perfectly well and feel like a new man. Foley Kidney Pills have cured me." Wishart's Drug Store, Tenth and Washington Streets.

Lothario Courted Pittsburg Woman With Big Revolver

PITTSBURG—"Do you love me, Stella? No?"

Bang bang!

"Will you marry me, Stella? No?"

Bang bang bang!

"Will you ever love me or marry me, Stella? No?"

Bang bang bang continued ad infinitum.

Wooing a winsome but unwilling maiden with lead pills propelled in fantastic fashion toward her pedal extremities by a 32 caliber cemetery filler while the trigger plays "Won't you be my little turtle dove?" is the latest way of how not to propose.

Having digested the above, if you want more details ask Paul Kurkoski, who is aged 21 years and lives at 1[illegible] Penn avenue. And if further evidence is needed that the plan is neither effective nor enjoyable, call Stella Ostrowski, a pretty 17-year-old Polish girl, or her mother, Mrs. Kate Ostrowska, of [illegible] Spring alley.

ORIGINAL, AT LEAST

Paul appeared in police court before Magistrate Noble Matthews. Testimony offered showed that when it comes to novelty and originality this young Polishman has all the wooers—ancient and modern—looking like selling platers in a stake event.

Paul, it seemed, loved other maidens fair in the Spring alley section, but Stella was the apple of his eye. But according to the evidence he had a most peculiar way of letting her know of the feelings which were bottled up within his bosom. Most frequently the outpouring of his love was accompanied by a fusillade of lead pills.

Paul would stand in the street and wait until Stella passed in company with some other man and then he would start shooting at her dainty little feet.

"Dance and show you love me, dearie," he would sweetly chant, and then the trigger would fall on the bass pedal again, according to the girl and her mother.

NEVER REFUSED

Stella under such conditions never refused to dance, but it is now a matter on record that her contortions were an evidence of her undying love for Paul.

And then it was testified that on other occasions Paul's love messages were wafted to Stella's ears under different conditions. He would appear just outside her window late at night and as a sort of lullaby send bullets through the windows of his Juliet's room. At other times he would bring two revolvers and then his serenade would be that famous song "Sleep, Little Baby of Mine," played very much fortissimo.

The love message of Paul caused such heart palpitation for Stella that sleep was out of the question, but he persisted so that finally it was necessary to call the police.

Magistrate Matthews ordered the strenuous Lothario to pay $2 and instructed him henceforth to refrain from wooing in this fashion.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

The Germans have originated rings for divorced persons. For many generations they have followed the custom by which at marriage the bride gives her husband a ring as well as receiving one from him. If the husband dies the bride wears the ring she gave him on her ring finger to indicate that she is a widow. The husband in case of death of his wife usually wears her wedding ring on his little finger next to the ring which his wife gave him. The Germans have developed this idea to fit the divorced couple. There are several designs which jewelers in Berlin are displaying in their shop windows and are selling rapidly.

The divorcee's ring consists of a plain gold band with a broad strip of platinum or silver set in so that the ring shows a white stripe, indicating that the marriage had been annulled and the ring divided. There is another design that is popular. It has two opposing half moons and looks very much like the ordinary signet ring. Such a ring, it is said, tells its own story at a glance and prevents conversations or questions that might prove embarrassing.

The Queen of Roumania, who recently was extremely ill, says that woman's true happiness lies in regarding marriage as a holy sacrifice and seeking to understand men rather than to look for men to understand her. "If women from the beginning," says she, "regarded marriage as a holy sacrifice, as a perfect self-oblivion, they perhaps would get on better. I do not say they would be happier; that is another question. In every nation marriage bears the character which that nation needs. For this reason no laws and regulations can be made. It is for the single individuals to ennoble and perfect themselves in this, as in all things. There would be no woman's questions if married life had been differently handled. The men wanted to have servants, the women heroes, and then men did not become heroes and the women could no longer bear the pressure under which the men tried to hold them. In wedded life persons imagine they can let themselves go and do not think that as soon as they let themselves go all their faults become gigantic and their good qualities insignificantly small. It is just in married life that one ought never to let one's self go. An untimely yawn may result in a complete tragedy."

Jilted Man to Sue Rich Girl for Slander

NEW YORK—Siegfried Griswold has intimated that he may have better luck prosecuting a suit for slander against Brunhilde Helen Woodruff Smith, the wealthy Stamford, Conn., [illegible] young woman than he will in his realm of [illegible]. He professed to be happy over the names he has been called when seen at the office of his attorneys and insisted that he would make her suffer before he was through. In the meanwhile the handsome divorcee has retired to her Stamford home and declines to comment further on the suit.

Griswold is angered chiefly because Miss Smith has characterized him as a blackmailer. He admits he borrowed some money from Miss Smith while she still was accepting his attentions, but says he gave her his note for it and that it was a regular business transaction.

"She calls me a beggar and says I was after her money," he said, "but the fact is that every cent I got from her I earned except $300, and she has my note for that amount. She gave me the ring and a couple of scarf pins and some other things, but she gave me them because she loved me and I loved her.

"'Pussie dear,' she said to me, 'give up that place and come up here to Stamford and act as my secretary. I will pay you a salary and we can have excellent times together, without your ruining your eyesight.'

"We never agreed on any specific salary, but occasionally he would give me small sums. I consider that I earned that and a great deal more. I had to make photographs and things for guests and do lots of things for her."

Griswold's mother issued a statement today in which she denies that she had anything to do with the institution of the suit and defended her son from the charge that he is seeking to blackmail Miss Smith. She wound up by saying:

"I defy the defendant to prove that I am the instigator of this suit or that my son is a beggar or perjurer."

Young Griswold gave out this evening a few more of the stock of letters and postal cards that he says he received from Miss Smith. They are couched in the same sort of endearing terms as the others heretofore made public. Following are a few extracts:

"I shall be very busy mornings and part of the afternoon from now on so prepare to see a serious paleface, long-haired, knitted-browed individual seated at the piano when you come. This is by the pen with several K's, but I send you also a million or more by wireless."

Kidnaped Girl Is Rescued

PLAINFIELD, Conn.—Taken from the man who proposed to make her his bride, [illegible]-year-old Lena Minnon, a church singer of Mays Landing, N. J., who was thought to have eloped, is safely in the care of her relatives.

The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pascal Minnon, well-to-do Italians of Mays Landing. For some time she has been courted by John Gomez, a Massachusetts man, who is a relative of Manuel Lopez, a brother-in-law of Lena. In spite of the watchfulness of the Minnon people last Monday Gomez and Lopez enticed the girl to Egg Harbor and took her to Wareham, Mass., the home of Lopez, where it was planned for the pair to be married.

[illegible] Minnon, a Mays Landing barber, and his wife immediately started in pursuit. Detectives were on watch in Providence, R. I., Taunton and Middleboro, Mass., but Minnon and his wife reached Wareham on the same train with the men who led the girl. One of them drew a revolver on Mrs. Minnon, but she clung to Lena and got her started toward home.

On the home trip detectives at different points thinking Minnon and his wife were the ones who had taken the girl detained them at a half dozen stations until they finally reached here, where Mrs. Minnon has relatives who straightened out the affairs and the whole party left Norwich on board the steamer Chelsea for New York and home.

The kidnapers are natives of Portugal and threaten to get Lena yet, but a careful watch will be kept over her at her Jersey home.

Woman On Liner Robbed of Jewelry

HAMBURG—It was reported here that thieves on board the Hamburg-American line steamer Amerika robbed Mrs. Stradford of New Jersey of jewelry valued at $10,000.

The Hamburg police authorities believe that the thieves belong to an international band said to be working on trans-Atlantic liners, members of which, it is alleged, committed a robbery on another Hamburg-American liner a few days ago.

WEDS IN HURRY; Now She'll Repent AT HER LEISURE

KANSAS CITY—Should a motor car be wrecked near your home, girls, don't rush out and give first aid to the attractive young man pinned against the paving or a pole. It's very romantic and the impulse is humane and Christianlike, but all romances do not end happily in real life as in fairy tales. For instance, hear the story of Adele Schoenhard of 3[illegible]37 Garfield avenue. Miss Schoenhard hastened to the assistance of Gail Reed, formerly of the Imperial Motor Car Company, one day a few months ago when he was thrown from his car near her home. The proper thing to do [illegible] finally, but they went and got married as any novelist would expect them to do, and here they are in the divorce court—and only three weeks afterward.

ROMANTIC AT THE START

It was a real romance in the beginning, motor rides and a hurry-up courtship and an insistence by Reed that they should be married at once. No use to plead to him for delay to make the preparations inevitable in the program of an engaged young woman. He just had to be married—no time for trousseau and minister and all that. A justice of the peace and everyday common old law was good enough for him. So they were wedded without any frills or fuss and went to the Tanner Hotel to live—the girl and the man she had rescued.

AND WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Mrs. Reed says in the petition her lawyer filed that they went walking the night after they were married and had such an exhilarating time that the young husband went to his hotel without the bride and she had to go to her parents' home. Moreover he declined to see her for a day or two and when they finally did meet he refused to continue longer the responsibilities of husband. To make matters worse Reed moved to St. Joseph. That settled it for Mrs. Schoenhard Reed. She notified her husband that she would sue for divorce and he actually said he didn't care and evidently he doesn't, for his friends say he will not contest the suit.

Man and Wife Ousted From Hotel Bring Suit

NEW YORK—An order handed down by Justice Bischoff in the Supreme Court permitting the Hotel Astor to serve a verified answer to a complaint of Mrs. Helen Favish of Birmingham, Ala., disclosed suits for $150,000 damages brought against the hotel by Mrs. Favish and her husband. The suits are based upon the ejectment of the Favishes from the hotel at 2 o'clock on the morning of May 9.

According to the affidavits Mr. and Mrs. Favish came to the city from Birmingham on May 8 and registered at the hotel. The pair received visitors during the day and evening and retired to their room shortly before midnight. Mrs. Favish had come to New York to consult specialists for nervous trouble.

"Between the hours of 1:30 and 2 a. m.," says the affidavit, "Mrs. Favish and her husband, after having had the privacy of their apartments disturbed, and the assistant manager of the hotel having entered therein by force and violence after having had the door opened by trick and device and after the plaintiff and her husband had retired and were clad only in their nightdresses, were ordered to forthwith leave the said hotel under the threat of immediate arrest and disgrace. The plaintiff, Mrs. Favish, was accused of unchastity and accused of remaining in said hotel with a person who was not her husband."

Mrs. Favish, the affidavit says, suffered so from the shock that she had to consult a physician. Because the answer to Mrs. Favish's petition was not verified her counsel asked to have the damages assessed. Justice Bischoff permitted the hotel to file a verified answer. Mrs. Favish sued for $75,000 and her husband for a like amount.

A woman never has as much faith in her husband as she has in some special kind of patent medicine.

Pastor Would Prepare Youth for Married Life

ST. LOUIS—Classes to instruct young persons in the duties of marriage and to fit them for the profession of life generally is a plan advocated by the Rev. I. A. Humberd, which he expects to institute in his church, the Union Congregational, here.

Mr. Humberd was once a newspaper man and has written many articles on, among which he holds to be marriage. His views concerning the present marital sentiment in this country are unique. He declares that American domestic instability is due to the fluctuating conditions of American politics and professional life generally.

"I will try this party or this man or this principle awhile is the attitude of the average American," he says, "always with the mental reservation that if they do not suit the case they can be got rid of instantly."

Mr. Humberd holds that many unsuccessful marriages could have been prevented by proper instruction.

"I have talked with married women bowed with the troubles of [illegible] experience," he remarked. "They have said to me, 'If I had only known.'"

There are many married persons in the opinion of the pastor who are not proper parents and whose children should be cared for by the State.

The Church, Mr. Humberd believes, has been too lax on this subject of instructing young persons in the practical profession of life. He believes that public schools should assist in this instruction.

The Minister is considering as a part of his pastoral work a class of young persons over which he shall preside. His idea is to co-operate with the parents, the family physician and the scholar.

Taking Candy From Babies

KANSAS CITY—L. E. Maxey, Walter Fann and Eugene B. Madden, a bell boy at the Hotel Baltimore, found it was like taking candy away from a baby to 'ring in' loaded dice on the girls in charge of cigar stands. It was easy money until C. H. Bren caught them trying to fleece the girl in charge of his stand at 928 Main street. They got away from him then, but were rounded up last night by G. I. Aughey and I. B. Watson, officers not in uniform. In the North Side municipal court this morning Judge Burney fined them $100 each, in default of which they went to the workhouse for two hundred days.

In statements made to Walter Whitsett, police captain, introduced as evidence in the trial, Maxey, Fann and Madden implicated a deputy county marshal of being interested in their scheme. Henry Auls, who gave testimony against his associates on the promise of immunity from prosecution, also made a statement implicating the deputy. The testimony showed that the men worked on an organized basis. Their operations extended over a period of several months.

Joel Mayes, county marshall, is to have an investigation immediately to determine if the accused deputy is guilty. The police made no attempt to arrest the deputy mentioned by the young gamblers.

Closed Mouth With Flypaper

INDIANAPOLIS—"I'll teach you to keep your mouth shut," exclaimed Mrs. Clara Brandon to her mother-in-law, Mrs. Lavinia Brandon, and fitting the action to the word slapped a piece of sticky fly-strewn paper over the elder Mrs. Brandon's mouth.

She did not hesitate to pick out a piece that would have been less objectionable because it had not been on duty so long, but chose the first one she ran across and made a good job of it by pasting the edges around her mother-in-law's ears.

At least that was the story told by the elder Mrs. Brandon when she appeared in police court against her daughter-in-law. Her features still bore the marks of the paper and her face and ears were decorated with fly wings and glue. She left the evidence on her face overnight to convince the judge, she said.

The daughter-in-law was arrested, charged with assault and battery, and when the elder Mrs. Brandon went to police headquarters to talk the situation over she was advised by Matron Gregoli not to remove the last scars.

The elder Mrs. Brandon said she was sitting on the front porch when her daughter-in-law ordered her to depart. She moved over to the corner, she said, and then her daughter-in-law kicked her on the ankle. But Mrs. Brandon said she refused to move further and her daughter-in-law rushed to the kitchen and picked up the fly paper, which she pasted over her mouth. Judge Collins continued the case.

She Is Extravagant; Hubby "Cures" Her

NEW YORK—Out in Port Jefferson, L. I., reside Mr. and Mrs. John J. Clark, and this advertisement appeared in a local paper:

"All persons are hereby forbidden to extend credit or assistance to my wife, Clara B. Clark, on my account, as I shall pay no bills of her contracting.

(Signed) JOHN J. CLARK."

When friends of the couple saw the advertisement they were surprised.

It was learned that the couple, who have one son seven years old, have no difference except that the husband believes his wife to be too extravagant.

"HOME BUILT" TO HANG ON NEW CITY HALL

FIVE TIMES PRESENT FLOOR SPACE PLANNED

New York Firm Pleased With Reception Accorded by Administration.

Accompanied by the heads of the municipal departments, Architect Henry Hornbostel, who is here to make practical application of the winning new city hall designs to the needs of the situation, went over the offices now occupied by the departments with tape measure and rule this week. After making careful estimates he found the new hall will allow five times more floor space than that now occupied, including the old city hall building, the old library building occupied by the board of health and the city engineer, the building occupied by the electrical department and the separate offices of the city attorney in local office buildings.

This will allow for normal development of the departments for a quarter of a century before it will be necessary to erect additional structures for departments crowded out of the city hall proper. All the offices for the next twenty-five years will be more than ample for the needs of the departments, according to the architect.

DEFINITE PLANS DRAWN.

As a result of the conference with the representatives of the police department, and various other administrative and executive offices, more definite plans have been drawn as a basis for the detailed drawings and specifications to be made in New York as a basis for the call for bids and award of contract for the construction of the building.

While Architect Hornbostel is engaged in making the drawings, Sullivan W. Jones, head of the engineering and structural division of the firm of Palmer & Hornbostel, a New York firm of architects who will supervise the construction of the hall has been engaged in interviewing material and supply men, and in obtaining information on labor conditions here. It has been definitely decided that California granite will be the stone used for the building, this conclusion having been arrived at after a visit of the architects to the University of California.

BEST FOR APPEARANCE.

According to Architect Hornbostel this stone is one of the finest both for appearance and durability known to builders, and California quarries produce the choicest granite to be obtained anywhere in the world. The largest single block of granite ever quarried in the state was recently laid in position over the doorway of the memorial library, now on its way to completion, at the state university. The slab is almost twenty feet in length and is without a flaw.

As far as possible all building materials will be purchased here. It is probable that the steel will have to be obtained in the East, but the mass of the supplies will be purchased from local firms, even where the cost, as in a few instances, will be slightly above that quoted by eastern corporations.

That the courtesy and fairness of the treatment accorded the architects is a touch of refreshing Westernism is the declaration of Henry Hornbostel. Senior partner in a firm with more than $75,000,000 operations in municipal and public buildings under his supervision in various parts of America, he states that he has never in his experience met with such courtesy as from the city administration. He is at present engaged in assisting City Attorney John Stetson in drawing up a contract that will be the most ironclad document of its kind in existence and will form a model for all future contracts for public work in this vicinity.

NO PETTY GRAFT.

"The first words of your mayor to us on our arrival were to the effect that in this work he wanted everything so absolutely on the level that there would be no question of any remote possibility of petty graft anywhere," said Architect Hornbostel today. "We are going to draw up a contract to cover every point in the construction of the building, and to regulate the expenditure of every cent of the $1,000,000 in an absolutely open and above-board manner. With the aid of the city attorney we are working over the ironclad instrument that will protect this job from offering even the temptation to thievery or graft of any kind whatsoever. I am more than pleased to have the opportunity of putting some of my long cherished ideas and ideals in matter into concrete form. The architect must depend upon the administration with which he has to deal for the manner in which a piece of construction of this kind is to be handled, and many times our hands are tied before the work is even commenced. In this instance we have been asked to see that everything is fair and square and have been given a free hand to make it so. The manner in which the competition was conducted and the prize for the winner places the architect on his honor, and it makes him ready and anxious to see that everything is right all down the line. We are glad to deal with an administration of this kind and hope to make good the splendid promise of putting up a fine building about which there shall be no question of right in any direction."

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

One of the departments to which the architects are devoting considerable attention is the police department and the city prison. While the detective bureau and police administrative offices and courts will be on the first floor of the monumental lower structure, the city prison proper will occupy the topmost portion of the building.

BLOOMER GIRLS BAT OUT MANY HOME RUNS IN CLEVER BASEBALL GAME AT PLAY PARK

FEMININE FANS SCREAM APPROVAL ON SIDELINES

Pitcher Nellie McGrath Heroine of Day Fans Batters With Regularity of Big League Stars

No falling tresses, no lost hairpins, no wrangling destroyed the even atmosphere of the baseball diamond at Bushrod Park yesterday afternoon when two "tens," representing the Bushrod Park girls and those of the De Fremery playground, met and settled scores, the latter winning the five-inning game to the tune of 11 to 5. Following this exhibition of good baseball the Bushrods took on the Alameda girls and bested them by a score of 17 to 15.

Other than the fact that each team numbers ten players, there being two shortstops instead of one, there are no conditions relative to the exhibitions of the girls that do not demand every attribute contingent on all-star contests of the eastern or Pacific Coast Leagues.

Singles, double plays, a triple and now and again a home run served to enliven the festivities and at each unusual play on the parts of the bloomer-clad girls the feminine fans arose in a body and cheered the successful player to a finish.

PITCHERESS HEROINE.

Nellie McGrath, pitcher of the De Fremery team, was the heroine of the day. Repeatedly Miss McGrath would fan the opposing batter and that without giving her the consolation of a ball or two. Curves, drops and elusive straight balls she sent over the plate, and as often as they would whizz by the bat of the girl at the plate just so often would the umpire call "strike."

And at the bat Miss McGrath was just as valuable to her team. Clasping the heavy bat with a firmness typical of the heavy hitters of the major league the girl would crouch aggressively at the plate and make terrifying swings at the ball. Always before the umpire had reached three in calling strikes her bat would connect with the sphere and the ball would go flying out over the heads of all the fielders for a two-bagger or a home run.

BROTHER POLICED.

Jimmie McGrath, brother of the pitcher, and her principal trainer, policed the diamond and with great difficulty succeeded in holding back swarms of mothers, sisters and friends who swept down from the grand stand periodically to hug the particular relative who had captured a hot grounder or knocked out a hit.

The first game between the Bushrod players and the De Fremery park aggregation, although replete with good plays, was not as interesting as the contest that followed, owing to unevenness of the teams.

When later the Alameda players lined up against the defeated Bushrod "ten" there was more doing, and the shrieks and screams of the fans demonstrated the manifestation of a greater interest.

FAVORED BY COMMISSION.

The inauguration of the baseball series is the action of the Playground Commission of Oakland, and it has met with decided favor. The girls have taken a great interest in the game and it is believed will benefit physically by the playing.

The Bushrod playground, where the baseball games took place is practically completed. The Playground Commission has put its greatest efforts into the improving and equipping of this play place and the modern apparatus, including swings, see-saws, handball courts, tennis courts, bath houses and baseball diamonds have been installed.

Next year other improvements will be added and it is anticipated that within a few years the bushrod playground will be the largest and best on the Pacific coast.

CONTENDING TEAMS.

The Alameda team is composed of Clara French, pitcher, Juanita Morgan, catcher; Helen De Lorme, first base; Lorine Berger, second base; Maybel Wagner, third base, Helen Stranch, shortstop, and fielders and substitute players, Ruth Crozier, Bernice Fisher, Myrtle Leonard, Minnie McPeak, Ethel Gould, Virginia Young and Lindsey Banford.

CONTROL OF ROCK ISLAND PASSES OVER TO BRITONS

Transcontinental Road May Result From Coalition of Interests With Wabash and Missouri-Pacific Lines

NEW YORK, July 28.—Although Kuhn, Loeb & Co. made no official announcement regarding the developments whereby the holdings of a syndicate in Rock Island, Lehigh Valley and Missouri Pacific stocks were taken over to prevent further serious liquidation the company in connection with English interests headed by Sir Ernest Cassell has obtained the largest single holding of Rock Island, both common and preferred. The syndicate is said to have been made up of Canadian and English operators with English connections, headed by Dr. F. S. Pearson, and had for its aim a new transcontinental group. The decline in the market upset the plan and necessitated a turning over of the stocks purchased.

TRANSCONTINENTAL PLAN.

The block of Rock Island carries control of the property and is accompanied by the Pearson holdings in Lehigh Valley, Wabash and Missouri Pacific. Whether the transcontinental plan will be carried out by the new Rock Island controllers, or whether the new interests will assert their power in altering present management still depends on unsettled factors.

Certain banking interests have looked on the original Pearson plan with favor, and it is not unlikely that steps will be taken to carry it out.

It is pointed out that while the Pearson syndicate could not have inaugurated a transcontinental system, except by getting an actual preponderance of the stocks involved, the new holders through associations should be able to effect the practical union of the various properties with little further outlay of capital.

Sir Ernest Cassell, the chief foreign member of the new syndicate, represents one of the financial interest of England, and largest, if not the largest, single it is stated on good authority that the new Rock Island interest took over the stock in question for purposes of permanent investment.

LEHIGH VALLEY SALES.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—The heavy dealing in Lehigh Valley stock yesterday was still in evidence when the Philadelphia exchange opened today. Mrs. Martha Burt Dead at Berkeley

BERKELEY, July 28.—Mrs. Martha J. Burt, 73 years of age, died suddenly this morning at 12.30 o'clock at her home, 2301 Bancroft way. She had retired last evening in good health and spirits and was taken ill without warning. Dr. J. W. Still was called, but life had departed before his arrival.

Mrs. Burt was a native of New York state and leaves a husband, W. H. Burt, and two sons.

An inquest will be held to determine the cause of death.

Dr. Rudolph Coffee, Rabbi of Pittsburg, Is to Wed Popular San Francisco Belle

One of the most interesting engagement announcements of the season is that of Miss Doris Hirshfeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hirshfeld of San Francisco and Rev. Dr. Rudolph Coffee, rabbi of the Tree of Life synagogue of Pittsburg, the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Coffee of this city. The couple broke the news yesterday to their parents and then telephoned to their friends, who are extending congratulations and offering their best wishes.

To their many friends in the bay region and in San Francisco, where the couple are widely known, the report of the betrothal comes as a delightful surprise. Although they had been attending functions together and have been close friends for a year, there was no thought of an engagement expressed by their dearest and nearest ones.

To give the friends and relatives an opportunity to exchange greetings with the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Hirshfeld will tender them a reception August 24 at their home, 2826 Broadway, San Francisco. On that date they will at the same time celebrate the anniversary of their meeting, which occurred on that date one year ago. They will be married in the fall.

Miss Hirshfeld is a fascinating brunette with a very interesting personality. She is a typical California girl, having been born in San Francisco, where she received most of her education. Miss Hirshfeld registered at the University of California as a special student, where she made a careful study of architecture and won recognition in that particular branch at the state institution, where she was very popular and a general favorite among her colleagues.

Dr. Coffee was born in this city and graduated from the local high school where he was considered one of the most brilliant and promising students. He took his degree from Columbia university and also the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York. For three years he was an instructor in the teachers' college of Columbia university and for two years he was superintendent of the Hebrew orphan asylum of New York, which is the largest Jewish institution of its kind in the world. Four years ago he accepted the pulpit of the Tree of Life synagogue of Pittsburg, where he has a large congregation.

Rabbi Coffee will return to his duties in September and in the latter part of the fall he will arrive in San Francisco to claim his bride.

BIDS FOR POWER ARE NOT AWARDED

Alameda to Purchase Electric Current for the Day Service.

ALAMEDA, July 28.—Bids for supplying the city of Alameda with electricity during the day were submitted by the Great Western Power company and the Pacific Gas and Electric company and opened last night by the electricity commission. The contract will not be awarded until the next meeting of the commission in order that more time may be given to a consideration of the merits of both bids, which were similar in cost, the Great Western company stipulating on a minimum of 175 kilowatts at 1 cent per kilowatt. Any current used in excess of the minimum to cost 1½ cents. The city has the option of increasing the minimum whenever it sees fit on giving thirty days' notice. It also has the privilege to use up to 4000 kilowatts. The bid from the Pacific Gas and Electric company is as follows: One cent per kilowatt for all power furnished between the hours of 2 and 4 p. m., 3c per kilowatt except emergency energy, to be delivered between the hours of 4 and 12 midnight.

There is always a choice seat on the bandwagon for a voter that won't be led.

THREATEN TO SAVE CROPS BY USING FORCE

Make Strong Appeal to Railroad Companies to Change the Situation.

MAY SEIZE DREDGER NOW LYING IDLE

Threats Are Made to Invade Mexico and Tear Out the Big Dam.

IMPERIAL, Cal., July 28.—Residents of the Imperial Valley are greatly wrought up over the irrigation situation in connection with the Colorado River, which, it is said, threatens the destruction of a million-dollar cotton crop and a half-million dollars' worth of other crops in the valley.

So aroused have the people become that threats are heard of an armed uprising of the people of the valley to seize the pile driver and dredge of the Southern Pacific Railway Company and affiliated corporations now lying idle at the intake of the Imperial Valley irrigation system, and doing the work believed to be necessary to save the crops of the valley.

MANY TELEGRAMS SENT.

Many telegrams were sent today by people of the valley urging the railroad company, the California Development Company and the California Mexico Land and Cattle Company to do something to save the situation.

A permit was recently given by the government for the construction of a levee across the Colorado River by the California Development Company, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, and upon its completion and the dredging of 1500 feet of canal to insure a continued water supply, depends, it is said, the saving of the crops of the valley. A pile driver and dredge were provided for the work, but up to date the work has not been commenced. The residents of the valley are in an excited frame of mind and are threatening to arm themselves and seize the irrigation works.

DAM PUT ACROSS CANAL.

Word was received today that the California-Mexico Land and Cattle Company had thrown a dam across the Imperial Canal in Mexico to obtain additional water for the company's land in that republic, and there immediately followed the valley towns' threats to invade Mexico and tear out the dam and seize the idle pile driver and dredger for the construction of a levee to save the crops of the Imperial Valley.

Has No Candidates; Blank Ticket Ready

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—In compliance with a legal technicality the county clerk is having prepared an absolutely blank ticket for the Independence League at the coming primary election.

The ticket will be ruled the same as the tickets for the other parties, but will be devoid of names for the reason that the league has no candidates. Names may be written in at the primary.

The election law imposes upon the county clerk the necessity of printing a ticket for a political paryt "which at the last preceding general election polled not less than three per cent of the total vote of the country."

Summer Session Closes Tomorrow

BERKELEY, July 28.—The eleventh summer session of the University of California will close tomorrow with the final examinations after a successful course of six weeks.

Nearly a thousand students have been in attendance, showing the popularity of this branch of university work. Lectures and courses of instructions have been offered in some forty subjects, ranging from philosophy to household administration. Plans are already in preparation for next summer's session, which is expected to eclipse this one in many ways.

COAST LEAGUE VOTES DOWN THE DOUBLE UMPIRE SYSTEM

STEEN AND FISHER PRESENT SEALS WITH THE GAME

Beavers' Battery Are Wild and Woolly, and Cal Ewing's Men Have But Little Trouble in Winning Contest

PORTLAND could not hit Eastley, while the Seals lambasted Steen to all corners of the lot. That almost tells the tale of how Cal Ewing's hired men hung the great sign of defeat on those of Walter McCredie in the second game of the series at Recreation Park yesterday afternoon.

Peeping at the game from the confines of the "Cranks' Row" it wasn't a beauty to look at by any means, for the Beavers gave a mighty poor exhibition of how not to play ball, especially Mr. Steen and Mr. Fisher, more especially the latter, for this gent really helped the Seals score almost all of their runs, though Steen did present them with one in the opening round all by himself. It was Oscar Vitt who opened the fracas for the Seals and after waiting a while at the plate he meandered down to first base on four wide ones. This was start number one for Steen. Next he took aim at first base to catch the Seals' third-sacker off the bag and missed the mark twenty feet, the ball going to the bleachers which gave Vitt third base. Mr. Steen then took the ball aimed this time at some one in the grandstand and Vitt ran home. It was truly the one time when a pitcher gave his opponents one run all by himself.

AFTER IT WAS EASY FOR SEALS.

Mohler was the next seal to face the wild and wooly Steen, but this gent surprised us all by fanning the captain.

But Jimmy Lewis came through with a two-bagger to the right field fence, and Tommy Tennant followed with another long swat to the same place, which scored Lewis. That made it two for the inning.

San Francisco got another in the second. McArdle got his base because the ball touched his shirt on the way over the plate. Umpire Hildebrand awarded McArdle his base, and the fans had a quiet chuckle to themselves as they watched the shortstop rub his arm as if he had been hit hard enough to hurt. Everybody knew that McArdle had not been hit on the arm, and his efforts to make them believe that he was suffering were comedy stunts which fooled nobody.

Vitt came to the bat and lined a single into right field, the ball hitting the ground just inside the foul line. McCredie picked it up and threw to third to head off McArdle, who was making a desperate try for the bag. The San Francisco shortstop made a fine slide to the bag unaware of the fact that McCredie's throw was away off and that the ball was running loose in left field. Posted by the coachers, McArdle jumped to his feet and had no trouble in reaching the plate. When Martinke had fielded the ball he threw it to Fisher and the catcher tried to head off Vitt, who was tearing down toward third. Vitt beat the ball, but his team mates could not bring him home.

SEALS GET THREE MORE.

In the sixth Bodie was safe on Casey's [illegible], took second on Williams' out, stole [illegible] and scored when Fisher made a [illegible] throw to catch the base runner off [illegible].

Tennant opened the eighth inning with a two-base hit. He went to third when Bodie hit to Sheehan and was safe because Tommy could not regain his balance fast enough after a sensational stop. Melchoir came up and drove a two-bagger along the right field foul line, which scored Tennant and Bodie. Melchoir started to steal third and reached the plate when Fisher again threw wild to third and the ball got away from Sheehan.

That was all, but it was enough. McCredie says that his men are in a slump, but that they will get off the toboggan before long and make the Ewingites and the rest of them look sick. Pretty good talk this, Mac, and for the sake of the game we do hope your boys will get back to form, for the Beavers are a pretty nifty bunch. The score:

Stanford Player Going to Big League

The followers of the Cardinal baseball team of Stanford will be rejoiced to hear of the success of Charles E. Swain, a local student, who has been sold recently to the Washington club of the American league.

Swain has been playing the past two years with the Vancouver team of the Northwestern league, where his record as a hard hitting outfielder has given him a national reputation. The game will be played at the Fruitvale Athletic grounds at Fruitvale at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Last Sunday the local Hale team defeated the Oakland Traction company in short order by the score of 13 to 1. The feature of the game was the great work of Pitcher Raymond for the Hale boys.

SACRAMENTO, July 28.—Los Angeles continued on the toboggan yesterday, letting the Senators play rings around them for a 4 to 1 score. Howard's errors were prominent in all the Sacramento runs.

Fitzgerald and Thorsen both worked pretty hard, but the Los Angeles man's support was just the opposite of the gilt-edge backing given the Senators' heaver. Boardman and Burns were particularly clever with sensational fielding.

Shinn worked Thorsen for a pass at the opening of the first inning, Van Buren laid down a bunt which Howard dropped at first. Perry's bunt caused Shinn to be nipped off at third and Danzig laid a grounder down to Delmas, who let it get through him to center field. Van Buren came all the way around from second on the misplay. Boardman's bingle to left landed the second run across.

Aside from the clever fielding of Boardman and Burns, nothing startling occurred until the fifth, when Roth led off with a Texas leaguer to left and was advanced by Delmas' sacrifice. Hughie Smith drove a mighty hit to center, bringing Roth home. The catcher was caught trying to steal.

In the last of the fifth Van Buren walked and, while Danzig was at the bat waiting for his opportunity to smash out a corking two-bagger to right, Van Buren stole second. Smith made a poor throw which Howard booted to center field. Daley camped on the ball long enough to let Van come home. Danzig then drove his long hit which would have served the same purpose.

Howard was the prize boob in the seventh, letting Van Buren have life on an error in fielding. Van purloined second and another boot by the second sack guardian permitted him to advance to third. Perry's sacrifice fly brought home the tally.

CHRISTIAN FOZZLES AGAIN AND OAKS LOSE ANOTHER

Texan Is Hit Out of the Box, and the Vernonites Administer Similar Treatment to Star Pitcher Walter Moser

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—Tyler Christian, whom the Oakland bugs consider the best pitcher in the league, didn't maintain any such reputation yesterday, proving the easiest kind of a snap for the Villagers. He had his glove and smile alright but that was all and after three and a third innings went back to the clubhouse a badly beaten "star." Stovall was the first Villager to find Christian and his bingle was good for a base. Roy Brashear followed his teammate with a bingle, only his swat went clear out of the lot. This polite little reception of the Oaks' slabster netted a couple of runs. In the fourth the Villagers went after Christian and before the round was fairly started had him crying for Help and Captain Wolverton kindly yanked him out of the box.

This isn't all. Moser, who relieved Christian, was also given a drubbing, six hits being made off the slabster, three of the swats being bunched in one inning. Carson heaved winning ball from the start to the finish. He held the Oaks to six scattered hits. Hosp's error in the sixth was indirectly responsible for the lonesome run scored by the visitors.

It has long been said of Wolverton that he was never known to "crab." Harry came very near losing his reputation today. Several times while his hopefuls were being outplayed at every turn the Oakland leader appeared to be upon the verge of biting a hole in the canvas bag at third, and once, while suffering under the strain of deep mental anguish, Harry sneaked up to Umpire Toman and made a short speech, using words of one syllable.

An error started the trouble. Lindsay sent an easy fly into left field, which Maggart muffed. Happy Hogan singled over Wares' head and Lindsay went to third. Carson slammed the ball into right, scoring Londsay.

This was enough for Christian. He walked over to the bench and hung up his glove, Moser going into the box. Moser was given a rattling reception. Carlisle walloped a triple into deep right, scoring Hogan and Carson. Stovall was hit with a pitched ball. He stole second while Carlisle figeted about third waiting for a chance to dash home. This chance came when Kitty Brashear slammed a high bounder in front of Wares.

The Villagers had to make three hits to score one run in the sixth. Carlisle singled, stole second and went to third on Stovall's single to center. Kitt Brashear swatted the ball to the infield and Carlisle scored.

The sixth also brought about the one run that saved the Oaks from a shutout. Willie Hogan shot a single into left. He went to second on Wares' bounder, which Hosp muffed. Maggart walked, filling the base. Cameron hit to Roy Brashear, who touched Maggart out on the line and doubled Cameron at first, Hogan scoring on the play.

GREATER COAST LEAGUE IS THE THING FOR BASEBALL

Plans for Expansion Will Be Thoroughly Gone Over—President Graham Is Heartily in Favor of Idea

President Thomas F. Graham held another levee about his northern trip and the ball park yesterday, and told why he would like to see an eight-club league on the coast next year.

"From my observation while in the North," said the president, "I think the time is ripe for expansion and I sincerely hope to see an eight-club coast league in 1911. Seattle and Spokane are anxious to cast their lots with the Coasters and there is no reason why we should not take them in.

"While in the North the reported gambling on the ball games at Portland was called to my attention and I made a particular investigation of the matter and as soon as Manager Wolverton returns from the South I shall have his version of the affair; that is, if he has one to give. As I understand it, Manager Wolverton knew nothing of the rumors and merely pitched Lively that day because he appeared to be the best. At that I shall continue my investigations, for I am strongly opposed to wagering on ball games and I think the man who follows the pastime with the object of betting on the games is the worst of parasites. We will keep right after these people, if such are allowed on the ball fields of the Coast League, and when we catch them there shall be a most vigorous prosecution."

In the writer's opinion President Graham hits the nail on the head when he says that there should be an eight-club league on the coast. The present Coast League has grown in volumes until today it ranks above any minor league in the United States, and the fans hereabout are entitled to the same class of balls as is given in the East, and that they are getting. Still an eight-club league would add to all of this luster. In this expansion, though, the writer is of the opinion that the taking in of Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane in the North and the dropping of Sacramento would greatly benefit baseball in general. Not that I hold anything against the Sacramento ball team, because it happens to be last, for I think it as good as many of the other teams of the Coast League, but the support given baseball by the Sacramento fans is not what the team deserves. Uncovering some facts told to me, Sacramento is not a paying proposition. The home fans do not support the club as they should.

Again, by dropping Sacramento, that team could again enter a State League along the Stockton and two other towns with a small pay roll, and it would become a great developing ground for the Coasters. Against this comes the argument that we have already tried a State League, but we must remember that the officials of that league gave the fans their Class B ball one day and then Class A ball the next, and the followers of the game saved their money for the Class A games. Under the new order of things, Sacramento, for instance, would be a Class B league all the time, that rivalry would spring up again between Stockton and Sacramento, for instance, and I think the game would pay under those conditions. As it is, former State League officials are working on these plans in the shade of the moon and it won't surprise the writer if we have a State League again next season.

When this question of the Greater Coast League comes up the high moguls of the present Coast League want to look well before they consider applications and petitions from a certain clique of managers that now hold forth in the North. One of these is a large, fat gentleman, who was with the Pacific National League in the days of the war and when it came to the show down and a little aid was needed by Harry Hart et al, this man quit cold and continued to work against the very men that he was supposed to be a friend of. The other is a man who at one time managed a couple of clubs in the Coast League and acted in the same way as did the fat gentleman whom the North. Of course Ewing, Berry and Walter know who these men are and there is little doubt but what they will get the cold shoulder should they try to break into the Coast League at that time or any other time.

There was a meeting of the directors of the Pacific Coast League at the office at Recreation Park yesterday and the matter of the double umpire system throughout the circuit was discussed. Some of the club representatives were not present, but they voted by proxy.

A vote for the double umpire system was taken and lost by a tie vote. The teams favoring two umpires were Portland, Los Angeles and Vernon. San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento were satisfied with the present system.

It is too bad that these clubs opposed the double umpire system, for they sadly need it in this league, as well as any other league where fast ball is played. The game is geting so fast and there are so many decisions that come up during the course of a contest that it is almost impossible for an indicator man to give entire success.

The staff of umpires in the Pacific Coast League is probably as good as the umpiring staff of any minor leageu in the country, but right here we see the indicator man making raw mistakes day after day. Some of them have been shown up by snapshot photos which have been published in the daily papers, which show conclusively where the umpire erred.

It is true that an additional expense would be incurred by hiring more umpires, but the fans in this city and San Francisco are patronizing the game liberally, and from all appearances it looks as if these clubs should be able to bear the additional expense if the others could.

The locals lost again in the south and thereby hangs a tale. It was Christian that tried for the honors on the mound and he was bumped good and hard. In glancing over the records since June 21, Tyler has won but two games for the Oaks, which to our mind will never win pennant. Percy et al thinks it will. When the writer said Oakland needed another pitcher he was "roasted" by Percy and a few others, but the position of the team seems to bear out the writer's opinion.

Cutshaw found Carson to his liking down South yesterday and landed on the ball for three two-baggers. They didn't come at the right time, though, so were of little help to the team.

* * *

W. W. Brackett of the Central California League will introduce a novelty in baseball next year. The hustling secretary of the fast little transbay league has leased Camp Taylor for next season and in conjunction with various other forms of amusements for his guests, will have ball games every Sunday between teams of the league.

* * *

Fisher caught for the Beavers yesterday, or at least that was what he was supposed to do, but the exhibition that this usually clever player gave behind the bat was simply awful. Every time he pegged to second base he was all right. When he pegged over to third it was an altogether different thing.

* * *

Steen received an awful bumping in the eighth inning from the Seals. Tennant opened the round with a double into right field. Bodie hit safely into the same territory, while Melchoir and Williams also landed on doubles.

* * *

Jimmy Lewis played the outfield in clever style again yesterday, getting no less than six putouts. Three of these came in the sixth inning and every one of them was a different chance.

* * *

McArdle played short stop in a manner that was marvelous, and a couple of his stops looked almost impossible. Even with this brilliant fielding he fozzled on an easy one, showing how uncertain baseball is.

AMERICAN YACHT EASY VICTOR IN RACE WITH CANADIAN CHALLENGER

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 28.—The American yacht Massachusetts won the second race today in defense of the Seawanhaka Club, defeating the Canadian challenger St. Lawrence by eight minutes and twenty-four seconds over a twelve-mile windward and leeward course.

The unofficial elapsed time was: Massachusetts 1:53:14; St. Lawrence, 2:01:38.

NO PUTOUTS BY BASEMEN.

Five times in the history of baseball has a first baseman gone through a game without having a put out. In the contest between Pittsburg and Chicago recently Hofman of the Cubs did not have a put out. His only chance was a throw from Tinker and he dropped that. It was the first time in the history of the game that that record has been hung up. Here are the other four marks:

July 21, 1861—In New York City, First Baseman Mutuals in a game with Alpine.

August 6, 1891—McCauley, first baseman of the Washington American Association team, in a game with Columbus, O., Club.

May 23, 1906—Jiggs Donahue of the Chicago White Sox, in a game with the New York Highlanders.

August 12, 1906—Emerson, first baseman of the Monson, Mass., team in a game with the Stamford, Conn., Club.

Amateur Ball Players Will Get Together

An important meeting of all independent baseball clubs of Oakland, San Francisco and nearby towns is to be held at Spalding's tomorrow night for the purpose of properly organizing these bodies into an amateur association that can be properly run and a set of games scheduled in a proper manner every week.

In the past numbers of players have been in the habit of moving from one club to another at some critical stage and thereby causing the manager unlimited trouble. It is principally to remedy this defect that the meeting has been called, and the organizers of the meeting are going to endeavor at the same time to get the clubs to agree to the formation of an amateur association or league.

There are other things that have caused misunderstandings between the different club managers, and it is thought that tomorrow night's meeting will be able to overcome all these petty differences.

SPORTS: EDITED BY EDDIE SMITH

LANG AND KETCHEL TO MIX IT IN NEW YORK FOR 10 ROUNDS

SAM LANGFORD AND AL KAUFMAN THE NEXT BIG CARD IN THE BOXING GAME

EASTERN FANS WILL SEE TWO FAST BOXING BOUTS

Langford and Kaufman Ready at Philadelphia; Stanley Ketchel and "Bill" Lang to Mix in New York

By EDDIE SMITH.

FOR the first time in many moons the pugilistic fans of the Pacific Coast will arise early in the morning to get their morning papers or they will sit up at night to hear the returns of two rather important boxing contests to the world of fistiana. We have had these important affairs with the gloves settled right here at our very doorway for so long that it seems more than passing strange that we should have to await the returns from the East while we have nothing at home to entertain us. Next Wednesday evening at Philadelphia Al Kaufman and Sam Langford are to mix matters in their little six-round gallop. The gentleman of color is considered a cinch by the great majority of the fans and it would be one of the surprises of the season if Kaufman was to be credited with having the better of the contest. If such a thing should happen as Kaufman putting Langford out it would be a stimulant to the boxing game through the fact that so many would believe him to have a swell chance with Johnson. We only wish we could feel that Albert had a good chance, but this is out of the question. Langford is too fast and clever for Kaufman in six rounds and the match looks like a foolish one from the white man's standpoint to us.

* * *

On the evening of August 12, at the Fairmont Club in New York City, Stanley Ketchel and Bill Lang will meet in a ten-round no-decision battle. This will be Williams' first appearance in America, and if the sensational Mr. Stanley Ketchel is anywhere near it for trouble "blime me" if I don't think it will be his last. Lang has proven that he is game enough and the makeup of his facial features tell the story of his taking many a good wallop. Lang is one of the few latter day boxers who have indulged in a real old-time London prize ring prize fight. Seven years ago Bill fought Jerry O'Toole (a good name for a fighter, don't you think?), and won from him in fifteen rounds of the old go-as-you-please style. Lang has won twice from Bill Squires, once in twenty rounds and the other in seventeen rounds, both by knockout. He beat Bob Fitzsimmons not so long ago and was in turn beaten by Tommy Burns. Anyone of the middleweights of today should be able to beat poor old Bob so his win there counts for nothing, and any boxer who takes the number of rounds taken by Lang to win from the King Quince, Bill Squires, will not be a match for Ketchel if the Michigander is right. Lang boasts the open style of boxing, such as the old-time Australian boxers are used to. He may think that it is the same, but for us—never, they don't turn out the class of boxers in Australia today that they did in the good old days of the good ones that came from the little island. If Lang boxes in the open he may find that seeing stars is one of the features of Ketchel's methods, for the Lion will be on him like a hungry wolf and with a speed such as I doubt Lang has ever witnessed, or at least been pitted against, Ketchel will sweep the ring clear of him. At any rate it is tough to have to wait for the news of two such contests away off here in the West, while the Eastern sports have the pleasure of sitting at the ring side.

As announced exclusively in this paper some days ago, Billy Delaney is now in the East, and from the latest news gathered from there we are of the opinion that negotiations are pending whereby Billy will manage the affairs of John Arthur Johnson. When Billy agreed to help Johnson in his contest at Reno the contract between the pair was to end then and there. Johnson did the right thing by Delaney—he made him a present of a check calling for a very nice little chunk of the coin of the real—and Billy left the evening of the Fourth of July for home with no intention of further connection with the champion. Johnson realized the good that Billy had done him, however, and he has been sending the veteran telegrams by the wagon load, each one addressed to Delaney, the manager of Jack Johnson. Now Billy is in the East and it may come about that he takes charge of Johnson, although it is a well known fact that the old-timer cares little to get active in the game.

Packey McFarland is making his arrival back to the land of his birth known by immediately seeking a match with Adolph Wolgast. Packey says that he wants a chance at the lightweight championship and that he will give the present holder of the title a good side bet and will meet him any time or place that he may select. So far so good, but Packey does not say that he will make the lightweight limit of 133 pounds at the ring side and this failure to announce the weight will forever keep the championship out of his hands. Wolgast will not agree to box McFarland at a weight above the regulation lightweight limit, and no matter how much talking Packey may do and no matter what overtures he may make, there is little use in his talking match with Wolgast unless he is ready to agree to 133 pounds as the weight.

Answer to Query—Jack Johnson's best punches are apparently a left hook and a right upper cut, although his wonderful cleverness makes it possible for him to use any sort of a punch that will reach the vital portions of the other fellow's anatomy. A sample of this was given in the Jeffries contest. The trainers of Jeffries drilled the idea into the big man's head that one of the necessary blocks was for the right upper cut, which was always referred to as the best thing Johnson had. Jeffries therefore practiced a block for this punch. Every time the men clinched the white man stood with his left shoulder to the colored man, and in this manner made the right upper cut useless. Johnson was in a great position to use a left in the same manner as he had used the right in previous battles, however, so he pumped away with this hand as well as he could have with the right. The trainers of Jeffries had forgotten that Johnson was just a bit versatile. For this reason it is safe to say that the best punches of the black man are the ones which will reach the other fellow best, although there is no doubt but that the left hook and right uppercut are his pets.

SOUTH CITY WANTS COFFROTH TO DO SOMETHING

Promoter Has Not Paid Yearly License and Board of Trustees Are Anxious.

"Jimmy" Coffroth, the sunshine fight promoter, has got to show something besides the gold in his famous smile if he wants to make good with South City's board of trustees.

The councilmen adopted an aggressive attitude toward Coffroth at their last meeting, when instructions were given to the city clerk to forward a note to the fight impresario, reminding him that he owed the municipality the neat little sum of $300 and that the coin would have to be forthcoming if he wished to hold his yearly fight permit at this point. When the city fathers adopted the fight ordinance the license fee was fixed at $1200 a year, each quarter being payable in advance.

Coffroth's wirepulling resulted in his cupping the license for the first year easily enough, but up to date the city treasurer has not had added weight lent to his store by any quarterly payments from "Sunshine Jim."

BEDWELL SEEING HOPE IS GONE WILLING TO SELL HIS STABLE

Erstwhile Famous Horseman Says Commission Treated Him Unfairly.

CHICAGO, July 28.—H. J. Bedwell, who is under suspension from the turf still has his big string of horses at Latonia, but he is at sea as to just what move to make. He has written the Kentucky state racing commission that he considers the ruling against him far from fair in not allowing him to dispose of his horses.

It is expected that Chairman Clay of the racing commission will call a meeting early in August and that Bedwell will then go before the commission to seek relief at least to the extent of getting consent to dispose of his stable with the assurance that the horses will be restored to good racing standing whenever they charge hands.

Bedwell does not expect to get anything like full value for his horses, but ing to make the sacrifice and get out from the way things have gone he is will- of racing, though he ultimately hopes to be restored to good standing on the turf.

EMERYVILLE TRACK WILL OPEN NOVEMBER TWELFTH

President Williams Promises Several Very Rich Stakes and Season Will Last One Hundred and Fifty Days

President Thomas H. Williams of the New California Jockey Club announced yesterday that at least twelve stakes will be offered at Emeryville during the coming season. He also stated that more money will be offered for the good horses and every effort made to attract the leading stables of the country. Williams said that all the plans for the season have not been completed, and there will not likely be a formal announcement until some time in September.

The news that stakes and increased purses will be given at the track at Emeryville will be welcomed in turf circles throughout the country. As Walter Jennings said upon his return from New York, eastern owners are looking toward California for winter racing, and when they learn of the plans of the New California Jockey Club it will mean a liberal shipment of the best performers from various points in the east and Canada, in addition to the horses that are participating in the meetings of the intermountain circuit.

As already announced, the Emeryville meeting will open Saturday, November 12, and it is expected that it will continue for 150 days. Last season there was only a guarantee of sixty days' racing, and a number of owners refrained from shipping over the mountains, but with the assurance of a regular season and stakes and increased purses there is every indication that the sport will be of a high-class order.

There are not many men in the world, even among turfmen, who would pay $125,000 for a horse without a look at him. But August Belmont is one of the few and he made such a purchase when he bought the great English race horse and stallion Rock Sand. He has never had a regret for the purchase. Rock Sand has sired the best two-year-old racers of the season, Footprint and Trap Rock. They represent his first crop of race horses in America.

"Why did I buy Rock Sand?" said Mr. Belmont. "For the very good reason that he was just the stallion I needed for my nursery stud. Rock Sand is a Stockwell horse through and through. Because of that great strain of blood I purchased him.

"Years ago my father had a horse called the Ill-Used. He was very successful at the nursery stud, being a Stockwell. Since the death of the Ill-Used I have missed that particular strain of blood in my stallions, so I made up my mind to purchase Rock Sand if possible. The opportunity presented itself and I gave orders to my agent in England to buy the horse, although I had never seen him."

"Don't you think it was a plucky thing to buy a horse you had never seen?"

"I don't think I took any great chance in the matter," replied Mr. Belmont with a laugh. "I was familiar with his great record and I was assured he was a fine horse. He was just the type I wanted, not too tall, not too big, but symmetrical in every respect."

According to a report from Charleston, S. C., plans are being formed for the building of a $250,000 racetrack there. It is hoped to have racing there in 1911.

* * *

Jockey Eddie Dugan, the California boy, is slowly recovering from the attack of pneumonia which has confined him to his bed for about a month. The stewards of the Jockey Club in New York have taken no action on the matter of his suspension for rough riding, and it is possible that he may not be allowed to ride during the remainder of the season.

* * *

Roy Selden is proving to be the star among the riders who are on the Salt Lake-Butte circuit. During the Salt Lake meeting he led the list, riding 27 winners, while W. Fischer was second with 16 victories. Powell & Parker were the biggest winners among the owners, having $4510 to their credit. E. Moyne, owner of Chester Krum, was second with $2980.

* * *

Jimmy Johnston, formerly a well-known steeplechase rider on the New York tracks, is training nine candidates for the Mexican Derby, to be run next month. He has sent for Jockey McCabe to ride one of them. Star Eyes, by Star Shoot, is the likely favorite for the event and he is being trained by an English coachman.

* * *

Andy Blakeley has shipped his string from Empire City to Saratoga. In the lot are Mary Davis, Muster Robert, Pluvious, Blackford, Rinda and Sebastian.

* * *

Jockey Glass, who is under engagement to Blakeley, was suspended for five days by the stewards at Yonkers for fouling Pretend while riding Perry Johnson. The O'Brien horse was disqualified after finishing second.

* * *

Be Thankful, formerly in the stable of Sam Hildreth at Emeryville and later owned by Jack Crane, was sold at Windsor a few days ago to Mrs. G. B. Wilson for $325.

* * *

Barney Schreiber headed the list of winning owners at the recent meeting held at Tulsa, Okla. Mole worth led all the riders, as he did at Oklahoma City.

* * *

Agility, a recent winner at Yonkers, is owned by Pat Dunne and is said to be a fine looking filly. She is by Hamburg out of Monadour.

* * *

The first gets of Spearmint, winner of the 1906 Derby, were seen at the recent Newmarket stock sales, when $21,000 was paid for a brown yearling by St. Fursquin. A filly by Spearmint out of a mare named The Message, brought $7,500. A number of horses from Clarence H. Mackay's stock farm near Lexington, Ky., were disposed of.

Charley Rowe Has Narrow Escape From Death at Coney Isle

NEW YORK, July 28.—Charles Rowe, one of the best-known racing men of the south, whose home is in New Orleans, but who is spending the summer at Sheepshead Bay, is recovering today after a narrow escape from drowning at Coney Island yesterday. Mr. Rowe had gone bathing and was seized with a cramp half a mile off shore. His struggles were seen from shore and two friends hurriedly manned a life-boat and rowed quickly to his rescue. They reached Rowe as he was sinking for the third time. One of them caught him by the arm and pulled him into the boat unconscious. He was taken ashore and after a half hour's work was revived and sent back to his hotel in a carriage.

TOMMY BURNS COMES BACK.

Tommy Burns is preparing to break into the riding game again. Tommy has done little work in the saddle since his return from France. Burns believes that he can reduce to 104 pounds and hopes to regain some of his old-time prestige on the American turf.

Louis Winans' Empire to Show On Empire Track in August

NEW YORK, July 28.—Horsemen are weighing the chances of the European trotting stallion Willy winning the principal races of the grand circuit meeting to be held at the Empire City track August 23-27. He is now campaigning in the west, and from his performances seems likely to make things merry for the forty American trotters entered against him in the 2.16 pace to wagon, amateurs to drive, for $2500 stakes at the New York meeting.

Willy, which is owned by Louis Winans of London, was raised in Austria-Hungary and is 6 years old. In his 3-year-old form he won six consecutive races in Germany, Austria and Hungary, and he twice won the Prince Solms Preis, a feat which no other horse ever accomplished.

Coney Island Track to Be Altered for Autos

NEW YORK, July 28.—If the Coney Island Jockey Club decides to shut up the gates after September 1, by reason of the recent anti-betting legislation in this state, it is announced that the great course will be rebuilt for automobile contests. The club owns enough property to construct a [illegible]-mile elliptical course for motor ra[illegible]

Call of the Pulpit Is Stronger Than Call of the Diamond

NEW YORK, July 29.—"Happy" Smith, utility outfielder and pinch hitter of the Brooklyn National League club, has deserted Bill Dahlen's bunch and has gone back to his home in California. Smith quit the team in Pittsburg.

According to President Ebbets, Smith confided to one of the players information that he was keeping company with a young lady in San Francisco who was worth $200,000 in her own name and that he was thinking seriously of getting married in the near future.

GOLFERS BATTLE ON THE EASTERN LINKS

C. T. Jaffray Springs Surprise by Defeating Veteran Player, Paul Hunter

MINNEAPOLIS, July 28.—The first half of the 36-hole matches in the second round of the Western golf amateur championship today resulted in several hard fought and well played matches. The favorites managed to please their supporters with one notable exception, that being when C. T. Jaffray of Minikahda came in three up on Paul Hunter of Midlothian.

It was generally thought Jaffray would be an easy man for his younger opponent, but he played excellent golf and had an advantage over Hunter during most of the 18 holes.

Charles Evans, Jr., of Edgewater, the present champion, had a hard contest with Kenneth P. Edwards of Midlothian, but was one up at luncheon time. Their cards:

Edwards: Out 35; in 38; totals 73.
Evans: Out 36; in 36; totals 72.

Warren Wood of Homewood was one up on Robert A. Gardner of Hinsdale, the national champion. The match was hard fought throughout. Wood went out in 35 and came back in 38 for a 73, while the champion made the first nine in 37 and the last half in 38, totalling 75.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 27.—Second round championship—Mason Eppelps, Midlothian, defeated H. B. Heyburn, Louisville, 1 up, in 37 holes.

W. E. Clow, Jr., Onwentsia, defeated W. B. Lee, Detroit, 3 up and 2 play.

PARK DRIVING CLUB HAS SUCCESSFUL MEET AT PARK STADIUM

Little Dick Is Unable to Win From Kramer's Speedy Celia K.

Several hundred followers of the light harness racing game journeyed to the stadium at Golden Gate park, San Francisco, yesterday morning to witness the special match race between Luke Marisch's Little Dick and J. Kramer's Celia K. The latter was bought by Kramer for a song and was unheard of until July 4, when she beat some of the best pacers hereabout easily. The race yesterday was a mile pace, two heats [illegible] of three. Celia K won in straight he[illegible] stepping the first heat in the fast [illegible] of 2.15 4-5 and the last quarter 39 4-5.

Verillac, who drove Little Dick, [illegible] in behind the mare in the first [illegible] Celia, however, had as much left as [illegible]tle Dick and won without forcing [illegible] driver to go to the bat.

In the second heat Verillac chang[illegible] his tactics and took the lead on [illegible] first turn. Celia drew up alongside immediately and when Verillac went to the bat Little Dick broke and snapped his check. Celia went on alone, finishing the mile in 2:22. Little Dick went to the barn after the mishap.

As Little Dick is in grand shape, having been in training steadily for the circuit, Marisch wanted to race another heat for a good side bet, but the two owners could not get together. Celia showed that she can step some and they will have a hard time beating her at the stadium from now on. She was driven by F. Burton.

Burton's fast trotter, Walter Wilkes, which took the measure of Little Dick in a half-mile race recently, was badly beaten by the latter yesterday in a special race at three-quarters. Marisch's pacer won in straight heats, his time being 1.36½ and 1.38½.

BOWLING NEWS

The Oakland Bowling club held their regular club roll on the Herald Ninth-street alleys last night and bowled some very good scores. The boys are rapidly regaining their old-time form and some good games are expected in the near future.

High scores for July: Swett, 225, 202, 209; Bush, 231, 230; Parker, 218, 207; Lenahue, 211, 203, Gilbert, 201, 202; B. Kolman, 205, 209; "Chick" Reeder, 206, 221, 214.

KETTLEMAN FIELD PROMISING MUCH

The Section Near Coalinga to Furnish Next Excitement, Is the Belief.

The Kettleman Hills district, near Coalinga, promises the next big excitement in the oil development of California. This field was first prospected by A. L. Kreiss of Fresno (formerly of Oakland), and passed on by Smith, Emery & Co. of San Francisco, and geologists state that this will be the greatest field yet known when once developed and opened up.

The Medallion Oil Company, headed by Ralph Arnold, formerly of the United States Survey, operating on sections 20 and 28 in 22-12, have installed nine derricks and five completed standard outfits.

Well No. 1 of the Baird Oil Company is down 3000 feet in a very live sand. When this was entered the oil went over the top of the casing. They cemented three weeks ago, and are now drilling through the cement.

The Lakeview is also cemented off at 1500 feet, and they expect a good well on section 26-21-17.

The Spreckels Company, operating on the east half of section 2-23-17, adjoining the Echo Oil Company, are down over 800 feet, with very good indications.

The Echo Oil Company, on section 2-22-17, are now installing a pipe line for water, having erected a standard rig, and they will begin spudding in as soon as the water line is completed.

The William Miller Graham Company have just completed four standard rigs and are spudding in well No. 1, operating on section 18-22-18.

A. L. Kreiss and associates are installing five full standard rigs on sections 2 and 14 in 22-17, and will commence active operations as soon as completed.

Standard Force to Abandon Oil Well

COALINGA, July 28.—There was considerable excitement last week centered around the Standard's wildcat hole in the Rabbit valley, near Bitterwater, in San Benito county, when it was believed that the bit had gone into a light oil sand. A perforator was hauled from Coalinga and after perforating the well was put on the pump, when it was found that they had salt water.

The hole is down over 2300 feet and it has been drilling for the past eight months. It is now believed the hole will be abandoned. This makes another failure in the Standard's wildcat undertakings.

The Standard a short time ago paid $87,000 for the oil rights on the Dunne ranch on the Topo, and it is not known yet whether it will continue to drill in that territory or not.

The Monterey-San Benito company, which was recently organized to take over the operations of the Salinas Oil company, is still working in the Bitterwater valley and is said to be the only company now actively working in that country. They have hopes of striking a good paying sand there.

Santa Cruz Wells Now Number Five

WATSONVILLE, July 28. — Situated in the heart of the Sargent ranch, in the foothills of the Santa Cruz mountains and only about three miles from Sargent station, the Watsonville Oil Company has five wells producing 19 gravity oil and making a nice income from the production, besides leasing small parts of the oil rights on its 6000 acres.

The Watsonville company has been drilling holes in the Sargent ranch for over ten years and many of these holes were dusters. It finally drilled directly below some of the seepages and brought in a fairly good well, which is now doing about twelve barrels. No. 2 is now doing about sixty barrels and No. 3 about seventy-five barrels. Nos. 4 and 5 are producing about ten barrels each, and with No. 1 are only pumped night and morning. The wells are close together and are of an average depth of 900 feet in eight-inch casing. The holes were started in 11¾ inch, and the surface water shut off with this. There was no water encountered after that depth.

Laborers' Finger Torn Off in Hay Baler

ELMHURST, July 28.—Manuel Garcia, a Portuguese employe on the Michael Kerwin ranch east of here, had a finger on his right hand torn off yesterday while operating a hay baler. He was hurried to the office of a local physician here, where the injured member was dressed. The accident was painful, and the hand, beside the loss of the finger, is badly torn.

In the event that such naturalized citizen was naturalized in the county or city and county in which he seeks to register, or in the event that he was previously registered within the preceding eight years within the county or city and county in which he seeks to register, and his certificate of naturalization has not been revoked, he shall not be required to produce his certificate of naturalization, nor to make such affidavit of lost certificate in lieu thereof.

Such affidavit must be made before the County Clerk or officer charged with the registration of voters, or their deputy. If any elector is absent from the county in which he claims residence, he may appear before any judge or clerk or any court of record, or notary public, or if in a foreign country, before any minister, consul or vice consul of the United States, and make and subscribe an affidavit as to his residence, specifying in what ward or precinct he claims residence; that he will be necessarily and unavoidably absent from said county on all the days allowed by law for general registration of electors, and setting forth in such affidavit each and all the matters required by section one thousand and ninety-six of the Political Code of the State of California, and forward such affidavit, duly authenticated as above, by mail, enclosed in an envelope, addressed to the County Clerk of any county, or the registrar of voters in any city and county. Upon receipt of such affidavit by such clerk or registrar of voters within the time allowed by law for registration, it shall entitle the name of such elector to be entered by the clerk in the proper register in such precinct.

5. In every case the affidavit of the party must show all the facts required to be stated in the entry on the register, except the date of the entry.

BLOCKS OF STOCK CHANGE RAPIDLY

Heavy Buying Orders Feature of Wall Street Market.

NEW YORK, July 28. — Prices of stocks bounded upward again today with the opening of the market, gains running from 1 to 2 points over last night in practically all of the active issues. The rise in Denver and Rio Grande preferred reached 2½ and Canadian Pacific 2½.

Very heavy blocks changed hands in U. S. Steel, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper and the quotations for those stocks showed a spread of a substantial fraction.

The extent of the opening advance, coming after the sharp rise of yesterday, invited heavy realizing sales. The reaction was slight and enormous buying orders flowed into the market at rising prices. St. Louis Southwestern preferred jumped 4½, Rock Island preferred 2½, Sloss Sheffield Steel 3¾, Southern Pacific, Con. Gas and Westinghouse Electric 2, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie and Amalgamated Copper 2¾, U. S. Steel 2½ and U. P., Reading, Chesapeake and Ohio, G. N. preferred, Atchison, Norfolk and Western, Louisville and Nashville, American Car and National Lead, 2 to 2½.

After occasional pauses the market gathered force for further fresh advances. Reports that embarrassed holdings had been taken over by syndicates alarmed the shorts. The demand was large, both for home and foreign accounts. Amalgamated Copper had risen 4¼ before noon, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, Reading and American Locomotive 3½, and Great Northern preferred, St. Paul, Atchison, Mo. Pac., St. Louis Southwestern and U. S. Steel 3 or more. Bonds were firm.

The market more than held its gain during the noon hour on a diminished volume of business. Central Pacific increased its gain to 4½ over yesterday's loss and C. and A. was up 4 points, while Colorado and Southern showed an advance of 6 points. American Smelting, Atlantic Coast line and G. N. Oregon certificates advanced 3 each, Sloss Sheffield Steel 3¾ and U. S. Rubber 4¼.

NEW YORK, July 28. — The demand for stocks died down and prices slipped back 1 to 1½ on dull trading. Offerings almost ceased at the lower prices. The advance in C. P. was extended to 5⅞.

The market closed strong and quiet, with prices rising to the best again in the final hour after a period of dullness. Union Pacific then rose 4 and Illinois Central 3¼. Lackawanna sold at an advance of twenty. There was a renewal of profit taking sales on the latest advance, which was again absorbed at another advance.

The Lehigh Valley continued as the feature in local trading. Up to 1 p. m. the sales in the stock amounted to 36,000 shares. The stock advanced to 73½, reacted to 69⅝ and at 1 p. m. sold at 72⅝.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Gibson' says: The a most complete reversal in the action of the stock market can be attributed largely to the change of sentiment brought about by the surprisingly large earnings reported by the steel corporation and the positive character of the news from abroad in reference to the progress being made in the copper metal agreement; also, there is some reason to believe that the calamity campaign has resulted in at least a partial accomplishment of the object sought by its promoters—the elimination of some of the stubborn, weak long accounts, large and small. The stock shaken out fell into the strongest of hands. The technical position of the market has not been better in a long time. Good stocks should be confidently bought at these levels.

Everything points to a more free marketing of farmers' holdings in the near futures. Banks will not repeat last year's mistake by helping to tie up both money and the necessities of life.

FAVORABLE YIELD AIDS BEAR MARKET

Flour Mills Close Owing to the Accumulation of Unsold Stock.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Authoritative declarations that threshing returns of winter wheat are satisfactory as a whole and that the yield of spring wheat so far has been as favorable as could be expected considering climatic conditions during the earlier life of the plant, had the effect of making the tone of the market heavy today.

Trade was slow. Pit speculators were selling and there was only scattered commission buying. Closing of flour mills because of accumulation of unsold stock had a depressing tendency.

Reports of improved weather in France and Argentine were also considered bearish factors. Prices opened ⅜c lower to ⅛c higher, the latter for July. September started unchanged to a shade up, at 104⅛ to 104¼, and declined to 103⅝.

Further weakness was manifested, the result largely of primary receipts being heavy. Indications for a smaller run of wheat from now on led to an upward turn, which, however, was only temporary. The close was steady with September at 103⅝ to 103¾, a net loss of ⅜c to ½@⅝c.

WEAKENS QUOTATIONS.

Cooler weather and rains in a large portion of the corn belt weakened quotations for that grain. Official predictions were that the heat would be gradually broken in the trans-Mississippi region during the next thirty-six hours. The market opened a shade to ⅜c down, with September at 65¼c to 65⅜c, a loss of ⅜c to ⅝c. There was a further decline to 64⅞c.

Hedging sales continued to make oats weak. September started ⅛@¼c to ¼@⅜c off, at 38⅝c to 38½c, touched 38½@38⅝c, and fell to 38⅛c.

There was quite a rush to unload by local longs on reports of rains and cooler weather west. The close, however, was steady at 63½c to 63⅝c, a net decline of 2⅛c to 2¼c.

Provisions dropped because of a large run of hogs. Opening figures were unchanged to 22½c down, the September option selling at 21.95 to 22.00 for pork, 11.82½ to 11.85 for lard, and 11.62½ for ribs.

Additional losses were suffered.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The Inter-Ocean says: Gossip on corn last night was bullish, owing to the sensationally high temperatures in the west. A hot south wind blew over the southwestern and Nebraska corn fields all day yesterday. It was said to be the kind that in years past has damaged the corn crop within a few days. It was accompanied by sensational and record temperatures, which were enough to parch the corn and kill the pollen on that which is tasseling. In Nebraska temperatures were 100 to 117, the latter at Lincoln. It was said that the September was prevented from advancing as much as may in the last hour by the heavy selling by Barrell, who has the largest holding. It was said that many of the local bulls were out of their corn. As they have bought it recently on less sensational news than yesterday's, when the prospect of damage from heat were more remote than at present, traders said that unless there are good rains over the entire corn belt and lower temperatures that higher prices would block any attempt of the bulls to buy a lot of corn.

It is strictly a weather market and anything is likely to happen under existing conditions.

Wheat traders were inclined to the bear side on bulges and said the market appeared to have turned in favor of the scalping proposition for the time being, and it was not wise to get short on the breaks or long on bulges from this level and that big things are not to be expected at the moment. One of the largest cash handlers said last night that country offerings had let up late in the day as a result of a decline in prices, as cash wheat prices have declined from 1c over July on Tuesday to 1½c under.

Timid shorts were said to be in and a few of the professionals were long.

Wheat opened steady, ⅛c to ¼c higher. Corn quiet, ⅜c lower.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

(By J. C. WILSON.)

San Francisco, July 28, 1910.

Wheat: Closed irregular today. July wheat 1c higher, September ½c lower, December 1c lower and the May off more than that. The feature today was the strength in the July and the narrowing of the spread between September and December. The strength in the near months is not a bear argument, and suggests what we have stated in our letters the last few days, that the heavy movement of new winter wheat is not as burdensome as the bears are trying to make believe. Some one is willing to, and apparently perfectly able to, pay for it and carry the actual property. It would seem like a poor business proposition to buy the cash wheat for so much more than they could buy September or December wheat. However, the millers and elevator men, particularly the latter, believe in getting possession of the property while they can. The movement from producer hands will be over with by September, and the time to buy is when they can get it. Foreign markets were lower again today and that, with a very weak corn market was the sole ammunition of the bears. They pounded the market today every time it held up its head, but the buying on the break was of very good character, and we think the market will feel it in a day or two. Offerings of new wheat from the country were reported much smaller today, and this will probably show in the receipts after this week. The very best people in the trade believe that the prudent speculator should buy wheat while the movement is on and that purchases of September, December or May wheat will ultimately show handsome profits. Of course, the market may sell some lower than even today's low figures, but it would seem that advantage should be taken of any further depression to make purchases. There exists now a very good-sized short interest, and, owing to the decline in the last week, the bears are feeling quite confident. However, they have only paper profits and an attempt to secure the same could bring about a quick turnabout. The crop outlook abroad has not improved any and the spring wheat crop is fully as short as it was said to be awhile ago, which will probably be confirmed when threshing begins in North Dakota and northern Minnesota. Take advantage of further temporary decline to buy wheat with a view of buying more on a scale down.

Corn: Started all right, though a little lower. Early in the day all the news was bullish. Continued hot and dry weather and only scattered showers were indicated. The reports from Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma early in the day were as bad as at any time. Later, however, Iowa reported rain. Nebraska reported showers and very late in the session Illinois and Indiana reported good rains. Kansas also reported cooler weather. All this served to encourage a lot of profit-taking and short selling, and the last half of the day the market was a steady declining affair. The close showed about the low figures of the day full 2½c under yesterday. Much will depend on the extent of the rainfall today. In our letter of yesterday and also the day before we suggested caution in buying corn on the bulges. We even stated that it would be well to wait for a good break to buy. There was danger of just what happened today, unexpected rain. Tonight, the market looks as though it will be lower tomorrow, but if the weather map does not show any rain of consequence, with more indicated, then corn will do to buy again.

Oats: Suffered quite a little decline today, and at the close more than 1c lower, with a heavy tone. We still believe the lowest prices for oats will be reached some time in the next two weeks. The present break is only natural in view of the fact the new crop in just coming to market.

Provisions: Acted fairly strong early in the day, but finished lower and rather weak. Hog receipts were fair and stock yards interests, which means the packers, sold product today. Should there be further decline we would say that product can be bought again, but only for a temporary upturn.

Journal of Commerce special crop reports say cotton prospects in Georgia and Alabama are poor, crop is two weeks late and heavily in the grass. Dry weather badly needed; plant generally small and poorly fruited; no insects and labor not scarce. It is seldom that Georgia sends such gloomy reports and the decline in condition for the month will probably be very marked and cannot be expected to approach last year's figures of 78.7. Alabama condition shows marked deterioration, but indicate to better condition than a year ago at this time. Florida crop injured by heavy rains and season about two weeks late. Plant generally small and poorly fruited.

RIGOLETTO CHARMING THOUSANDS AT IDORA

ITALIAN OPERA IS ABLY SUNG AT RESORT

Bevani Troupe Scores Instant Success With Verdi's Masterpiece.

ALBERTI MAKES HIT IN THE TITLE ROLE

Regina Vicarino Pleases With Her Rendition of Gilda's Role.

(By JACK WISHAR.)

Musical Italian rippling in liquid notes from golden-throated song-birds from the distant shores of the Mediterranean played upon the heart-strings of the throng which filled the Idora Park opera house last night and listened to the first production of "Rigoletto," Verdi's famous poem of passion, as rendered by the Bevani troupe, now appearing at the famous Oakland pleasure ground.

The aria of the ever-appealing quartet to which opera owes its fame, circled and eddied through the playhouse in a Niagara of melody, touching chords in the heart of each hearer and blending and swelling in melody of human passions, hopes, ambitions and disappointments which changed the play to a drama of life, throbbing and pulsating with the eternal spirit of the ages.

Rigoletto poured forth his sorrows in deep-toned melody which vibrated with the love and hate of the father whose daughter has become the Duke's plaything and whose plan for vengeance is mocked at the last moment. In this regard I want to say that Alberti made one of the best Rigolettos I have had the pleasure of seeing depict the tragic story. He lived the part. Aside from possessing the voice to sing the difficult score, he is an actor of ability. I can readily believe the press agent's story that Alberti has sung the part in practically all the capitals of Europe, for he showed an understanding and knowledge of the complex character of the deformed jester, and displayed a rare ability to interpret the conflicting emotions.

ACHILLE ALBERTI, baritone, with Bevani Opera Co.

RIGOLETTO DOMINATES.

The part of Rigoletto naturally dominates the play, but in weaker hands would become a secondary consideration. With Alberti in the title role there is little chance of any other character gaining more than secondary notice, although the other parts were capably handled.

Umberto Sacchetti, as the Duke of Mantua, and Regina Vicarino, as Gilda, Rigoletto's daughter, won merited encores. Sacchetti, in particular, displayed a rare ability to interpret the character of the love-as-you go nobleman. He possesses a voice of power and flexibility, together with a pleasing stage presence. Regina Vicarino's voice is also worthy of particular notice. She surprised her hearers by easily climbing to high C. There is a color of strength to the little Italian songstress' notes which charm her audiences and soften the coldness which grips the Anglo Saxon heart. Something of the warmth of her own sunny land is implanted and imbedded in the liquid notes which ripple from her throat and which atone for shortcomings in other lines. Her handling of the part of Gilda was commendable, proving an excellent foil to the dramatic strength of both Alberti and Sacchetti.

LANGUAGE OF MUSIC.

Italian is naturally a language of music. The soft labials lend themselves more readily to the vocal chords than the harsher tongues, and pictures of the far-away land of romance and vendetta are conjured up by the waves of melody that are launched from the singers. And by the singers, I include the whole cast, for without exception they are all good. While Carusos and Tetrazzinis may be lacking, there are enough good voices to make up for any deficiencies in that respect. The work of the chorus even, showing not only careful drilling, but a comprehensive knowledge of the opera which was refreshing and pleasing.

Verdi's music, like all of the Italian school, is of the inspirational, light and airy bursts of harmony, in distinction to the heavier German school, which sweeps along with stately rhythm. This is the reason why Italian operas have proved more popular than products of the master musical minds of the Fatherland. Be that as it may, the production last night showed that Oakland appreciates music, not alone vocal but instrumental, for the orchestra was one of the attractions of the opera. Roberto Franchini proved himself a capable conductor, and the orchestra, under his leadership, handled the difficult scores with scarcely a hitch, the few errors being of minor importance and which will disappear with a few productions.

MASTER OF HARMONY.

The music of Rigoletto stamps Verdi as a master of hormony. It interprets the tragic story of the opera without the aid of the singers and the plaintive strains of the violin and flute wail out their tale of sorrow and sadness, love and hate, revenge and death in a soft tremolo of shattered hopes.

In the chorus are a number of Oakland girls, some well known in this city, who have made their debut in grand opera at Idora. Many possess voices of merit. Who knows but that in future years some of them may develop into operatic stars which will make the name of Oakland famous in the musical world?

The cast which sang Rigoletto last night will take the part every other night for the rest of the week. Tonight Ettore Campana will sing Aigoletto and Giuditta Francini will appear as Gilga, while Eugenio Battain will take the part of the Duke of Mantua. The opera will run until Saturday, and "Il Trovatore" will be put on Sunday to run throughout next week.

Monitors Log Book Given to Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The original log book of the famous Monitor, covering the period of her engagement with the Confederate ironclad Merrimac in Hampton Roads on March 9, 1862, was yesterday given to the Navy Department to be preserved among its historic records.

The restoration of the log to the department was due to Captain Louis Stodder of the United States revenue cutter service, now living in Brooklyn and an officer on the Monitor during her entire service.

For years he has treasured the log among his most valuable possessions, but as old age has crept over him he desired to see it placed where its preservation might be assured.

The most interesting entries concern the fight with the Merrimac. Among the entries on Sunday, March 9, 1862, are the following.

4 to 8 p. m.—Fine weather and calm.' At sunrise saw three steamers lying under Sewell's Point. Made one out to be the rebel steamer Merrimac. At 7:20 got under weigh and stood towards her and piped all hands to quarters.

J. WEBER.

From 8 to meridian—Fine, clear weather. The rebel steamers advancing and opened fire on the Minnesota. 8 20—Opened fire on the Merrimac; from that time until 12 constantly engaged with the Merrimac.

LOUIS STODDER.

From meridian to 4 p. m.—Clear weather. At 12.30 rifle shell struck the pilot house, severely injuring the commander, Worden. 1 p. m.—The Merrimac hauled off in a disabled condition. Stood toward the Minnesota, and received on board Assistant Secretary Fox of the navy. 2 p. m.—Captain Worden left Fort Monroe in charge of Surgeon Logue.

GEORGE FREDERICKSON.

Those who inspected the log today drew attention to the first entry, which should have been the forenoon instead of the afternoon.

LEFT LARGE ESTATE.

According to an inventory and appraisement filed this forenoon in the probate department of the Superior Court, the late Peter H. Stubbs left an estate worth $20,427.47, of which amount $17,593.47 is in cash.

Northwestern Pacific Enjoined at Crossing

SANTA ROSA, July 28.—Judge Emmet Seawell yesterday granted a temporary injunction against the Northwestern Pacific railroad to prevent it from building its railroad tracks across a section of land in the town of Guerneville. She prays for a permanent injunction against the railroad company when the suit comes to trial. Mrs. Cobb is a well-known resident of the Guerneville section and owns a great deal of property there.
